Rupture.

ROOSEVELT HATCHES HIS PLOT TO BOLT.

Awaits Only Decision of Convention on the Credentials Committee Report.

If the Ruling Is Against Him He Is Said to Be Ready to Carry Out His Threat to Run On a Third Ticket and Have His Own Candidates for Governor and Congress in the States He Imagines He Controls.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Talk of a [illegible] rupture in the convention [illegible] tonight in the Roosevelt camp. Reports of this nature [illegible] repeated with such frequency as [illegible] color to the belief that they [illegible] well founded. [illegible] as word of the final break is flashed to Col. Roosevelt over his private wire, it was said, he will be whirled by automobile to the convention hall to lead the fight in person. It was regarded as probable that the colonel would not go to the hall unless under such circumstances. Col. Roosevelt was said today to have procured enough tickets to the Coliseum to admit him and the members of his immediate party. These tickets, however, would admit him merely as a spectator.

Reports of this plan reached the ears of the authorities in charge of the convention, who said tonight that under no circumstances would they permit two conventions simultaneously in the Coliseum. The building, they say, is in control of the organization selected by the convention, which would preserve order, even to the point of calling upon the police to eject delegates, alternates or spectators who declined to recognize the authority of the chair.

THE HOUR.

It was explained that the rupture would come, if at all, after the vote on seating the contested delegates, rather than on the vote for Presidential nominees, because the Roosevelt faction by awaiting the final vote

ROOSEVELT'S ENIGMATIC UTTERANCE.

CHICAGO, June 20.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] "So far as I am concerned," declared Col. Roosevelt to his delegates and advisers, in an address this morning, "I am through. If you are voted down I hope you, the real and lawful majority of the convention, will organize as such and you will do it if you have the courage and loyalty of your convictions."

CHICAGO, June 19.—The long-expected crash in the Republican ranks came tonight. The Roosevelt forces, acting, they said, under the personal direction of the colonel himself, began to lay plans for independent action in the national convention.

As a forerunner of the more drastic action expected in the convention tomorrow, or Friday, the Roosevelt members of the Committee on Credentials withdrew from that body; withdrew in person and in effect withdrew all of the Roosevelt contests which had been scaled down from 92 to 78.

A SEPARATE CONVENTION.

Col. Roosevelt tonight was in the midst of a series of conferences and was busy figuring on the loyal delegates whom he could expect to carry with him out of the convention, or rather into a separate convention on the Coliseum floor in event the crisis is reached.

People who talked with the colonel tonight said no longer was there any doubt as to his attitude. Convinced that the Credentials Committee was against him and would retain the contested Taft delegates in their seats, Col. Roosevelt decided to go no further with his futile fight in the regular convention.

HIS POSITION MADE CLEAR.

The colonel would not issue a formal statement as to his warlike intentions early in the evening, but was said to have made his position clear to his followers.

Some of the conferences at his headquarters were exciting.

Senator Borah of Idaho, it was reported, declared as he left the Roosevelt rooms that he would not bolt.

The Missouri delegation in the convention held a caucus tonight for the purpose, it was reported, of formally launching a boom for Gov. Hadley for President. The remarkable demonstration given the Missouri executive in the convention today, together with the sudden turn in affairs, was said to have strengthened their belief that the time was ripe for bringing forward a compromise candidate.

TO BEAT OPEN THE DOOR.

Roosevelt members of the committee broke out of the committee room at 10:30 tonight after attempting to beat open the doors and bring all newspaper men into the room.

The doors of the committee room were suddenly thrown open by J. J. Sullivan of Ohio, who rushed out with the cry, "All Roosevelt men walk out."

He was followed by Hugh T. Halbert of Minnesota; Francis J. Heney of California; George L. Record of New Jersey, and other

FIRST SPIKE DRIVEN FOR NATIONAL HIGHWAY PLANK

"The Times" Message on Behalf of an Ocean-to-Ocean Thoroughfare Delivered to Committee on Platform and Resolutions at Republican Convention in Chicago and Party Leaders Enlisted for Undertaking.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Five hundred thousand members of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association, each with a vote for Federal aid for a national highway, are to be marshaled in the fight for a solid plank providing the desired aid in the Republican platform. The first nail was driven tonight when Col. D. M. Potter, national organizer for the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association, was given a hearing by the Committee on Platform and Resolutions. Col. Potter simply gave the figures.

"We have 84,000 men enrolled under the good roads standard," said Col. Potter, "and we will have 200,000 one month from today. This means that when The Times car reaches New York City at least half a million voters will be pledged to support the candidate who starts his campaign on a platform with a plank which will read 'Federal aid for a national highway over the old Santa Fe trail.'"

With this declaration Potter enlisted the favor of every man on the committee which will handle the subject of appropriations for internal improvements. The leaders of the Republican party went right into conference after the address from the man who is traveling across the continent on The Times special, and the report will be made tomorrow.

Every consideration that it is possible to give a man who is fighting for a great cause has been accorded to Col. Potter during his two days' stay in Chicago. Potter did not attend the convention today, but fought his fight with the campaign managers and came out conqueror. He proved his wisdom in not taking the affair into the convention until the men behind the guns had been given a chance to show their attitude on what Potter said is the all-absorbing topic to the people.

TAFT STRENGTH SHOWN.

The strength of the Taft delegation was shown once more this afternoon by a vote of 564 to 502. Another stride was taken today toward the goal which is to be reached if Congress passes the bill appropriating $18,000,000 for a transcontinental highway instead of for the maintenance of post roads, as the bill now reads.

Ex-Vice-President Fairbanks, who was chairman of the Committee on Platform and Resolutions at the last Republican convention, favors Federal aid for a national highway. Members of the committee who were consulted today stated, "You will get what you ask for. A plank for Federal aid is one of the questions which will be settled as requested at this convention."

That The Times car may continue its journey over the proposed route for the national highway the matter will be taken up in detail tomorrow. The plank for Federal aid will be uppermost in the mind of each man who takes part in the deliberations.

M'KINLEY CONSIDERATE.

W. B. McKinley, manager for President Taft, has given Col. Potter a hearing, in spite of the fact that McKinley has not even taken the time to eat a meal. With his breakfast served in his room and without sparing the time for dinner, McKinley listened to Col. Potter and promised support.

Following up his promise, McKinley said: "President Taft has demonstrated his strength in this Republican convention. He will be nominated. This was proved when Senator Elihu Root was elected chairman. You can call on us for help and we will be ready."

JOHNSON ON PARADE.

While the California delegation, led by Gov. Johnson, was marching down Michigan avenue carrying the Bear flag, the Arizona delegates were giving the movement for Federal aid every assistance.

There is every reason to believe tonight that President Taft will be the nominee of the Republican party when the roll is called. His strength was demonstrated again tonight when the statement was made that Gov. Hadley of Missouri is a dark horse. The Roosevelt delegates, in caucus tonight, are said to have planned to throw all their force to Hadley in an effort to prevent the nomination of President Taft when the roll is called.

COL. BRYAN TALKS.

Col. W. J. Bryan is reporting this convention as a newspaper writer and only wants to be considered as such. When asked if he would accept the nomination on the Democratic ticket Col. Bryan said:

"I am not in the race for President, but I am willing to take the stump for either Champ Clark or Woodrow Wilson."

It is a significant fact that in 1900 Col. Bryan attended the Republican convention as a newspaper reporter, and two weeks later was nominated for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket.

"HENEY MUST BE GAGGED."

Prominent Roosevelt Leader Calls Him "Irresponsible Firebrand."

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

BY BERT C. SMITH.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Francis J. Heney is to be gagged if the Roosevelt leaders can gag him. If they can't some of them propose to hog-tie him and put him in the cellar until the convention is over.

"He does nothing but stir up trouble," declared Frank D. Kellogg, the "trust-buster" Roosevelt supporter and one of the leaders of the third-termer's fight. Kellogg was discussing the vaning chances of the ex-President. "Just when we get things lined up as we want them Heney butts in and upsets the pot. He's an irresponsible firebrand on every occasion. We had a chance to win this fight and we are throwing it aside by letting this fellow, Heney, talk," said Kellogg, the Roosevelt leader.

The inner circle of Roosevelt's supporters agreed with Kellogg that Heney must be "gagged," and they succeeded in keeping him shut up during the debate on the Hadley motion today.

"BOB" WYNNE GETS IN.

He Is But One of the Few With Roosevelt on His Bear Hunts Admitted to See Him.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] One of the many acquaintances of Col. Roosevelt, who succeeded in penetrating the double lines of policemen who stood guard over the corridor and door which commanded the approach to his presence, was "Bob" Wynne, whom he made Postmaster-General and who was afterward Consul-General at London. His visit was brief, but when he emerged he said: "The colonel evidently intends to fight it out to the finish."

The former Postmaster-General was only one of the many who made an attempt to see Col. Roosevelt and one of the very few who did. The cordon of the policemen who guarded the corridor and the doorway had hard work to keep away the multitude of friends who had met him during various "Bear" hunts and campaign trips

COLONEL HIRES ACTRESS TO WAVE HIS LITHOGRAPH.

Alarmed by the Great Demonstration in the Coliseum for Hadley of Missouri Roosevelt Telephones Word to Her to Get Busy and Over the Wire Also Orders the Governor to Get Off the Stage.

BY GEORGE GRISWOLD HILL.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Theodore Roosevelt's ambition to enjoy a third term as President of the United States experienced a signal defeat today in the Republican National Convention. In the one vote of the day, on a question vital to the interests of the ex-President, President Taft won 564 to 510, and this despite the fact that the 26 delegates from Wisconsin, all of whom are instructed for Senator La Follette; eight from North Dakota, similarly instructed, and the ten from Iowa, instructed for Senator Cummins, all voted for the Roosevelt motion.

ORIGIN OF THE VOTE.

The vote came on a motion offered by Watson of Indiana to table the amendment offered by Gov. Deneen of Illinois, which, if adopted, would have precluded all delegates whose seats had been contested from participating in the election of members of the Committee on Credentials or from voting on the report of that committee. The motion to table this amendment was carried by the vote of 564 to 510, the announcement of which caused considerable demonstration on the part of the Taft supporters, which, however, was soon checked by Senator Root, who, because of the lateness of the hour, felt it necessary to curtail the enthusiasm of the delegates in order that the delegates might get to work.

The session was marked by a prolonged demonstration of enthusiasm, lasting forty-five minutes, which began with cheering for Gov. Hadley of Missouri. The Taft men were brought into it by ex-Representative James Watson at the front of the stage. It was later converted into a Roosevelt demonstration on instruction of the colonel through the efforts of a young woman, an actress, who waved a lithograph of the ex-President from the gallery. She later headed a march of delegates through the auditorium and was hauled to the platform. By what the delegates called her girlish beauty and becoming dress, she aroused the Roosevelters to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Did ye have a good seat in th' convintion?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"I had wan iv th' best," said Mr. Dooley.

"I cuddent hear a wurr'd. They were fine speeches. Aven from where I set with me head against the girder in a ceilin' at th' corner on Foorteenth sthreet I cud see that they were magnificent. Th' aujence was injying thim walkin' around th' hall, talkin' an' chattin', an' th' orators were havin' th' time iv their lives. No man injyes a cornet performance as much as th' fellow that's blowin' th' bugle excipt some wan like meself that can't hear him. Ivery orator was given thirty minyites to state his case. After he'd been talkin' fifty-five minyites another orator sint a fellow to tap him on th' arm an' say: 'It's Bill's turn now,' and th' Demastheens who was sayin' 'Fr'm 90,000,0000 people comes th' cry to us,' he ends his solo, he sayin', 'I'm sorry Misther Chairman, I didn't know me time was up,' and goes back to where his wife is sittin' an' asks her how it wint. She says magnificint. She cuddent hear it.

PROUD IV TH' COPPERS.

"There's wan grand thing about th' convintion. I'm proud iv th' polis force iv Chicago. Ivry wan is who knows thim in a friendly way. An' I'll say this, that I niver see a finer turn-out iv th' constabiry in me life. I didn't think they was so manny coppers in th' wurruld. 'Twas a pleasure to see thim lined up in th' hallways with their coats opened, their gatlin guns in th' outside pockets, an' their clubs in their hands ready to spring into th' debate on the foondymental principals iv th' Republican party at a wurrud fr'm th' prisidin' officer—th' assistant chief iv polis. I'v' been to many natynl conventions, du ye mind, but I'v' never see a more compitint chairman iv a Republican convention thin Herman H. Schuettler. I don't know how he'd get on in a Dimmicrat convention when some dillygate who'd been a polisman himself before he was broke wud demand th' preevyous question, but this Republican convintion wasn't enough to get him excited. It was fine to see him an' his splendid min goin' around among this furyous mob iv almost unconthrollable pathrites and punshin' them back in their seats ivery time they started annything. Some wan inflamed with passion wud get up an' wildly wavin' his watch chain around his finger, wud cry out: 'It occurs to me that the convintion shud remimber th' decision iv Sinitor George Frisbie Hoar in th' case iv th' dillygates fr'm Vermont.'

ROWDY TACTICS WON'T GO.

" 'What are ye thryin' to do?' says th' presidin' officer. 'Turn this convintion into a brawl?' I want to tell ye these here rowdy tactics won't go. I won't hear such language used. Officer Cassidy, bring th' gintleman to ordher. 'But before me frind Cassidy can do his full jooty, th' impassioned pathrite sets down, remarking at th' same time that he apologizes fur what he's said an' promises to go home quiet.

"Iv coorse it's hard on the polis. I'm afraid the Chicago polis are going to lose their faith in human nature. Here were these bright-eyed, eager young fellows dhragged from their peaceful beats in th' stock yards in answer to a riot call. They wanted th' job. They'd been readin' the papers, an' here was somethin' that looked like relief frim th' teejum in handlin' a switchman's sthrike. At anny minyit desprit fellows like Victor Roosewather might leap at each other. Guns wud be dhrawed an' ivry young fellow wud have a chanst in promotion, fu'r huntin' a Republican. An' now look what's happened! There's nawthin' at all fu'r th' poor fellow to do but stand around an' hope.

FORCE IS DISAPPOINTED.

"I've got a nephew down there, a young fellow be th' name iv Powers, an' he says he's goin' to get off th' foarce. He says it's a sameful thing to ast such a splendidly dhrilled body iv min to pathrol a crokay game. He's done ivrything he cud to make th' convintion interestin'. He elbowed thim agin each other. He told Bill Barnes that he see Gifford Pinchot thry to thrip him up as he wint down th' aisle. But, 'twas no use. Nobody wud make a move. He says th' polismen ar're growin' discontinted an' may fight among themselves first to pass the time away. ''Tis no pleasure to quarrel with a statesman that gets up an' says: 'I rise to a question that involves all that is dear to our country, an' that I wud willingly lay down me life fu'r,' an' whin ye say to him, 'let down,' he says, 'excuse me.'

FIGHT FULL IV AIR.

"It all comes out iv a misundherstandin' on th' part iv th' polis. A polisman niver ought to go to a fight befur it starts or he'll be disappointed. It's no use in inthreferin' with hard wurruds. Th' paper said th' air was full iv fight. What they ought to 've said was th' fight was full iv air. As I looked over the convintion I didn't see half a dozen min undher 40. D'ye think you're goin' to get thim octygeniarians to slam each other with their crutches? Niver. They'll fight it out on the flure iv th' convintion, but they'll talk it over at night. Wan iv th' reasons I was glad I cuddent hear the speeches today was because th' on'y speeches at a convintion that ar're worth hearin' onless ye care for music, are thim ye hear durin' th' recess."

"The' trouble looks to be over makin' th' timpry organization permanent," said Mr. Hennessy.

"That's all th' throuble in th' wurruled," said Mr. Dooley. "Me frind Elihoo Root wud like to make th' timpry organization iv th' wurruled permanent. He ought to. He's timpry chairman, chose be th' comity."

ROOSEVELTERS LEAVE.

Roosevelt men. As they pushed open the swinging doors after Sullivan, they cried out to the newspaper men: "All newspaper men come inside and see what they are trying to do with us."

Col. Thayer, assistant sergeant-at-arms, shouted to the doorkeeper to admit no one. The Roosevelt forces again called for everyone to come in. Mr. Thayer called for policemen, who pushed their way through and kept the crowd from getting in.

POUR OUT OF THE ROOM.

The Roosevelt men poured out of the room, declaring they were acting under orders of Col. Roosevelt.

"Everybody go to the Florentine room at the Congress," shouted one man.

They rushed out, followed by the crowd, and in the street outside of the Coliseum they were overtaken by Secretary William Hayward.

"Why did you act that way?" he demanded of Heney. "Why didn't you wait until some rules had been passed?"

"We are acting under the direct orders of Col. Roosevelt," retorted Heney.

"We are obeying a better general than you," shouted George L. Record of New Jersey. "He told us to leave that room, and we did it."

THE CAUSE OF IT ALL.

Hugh T. Talbert said the break came as the result of the refusal of the majority in the committee to open up all evidence in the cases. Mr. Halbert presented resolutions asking that the temporary roll of the convention be considered only—as prima facie evidence of the right of delegates to sit; and that all evidence, testimony and the like, be gone into. He said the committee refused to do this and attempted to "gag" the minority by making rules that would have left the action of the National Committee as practically decisive in all the contests.

Mr. Heney later came back to the lobby and urged the Roosevelt contestants to go to the Florentine room of the Congress where the Roosevelt headquarters are located and be heard by the members of the Credentials Committee representing Roosevelt.

CAT COMES BACK.

Believing they had acted too hastily some of the Roosevelt men, including Mr. Halbert, returned to the committee-room after a short conference in the street. While Mr. Record and Mr. Heney declared they were acting under Mr. Roosevelt's direction others believed they should have remained until definite action was taken by the committee upon the time for argument and the character of evidence to be considered.

R. R. McCormick of Chicago also remained in the committee room. Mr. Halbert said they would stay until they had a vote on his resolution for consideration of all evidence in the contest cases and then would again leave.

James R. Garfield of Ohio, former Secretary of the Interior, came to the door and attempted to enter the room. It was understood he had some message from Col. Roosevelt. The policemen and doorkeepers thrust him back although one of the committeemen attempted to pull him in. With the aid of Ormsby McHarg he was ushered into a committee waiting-room through a side door.

The majority of the bolters later were induced to return to the committee-room but the Roosevelt man made it clear they would leave in a body unless they were conceded their point.

The committee adopted the amended rules by a vote of thirty-six to four.

Chairman Devine said adjournment was taken because most of the contesting delegates had left the Coliseum.

THE FIRST BOLT.

The first bolt occurred within an hour after the committee had met tonight.

Gifford Pinchot, Senator Dixon, Amos Pinchot and James R. Garfield rushed about the Coliseum annex in which the meeting was held, conferring with bolters and attempting to bring some order to the situation.

The Roosevelt men rushed out with the cry:

"All Roosevelt men leave the hall."

They got as far as the street when they were overtaken by several of their number who told them they had acted too hastily. It was then decided to return to the committee and to make a fight there.

The proposed adoption of a rule limiting argument of contests to five minutes for district cases and ten minutes for State cases, precipitated the bolt.

"We then went into the committee room," he said, "and told our man it was Col. Roosevelt's desire that we leave if such a rule were adopted."

The action was premature, according to Roosevelt generals, who came to the scene at top speed. Instead of waiting for action on the resolutions, the Roosevelt men left before any rules had been adopted.

THE RULES.

The rules which brought on the fight were presented by James A Hemenway of Indiana. They provided:

"That no contests should be considered except those appealed from the decisions of the National Committee.

"That none should be taken up where the decision of the National Committee had been unanimous.

"That cases should be consolidated where such action had been taken at the previous hearing.

"That the contestants who were not seated, should open the arguments.

"That ten minutes be allowed for State cases and five minutes for district cases for counsel on each side.

CASUS BELL.

The last two provisions brought on the fight, Hugh T. Halbert of Minnesota, and other Roosevelt men claiming the committee should open all evidence in all cases. On the roll call adopting the rules, R. R. McCormick of Illinois, Cleny St. Clair of Idaho, W. S. Lauder of North Dakota, and John M. Early of Tennessee voted "no."

F. J. Heney, California; Ralph Harris, Kansas; Lex N. Mitchell, Pennsylvania; Jesse M. Libby, Maine; Edward G. Carrington, Jr., Maryland; Hugh T. Halbert, Minnesota; H. E. Sackett, Nebraska; C. H. Cowles, North Carolina; J. J. Sullivan, Ohio; Dan L. Norton, Oklahoma; A. V. Swift, Oregon; S. X. Ray, South Dakota.

THE FIRST RUSH.

Jesse A. Tollerton of Missouri, who was one of those who made the first rush through the door at the first bolt, said he never had intended to leave the meeting, but had rushed outside to bring in the newspaper men.

"Missouri is not bolting," he said, "but will vote for Roosevelt in the convention."

R. R. McCormick, when he came out of the room, said he was "with the Roosevelt men in spirit but perhaps not to the extent of leaving the hall."

Chairman Devine said the committee would take up the contests tomorrow morning and finish them as rapidly as possible in their regular order.

Senator Dixon, Roosevelt's campaign manager, and Mr. Heney joined Mr. Garfield in the committee anteroom. A. A. D. Rehn of Minnesota and several other men in the confidence of the colonel also were passed through the wicket into his conference room after the bolt.

No definite list of the number of men who left the committee-rooms on the first ballot could be obtained. It was admitted that practically all had returned to go through a regular fight in the committees.

Heney was called out by a messenger to answer the telephone. He did not return to the ante-room, but left the building in a taxicab, declining to reveal his destination.

Roosevelt delegates poured into the Florentine room of the Congress Hotel where it was announced the bolting contingent would assemble.

ROOSEVELTERS SPLIT.

The Roosevelt delegates split into factions, some urging that the committee men go back, participate in the deliberations and submit a minority report to the convention. Others clamored that the bolters stand fast. At times the meeting was in an uproar.

When the delegates had been called to order in the Florentine room William Flinn of Pennsylvania made a speech.

"The issue has been joined," he said. "I have just come from a two-hours' conference of the Pennsylvania delegation and we voted unanimously to walk out of a convention controlled by the Taft forces through theft and fraud. Our decision carries with us the Republican candidate for State Treasurer and a candidate for Congress in Pennsylvania. These gentlemen held that their personal interests were of relative unimportance as compared with the principle at stake and the duty they owed the people.

"We have been patient, but the parting of the ways has come."

Delegate King of Nebraska made a speech in which he urged the bolters to return to the committee-room and make a minority report to the convention.

"I am speaking to you," said Col. Roosevelt, "as a man to whom some of you have done the honor to state that you wish to nominate as President. When I went into the race I made my appeal to the people. Most of the delegates were chosen at direct primaries by the people. I made my fight squarely. I said that if the people decided against me, I would have nothing to say, but that if the people were for me and the politicians tried to cheat me out of the nomination, I woud have a great deal to say.

SAYS HE WON.

"I went before the people and I won. Now the committee and a portion of the convention, which is made a majority only by the aid of delegates not elected, but chosen by the National Committee, are trying to cheat me out of the nomination. They can't do it. As far as I am concerned, it makes no difference. But it is not me they are cheating; it is the people, the rank and file of the Republican party.

"I did not want to give you any advice as I preferred to let you decide what to do, but now I am going to give you my advice.

"Gov. Deneen introduced a very moderate resolution in dealing with the four flagrant steals. It asked that the delegates from California, Washington, Texas and Arizona should not be permitted to vote and that the three States stolen bodily—Washington, Arizona and Texas—should not put their representatives on the Credentials Committee. That motion was voted down by substantially the same vote that elected Root over McGovern.

"In each case the majority was a majority only because the votes of the fraudulently seated delegates were counted.

"Mr. Root received seventy of eighty stolen votes," continued Mr. Roosevelt." "Mr. Deneen's resolution was beaten today by fraudulent votes, which in that resolution were named by the votes of Texas, Arizona, Washington and the two fraudulent votes from California. If those votes had been changed the resolution would have been carried.

"To add insult to injury, the Committee on Credentials organized by choosing chairman Mr. Devine, the national committeeman who had taken part in the very theft on which he had passed as a member of the National Committee.

"I AM THROUGH."

"As far as I am concerned, I am through. I hope that tomorrow when you go back to the convention hall you will at once introduce a resolution that not one of those fraudulently seated delegates shall vote on any question in the Credentials Committee or in the convention. Don't lie down again if they beat you by fraudulent votes. There is no use in voting to cut out the fraudulent votes and then being beaten by the fraudulent votes and say you are very sorry and go home. I hope you will then take the position that you decline to submit to having any delegates that are fraudulently seated allowed to sit as judges on their own cases or vote on the report of the Credentials Committee.

"I hope you will refuse any longer to recognize a majority thus composed as having any title in law or morals to be called a Republican convention.

"If you are voted down I hope you, the real and lawful majority of the convention, will organize as such and you will do it if you have the courage and loyalty of your convictions.

"Let's find out whether the Republican party is still the party of the plain people, or the party of the bosses and the professional politicians, acting in the interests of special privileges.

"If you want my advice, I would advise you place no further trust, that you do not permit yourself to be committed in any further way, shape or form by further association with these men so long as they remain in the control of the convention by means of a majority controlled in essential part of fraudulently-seated delegates who have not the slightest right or title to represent the rank and file of the Republican party, and are without the slightest right or title to seats in the convention."

JOHNSON THERE.

Gov. Johnson of California reached the Florentine room a few minutes after Mr. Roosevelt had finished his address. Many were leaving the room when Gov. Johnson entered. A score of men seized him and rushed him to a table. Immediately the room filled up again with delegates.

"Gentlemen," Gov. Johnson began, "you have heard what we are going to do tomorrow. We are going to stop dillydallying with this robbing convention. We are going in there to fight, and we are prepared for the birth of a new Republican party which will nominate for President Theodore Roosevelt."

"And he will be elected," was shouted in chorus from the delegates.

"Hadley, Hadley," was the cry.

A mingled roar of cheers and hisses greeted this, but quiet was soon restored and Gov. Johnson proceeded.

"This new party, which is inevitable, will be an honest party," he said.

REAL CONVENTION NOISE.

The Women in the Chicago Coliseum as Interested as the Men in Making a Hubbub Over Hadley.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Well, there was at least some of that convention enthusiasm with long and continued noise which has come to be regarded as necessary in a National Convention. It came late and after three hours of fervid oratory which could not be heard by anyone except the favored few seated close to the speaker's stand.

Gov. Hadley did not seem to be worried over the fact that he was not able to speak until the crowd got tired.

The women seemed to be as busy at noise-making as the men.

Hadley Gets the Big Ovation in Chicago Coliseum.

BY GEORGE A. VAN SMITH.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Smarting under a second and more decisive defeat than they suffered yesterday, the sub-generals of the Roosevelt forces are at war among themselves at the close of the second day of a convention which many of them admit offers them only a choice between bolting the Republican party and participation in the renomination of President Taft.

The steam roller made only a single trip today. When that trip was concluded the debris of the Roosevelt wreck had been pulverized a little finer. Roosevelt and his forces had not gained ground in any direction. They were forced to witness the departure of the Hawaiian contingent that had voted with them against Root. They gained temporary possession of thirteen votes from Wisconsin—votes that they knew were not theirs for the nomination of Roosevelt. The Taft forces polled 558 votes for Root yesterday. They rolled up 564 votes today against the so-called Hadley programme to prevent the delegates placed on the temporary roll-call by the National Committee from participating in the work of the Credentials Committee, or voting on its report.

REBELLION IN RANKS.

There was no bolt at the close of the session this afternoon, because some of the Roosevelt generals, including Gov. Hadley of Missouri, had served notice that they would not submit to a bolt. Therein is to be found an explanation for the internal strife that is tearing the Roosevelt ranks.

Gov. Johnson of California, who is their chief, and the radicals who support the Johnson programme, want to bolt while the going is good. Johnson and the members of the California delegation believe that they have the machinery of the party in their own State safely in their hands. They believe they can win nothing more satisfactory than repetitions of the beatings they have already received in the convention and that they have a fighting chance to elect Roosevelt as the nominee of a rump convention. A bolt after a convention, or after a convention has nominated a candidate for President, is not an easy thing to contemplate even in California where the Republican electors are supposed to be in subjugation. As a plain political proposition it is better to bolt on a great "moral issue" than because of pique over the personal defeat of a favored candidate.

CALIFORNIANS KICKING.

Wherefore the Californians don't like the programme they have been forced to swallow. They kicked against it in the making and they are kicking against it in the practice. They admit that Gov. Hadley has a swelled head; that Senator Borah of Idaho is a coward and that Hadley, Dixon and other Roosevelt chieftains stand in the way of the consummation of their desire to lead a bolt and play a directing part in a rump convention.

The Californians are not satisfied with the managers of the Roosevelt fight and their attitude toward Gov. Hadley of Missouri was plainly shown this afternoon when they took a spectacular hand in turning the Hadley demonstration back to Roosevelt.

GOES TO THE MAT.

I am in a position to say definitely that Chester H. Rowell, who has been an active if not a dominating worker on the strategy board, went to the mat with Gov. Hadley in opposition to the fine-spun parliamentary programme which has resulted in two crushing defeats for the Roosevelt arms.

On Monday Rowell told Hadley that the scheme to make a parliamentary attack on the temporary roll call was pretty in theory, but would prove absolutely worthless and futile in practice.

Rowell went over the ground with Hadley and told him how and where he would meet disaster.

What he did not tell Hadley, but what the Californians believed then and believe now, was that the programme entrusted to Hadley would accomplish more than to exploit Hadley, which, be it known, is no part of the Californians' programme. They have a Governor of their own to boost and they declare, as they "wink the other eye," that they believe Johnson has it on Hadley coming and going. The fact that Hadley got all of the Governor's calcium today and even entered into a debate closing argument with Jim Watson that foreclosed the making of the speech expected from Gov. Johnson has not increased Hadley's popularity with Hiram J.

JOHNSON GLOOM.

Tonight the California contingent is grim and blue. They may be forced into line by the superior weight of number in the Roosevelt army, but they declare they will not stay in the convention after the California contest is finally decided, if that decision goes against Bancroft and Wheeler.

Publicly they declare they can win Roosevelt out yet. Privately they admit that the steam roller is too much for them and that Roosevelt is wasting time and political capital by waiting for more punishment. But a worse feature than that besets them because they are beginning to fear that a bolt that would have been comparatively easy yesterday may be practically abortive tomorrow.

One of the Californians who has participated in the work of the strategy board, but at no time agreed with the programme adopted, said of Senator Borah, who is one of the chief opponents of the bolt: "I have a right to despise him. He is putting his personal political fortunes above our right to political freedom. I have paid for mine and I purpose to retain it."

DISCOURAGEMENT.

California figured in the limelight just twice today, once when Gov. Johnson attempted to cast twenty-six votes for the Hadley programme, and again when the Californians seized an opportunity to help turn a Hadley demonstration into a Rooseveltian ballyhoo.

The attempt to cast twenty-six votes for the Hadley programme resulted in nothing more spectacular than the polling of the delegation and the reception and the recording of votes of Morris Meyerfeld and E. H. Tryon for the Taft end of the controversy. The other job partook of the nature of an adroit coup.

In the debate on the Hadley motion to purge the temporary roll-call, Watson of Indiana yielded to Hadley to enable the Missouri man to make an explanation. The habitual cheer for Hadley was turned into a demonstration by the minority sympathizers in the galleries. As it gathered volume, some of the discouraged Roosevelt delegates on the floor scented an opportunity to make a compromise candidate demonstration. They began to shout "Hadley, we want Hadley!"

At the end of five minutes the din had only increased, and some of the Roosevelt delegates were parading their banners through the aisles shouting, "Hadley, Hadley!"

California joined in the parading, but not in the yells for Hadley. Then it was that Mrs. A. W. Davis, an attractive young Chicago matron, gave the Californians a chance to participate in dousing the Hadley din and turning it into a Roosevelt demonstration. Mrs. Davis, leaning over the rail of one of the balconies, waved a Roosevelt lithograph. Meyer Lissner and C. C. Young, with the California bear standard, promptly made their way to the balcony beside Mrs. Davis and identified themselves with a flanking movement that was instantly successful.

RIVER BANDIT BEATEN TO DEATH BY HIS VICTIMS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON (Cal.) June 19.—A desperate robber who held up passengers on two river launches en route to Stockton this afternoon about forty miles down stream, was beaten to death after he had shot an engineer named Sam Grisscom through the chest and severely woundd him. Th body was brought here tonight.

The robber got aboard the launch Glendolin at Stones Landing with his face blackened, and holding two pistols, took all the valuables of the dozen or more passengers. Then he compelled the engineer to run the launch. The Frank C. headed this way, coming in sight, he put all the men ashore save the engineer, and compelled him to blow the alarm whistle and run alongside the second boat. Then he robbed the passengers there in the same way, robbing twenty-two men all told.

As he was backing away, Engineer Grisscom struck him and knocked him overboard. As the robber came up in the water, he held one pistol and shot Grisscom. The passengers picked up irons and beat the robber to death while he was in the water and he sank. The body was reached with grappling irons and brought here.

In the pockets of the dead robber were watches and money he had stolen. He is from Sacramento and was a passenger down the river a few days ago. His name has not yet been learned. He was about 35 years of age.

THIRTEEN COAL MINERS KILLED BY EXPLOSION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TRINIDAD (Colo.) June 19.—Thirteen miners are entombed and are believed to be dead, as a result of an explosion in the new stope of the Hastings mine of the Victor American Fuel Company shortly after midnight today. Another miner, badly injured, has been rescued. The mine is located sixteen miles north of Trinidad.

The main stope is badly caved in and rescuers have been able to make but little progress. Rescue equipment is being rushed to the scene of the disaster.

Superintendent James Cameron believes the explosion was caused by a "windy shot," which set off a quantity of gas. The explosion occurred in the new stope of the mine, where development work is in progress. The fourteen men who were in the night shift were shot firers and entrymen.

John Thomas, fire boss, is believed to have lost his life. The other victims are believed to be foreigners. The explosion is believed to have occurred shortly before 10 o'clock last night. No concussion was felt even in the immediate vicinity of the mine and the first warning of the disaster came when a night watchman saw smoke issuing from the mouth of the new stope.

Superintendent Cameron and party succeeded in locating a number of bodies behind heavy falls and no hope is held out that any are alive.

Twelve bodies of the victims were brought to the surface. The bodies were only slightly burned.

"ROOSEVELT ELIMINATED," M'KINLEY'S STATEMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 19.—At Taft headquarters a general atmosphere of satisfaction and relief greeted the swarms of delegates tonight. Director McKinley and his staff presented an it-is-all-over-but-the-shouting attitude and confidently asserted that today's vote of 564 to 510 against the Roosevelt forces showed conclusively that Taft would be renominated.

They said that Roosevelt would lose on the nomination roll call forty-six of the 510 votes he had today. They declared that Wisconsin's twenty-six votes, South Dakota's ten and the Cummins votes from Iowa would desert the Roosevelt column on any decisive vote. From this they argued that the real Roosevelt strength in the convention at the most was 464 votes.

"President Taft's renomination is a certainty," said Director McKinley. "Each succeeding roll call from now on will show steady losses from the Roosevelt column and gains for Taft.

M'KINLEY'S STATEMENT.

A statement by McKinley tonight said:

"President Taft will be renominated; Theodore Roosevelt has been eliminated as a candidate. Two test votes, one today and another forced by his leaders yesterday, have demonstrated that he cannot be nominated. The delegates have repudiated his third-term pretensions. His managers have resorted to every known method of political strategy, but without success. They have attempted combinations with other candidates, they have presented unfair and revolutionary plans of procedure under the pretense of honesty and they have endeavored by every means to make Taft delegates break their solemn pledges and instructions.

"In the face of these desperate efforts the Taft column has steadily grown. Taft's majority today was larger than it was yesterday.

"The Roosevelt followers are now seeking in discouraged fashion for another leader. Their search will be in vain.

"President Taft's demonstrated majority in the convention represents delegates who have come to Chicago determined to renominate him and they will not be swerved from that purpose.

"They have shown that they propose to remain with the President until his nomination is an accomplished fact. They will receive accessions to their ranks from those who have been temporarily carried away by a noisy, blustering, braggadocio campaign. The balloon-like character of that campaign has been twice punctured by a decisive majority votes.

"The southern colored delegates, instructed for Taft, are carrying out their instructions with courage and fidelity, nothwithstanding the temptations offered them in the way of money, patronage and political preferment.

DESERTING ROOSEVELT.

"Roosevelt not only lost in votes today, but his delegates indulged in forty minutes of continuous cheering for Gov. Hadley of Missouri, one of his campaign managers, thus showing a decided tendency to desert the Roosevelt standard.

"Roosevelt's repeated threat to bolt has not materialized and statements are made by many of his leaders that should a bolt be attempted it will not be generally participated in.

"The solidarity of President Taft's line and the wavering weakness for the Roosevelt forces tell their own story of victory for the the President and the bursting of the Roosevelt bubble."

The Taft leaders, while outwardly ridiculing talk of a Roosevelt bolt, privately admitted that the colonel, when it becomes apparent tomorrow, as they say it will, that the Credentials Committee will not interfere materially with the Taft delegates selected by the National Committee, will undoubtedly order his followers out of the convention. But the Taft leaders say that the real leaders of the Roosevelt movement will not hold a rump convention to give Roosevelt an independent nomination.

ROOSEVELT HATCHES PLOT.

would be placed in the position of acting with delegates who they contend were chosen fraudulently, and of having broken away because they were beaten.

Col. Roosevelt has said all along that he was making his fight for a principle and not for any man, even himself. It was pointed out that he stated in his speech Monday night that he would not accept a vote to seat the delegates whose seats he disputed, even in his own favor.

Col. Roosevelt told Gov. Deneen in the presence of William Allen White of Kansas, that should the convention seat these delegates, he would withdraw from the convention and that two Republican candidate for President would be nominated, with two Republican candidates for Governor in every State of the union, together with Republican candidates for Congress in each district, and two Republican candidates for every other office.

The former President is said to be of the opinion that he could take with him the support of a majority of Republicans outside the extreme East and could increase his strength by accessions from the Democratic party.

TUGGING AT THE LEASH.

Some Roosevelt delegates were said to be tugging at the leash. The California and Pennsylvania delegations, according to reports, were in favor of a break yesterday afternoon, when Col. Roosevelt met with his first reverse. It was deemed wiser, however, to await the convention's final ruling upon contested delegates before taking decisive action.

The Hadley boom, which crystalized in today's demonstration in the convention, was said by supporters of Col. Roosevelt to have been launched by persons who desire to defeat him at all costs and are willing to desert Taft if necessary to accomplish this end. Col. Roosevelt's only comment in regard to Gov. Hadley was made when he heard of the demonstration.

"I'm delighted," said he. "No demonstration could be too high a tribute to Gov. Hadley."

It was reported by adherents of the ex-President that some who fear that President Taft can not be renominated began to sound Roosevelt delegates last night as to whether they would support Hadley if Taft strength were shifted to the Governor.

DELEGATES APPROACHED.

Delegates from Iowa, Missouri and Wisconsin were said to have been approached in this way. The chief drawback to this plan, it was said, was the fear of its promoters that if an attempt were made to transfer Taft votes to Hadley enough delegates would slip away to Roosevelt to give him the nomination.

Taft leaders, according to the gossip tonight, went to Gov. Hadley several months ago to dissuade him from casting his lot with Col. Roosevelt by intimating that he was the administration's choice for Vice-President. Gov. Hadley, it was said, declined.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTIAGO, June 19.—The United States battleship Mississippi left Guantanamo this afternoon with fifty marines aboard to reinforce the garrison at El Cuero mines, which is threatened by the insurgents. The gunboat Paducah sailed from Santiago today for an unknown destination.

The buildings of the Ponupo Manganese Company, an American concern, situated near Lamaya, about seven miles from Santiago, were burned by Cuban insurgents at noon yesterday.

As a result of the latest amnesty proclamation issued by Gen. Monteagudo, commander-in-chief of the government forces, about 300 insurgents came in today and surrendered to the military authorities. None brought weapons.

Milwaukee Coroner Will Exhume Bodies of Chicago Woman's Former Husband and His Brother.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MILWAUKEE, June 19.—Two bodies may be disinterred from Milwaukee cemeteries as the result of an investigation by the District Attorney on advice of the Chicago police, who are investigating a murder charge against Mrs. Louis Lindliff.

The woman's first husband, Julius Graunke, died in Milwaukee August 12, 1905, presumably of apoplexy. On October 12, 1907, John Otto Lindliff, twenty-four years old, died suddenly. He was a brother of the woman's second husband.

Graunke was insured for $2000 and so was John Lindliff. The Coroner will exhume the bodies to ascertain if there are traces of arsenic poisoning.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Vice-President Sherman was the first caller today at the White House. Both he and President Taft were at the baseball game here yesterday.

"Well, that was a great game yesterday, Mr. Vice-President," said Mr. Taft, as Mr. Sherman entered his office.

"Yes, in both places," returned Mr. Sherman.

The Vice-President said he was satisfied with events in Chicago.

GOING! GOING!! GONE!!!

THE "JUST AS GOOD KIND" A FAILURE ALIKE TO BUYER AND SELLER

HERPICIDE

Miss Daisy Hight, Box 202, Perry, N. Y., in a recent letter to the Herpicide Co., says: "I have used your hair remedy, Herpicide, and prefer it to any other, but the druggists here have other hair tonics they want to sell, and it is hard to get Herpicide when I want it. One druggist got me to try ——, but it is not as good as Herpicide. I would like to buy your Herpicide in larger quantities direct from the company if you will send it to me."

It is the same old story. The dealer in his greed for a few extra pennies induces the customer to buy something else — result — the customer loses the money and the dealer loses the customer. Whenever a dealer suggests a substitute for some standard article, the safest thing to do is to walk out of the store.

Fortunately there are but few dealers like those described in Miss Hight's letter. The dealer who tries to sell you an off brand when you ask for Newbro's Herpicide thinks more of a dime than of the real good of his customer.

Insist on having Newbro's Herpicide, the first, the real, the original dandruff germ destroyer. It is put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes and guaranteed to stop falling hair, itching scalp and to eradicate every particle of dandruff. Your money refunded if you are not satisfied. Herpicide does what it promises to do and what you expect it to do. There is no logic in buying the "just as good" kind, when the genuine costs no more.

Upon receipt of ten cents in postage or silver the Herpicide Co., Dept. S, Detroit, Mich., will send postage paid a trial size bottle of Herpicide and a booklet on the care of the hair to any address. Sold everywhere. Applications at the better barber shops and beauty parlors.

OROZCO PLAYS WAITING GAME.

Federals Anxious to Get Insurrectos Out in Open.

Government Must Repair Many Bridges in Progress.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHIHUAHUA (Mex.) June 19.—The next move in the Mexican revolution probably will be made by the government. At Gen. Orozco's rebel headquarters here today it was declared that the advance of Gen. Huerta's Federal army would be awaited at Bachimba, forty-six miles south of here, where the insurrectos have strongly fortified themselves.

The Federals, it is known, are anxious to draw the rebels out into the open. The big engagement upon which the fate of the revolution seems to hinge probably will not occur for several days, as the rebels today destroyed the big wooden bridge at Ortiz, fifteen miles south of Bachimba, which was nearly a mile long. This, as well as smaller structures, must be repaired before the Federal commander can bring his artillery north, but only a few days are expected to elapse before they are reconstructed, as the government army has 1000 men detailed to bridge repairing alone.

Gen. Inez Salazar, virtually second in command to Gen. Orozco, arrived here today from La Cruz, where he has been directing the skirmishing with the Federal outposts. Salazar is ill and has left Gen. Marcelio Caraveo in command at the front.

A dynamiting crew, mostly Americans employed by the Mexican government, is operating between here and Juarez and probably will blow up all the important railroad trestles on the Mexican Central.

The object of the expedition is to cut wire and railroad communication between Chihuahua and Juarez and make Juarez destitute of supplies and support in case of an attack by Federals from Sonora.

LOS ANGELES IN LINE.

California Delegates at Louisville Getting Pledges for Realty Convention in Three Years.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With an expressed determination to capture the national convention of the real estate exchanges in 1915, California, represented by three delegates, Philip D. Wilson and J. G. Stafford of Los Angeles, and Harry McMahan of San Francisco, tossed a hat into the ring this morning and before nightfall had several promises that Los Angeles would not be overlooked three years hence.

It is the present programme, it is said, to let the national convention go to Tampa, Fla., in 1914, as Winnipeg has the promise of the meeting next year, and then to let Los Angeles follow in 1915, when the expositions are held in California.

Los Angeles is well advertised in Louisville, as the few representatives from the Golden Gate State have been busy every minute exploiting the beauties and wonders of the Far West. They have been convincing, too.

California was not overlooked in the naming of committees, as Philip D. Wilson of Los Angeles was made a member of the Committee on Credentials.

The annual fight for the presidency has not come up, but every section is busy grooming a candidate. Tonight the delegates were entertained by the local real estate dealers. Tomorrow the delegates will get down to hard work.

OLD TOWN BLOTTED OUT.

Prattville, in Plumas County, California, Famous as Angling Resort, Gives Way to Power Project.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GREENVILLE (Cal.) June 19.—With orders to move the living, rebury the dead and burn the town, Dan Moorehead has razed and blotted out with fire, the old fishing resort of Prattville.

Founded in 1871 by Dr. Willard Pratt, the town has been visited by all the more prominent anglers in the West, and many from the Atlantic Coast. Big Meadows, of which Prattville has been the metropolis, is famous for its trout fishing and few go there who do not catch the limit.

The passing of the old town is occasioned by the work on the big power dam of the Great Western Power Company at Nevis. Rapidly being pushed to completion, it will be but three years before the site of Prattville will be under water.

LIGHT FROM THE EAST ON THE LIVING ISSUES.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

PURSUES OLD POLICY.

BEATEN IN THE FIRST ROUND.

[Chicago Inter-Ocean:] Theodore Roosevelt was beaten yesterday in the first round of his fight for a third term.

Senator Elihu Root of New York, the choice of the regular Republicans for temporary chairman, defeated F. C. McGovern of Wisconsin, the selection of the Roosevelt insurgents, by 558 votes to 502 actually cast for Mr. McGovern.

The test was one which Mr. Roosevelt could have avoided. Senator Root was not the selection of Mr. Taft, who properly left the matter to the National Committee. Senator Root was selected as a distinguished Republican who, though a supporter of Mr. Taft, could be counted on for rigid adherence to the parliamentary proprieties.

Mr. Roosevelt, pursuing his habitual policy of seeking to exterminate every Republican who presumes to disagree with him, declared war upon Senator Root.

THE DEATH GRAPPLE.

VICTORY WITH PRESIDENT.

[New York Herald:] Victory yesterday was with President Taft. If the leaders of the party can hold their strength through the succeeding days of the convention as they did yesterday the President will be renominated. Every one who believes in the permanency of American institutions must rejoice that the third-term candidate has suffered a serious reverse.

ROOSEVELT'S DEFEAT.

BATTLING FOR HIMSELF.

[New York World:] He boasted that it was Armageddon, but it looks more like Waterloo. He proclaimed that "we battle for the Lord," but a majority of the delegates have recorded the opinion that he was merely battling for himself. On the test vote that he forced upon the convention Mr. Roosevelt was decisively beaten. The Republican party is now in control of its own convention, regardless of Mr. Roosevelt's bullying and bulldozing and threats and abuse and intimidation. If the anti-Roosevelt leaders have the courage and wit and skill to hold what they have won they can renominate Mr. Taft for President.

POINTED OUT BY ROOT.

THE ROAD TO USEFULNESS.

[New York Sun:] In sentences clothed with the dignity of perfect sanity, and at the same time solemn with warning and unworded rebuke, Mr. Root pointed out to the Republican party its only chance of continued existence, the single road open to future usefulness and power. Today will show whether this admonition from the man once described by Theodore Roosevelt as the ablest man in public life in this or any other country is worth the paper on which it was written or the breath with which it was uttered.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Arsenic in large quantities has been found in the liver of Arthur Lindloff, whose mother, Mrs. Louise Lindloff, is under arrest in connection with his death, according to a report Prof. Walter S. Haines submitted to Coroner Hoffman today. Coroner Hoffman obtained an order for the exhumation of the bodies of William Lindloff and Alma Lindloff, husband and daughter, respectively, of the accused woman. The visceras from their bodies also will be examined. Mrs. Lindloff's arrest followed the sudden death of her son, June 13. Five deaths that have occurred in her family in the last three years, are to be investigated. All of the dead persons were insured in her favor, it is alleged.

MRS. OROZCO A REFUGEE.

Los Angeles Is Destination of Mexican Rebel Leader's Wife—Deposits Gold in El Paso.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 19.—Mrs. Pascual Orozco, Jr., wife of the commander-in-chief of the Mexican rebels, left here today for Los Angeles, with her children. Before her departure, local bankers say she deposited $200,000, gold.

The report that she secured this money in the city of Chihuahua from her husband and brought it here for safe keeping pending the outcome of the revolution has been current for some time.

Another story is that Col. Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the rebel chief, has in his possession in Juarez thirty-eight pounds of gold bullion valued at about $35,000, American currency, which he will attempt to get through to the United States in a few days. The gold is said to have come from a foreign-owned mine.

Don't be suprised if you have an attack of rheumatism this spring. Just rub the affected parts freely with Chamberlain's Liniment and it will soon disappear.—[Adv.

HENEY VICTIM GIVEN PARDON.

President Frees Another Oregon Land Case Convict.

Says Prosecutor Used Improper Methods.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 19.—President Taft pardoned Franklin P. Mays today on the ground that the government prosecutors had pursued improper methods in securing his conviction of land frauds at Portland, Or., in [illegible].

This is the second pardon granted by the President in the famous Mitchell-Hermann land cases. Willard N. Jones was pardoned a few days ago.

The President a year ago declined to pardon Mays. His change of attitude was due to an investigation of charges that government detectives procured advance lists of names of men likely to be placed in the jury list and investigated each man to learn if he would convict.

Mays was sentenced to four months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $10,000. The enforcement of his sentence has been delayed by his illness and his application for pardon.

These same allegations against the government affect a pending application for pardon by Hamilton H. Hendricks, convicted of subornation of perjury in connection with land fraud cases.

OTHER PARDONS EXPECTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That other men convicted by Francis J. Heney's operations of land fraud prosecutions are likely to be pardoned, following the pardoning of Willard N. Jones last week and F. P. Mays today is the belief of Federal officials and land attorneys here.

President Taft is convinced, it is believed, that Heney used unscrupulous and unlawful methods, both in selecting jurors and in getting evidence in land fraud cases. The President has demonstrated his belief by pardoning Jones and Mays, and proposes, it is said, to pardon others when proper showing is made before him that undue methods were employed to convict.

Mays was convicted with Willard N. Jones in the Blue Mountain land fraud case conducted by Heney in [illegible].

Mays has been under sentence of four months' confinement, and a fine of $10,000. Under the pardon, he will not have to serve his time nor pay the fine.

HENDRICKS SEEKS PARDON.

Hamilton Hendricks, also convicted of land fraud has applied for a pardon on the same grounds as Jones and Mays, while Binger Hermann is now in the East seeking a Congressional investigation in order to be vindicated.

So convinced are the Attorney-General and the President that the methods by which the jury list was selected and the jury box filled, that Hendricks will probably receive his pardon without difficulty.

Following the pardon of Jones, Hermann hurried back to Washington to urge a Congressional investigation of the practices of Heney in the land fraud prosecutions. Hermann is engaged in pressing his claims before Congress.

CONFIDENCE IN CHINA.

Navy Department Orders Home Admiral Sutherland and Cruisers From Oriental Waters.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 19.—A sign of the confidence of the State Department in the stability of the new Chinese government and its ability to maintain law and order, was the order issued from the Navy Department today for the return to the United States of Admiral Sutherland with his flagship California, and the armored cruiser South Dakota, with the supply ship Glacier. With the big cruisers Colorado and Maryland, which have already returned to the Pacific Coast, these vessels were ordered to China from Hawaii several months ago when conditions looked very dark for the Chinese republic.

Reports that Premier Tang Shao Yi had abandoned his office and fled from the capital were contradicted today by State Department advices that he had been granted five days sick leave.

[illegible] Rebels and One Federal Slain in Protracted Engagement Near Tepic, in Mexico.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

[illegible] (Ariz.) June 19.—Thirty-[illegible] insurrectos and one Federal soldier were killed in a protracted engagement at a small settlement south of Tepic the afternoon of June 16 and the morning of June 17, according to reports received here today.

The rebels, who numbered 400, were commanded by the Renteria brothers and Juan Canedo. The Federals, 150 in number, were led by [illegible] Castillo.

In addition to the loss of the Federals in deaths, six of their number were wounded.

All rebels taken prisoners were executed on the battlefield.

BUENOS AYRES, June 19.—The Government delivered into the House of Deputies yesterday a bill to establish a wireless telegraphic service capable of sending and receiving messages to a distance of 1000 kilometers (about 621.36 miles) from the coast of the Argentine Republic and which shall be absolutely under the control of the state.

The bill calls upon the owners of all passenger vessels to install wireless apparatus with a capacity of at least 500 kilometers (about 311 miles) on their ships and grants a period of [illegible] for the work to be car-

MRS. THAW REPEATS TALE.

Testifies for State in Its Efforts to Keep Her Husband, Harry K. Thaw, in Matteawan.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) June 19.—Evelyn Thaw, as a witness for the State in its efforts to keep her husband, Harry K. Thaw, in the Matteawan asylum, repeated in a crowded courtroom here this afternoon her story of the series of sensations which culminated in Thaw's murder of Stanford White.

Her testimony covered her relations with Thaw from the time, ten years ago, when he first sought acquaintance with her as a chorus girl, his proposal of marriage, his rage when she told of an earlier attack upon her by White, the Thaw marriage, his constant reversion to her relations with White, and the shooting of White on the Madison Square Garden roof.

Her story was a mere outline, only those features being dwelt upon which W. T. Jerome, for the State, wished to bring to the front, to show Thaw's mental condition.

She identified several hypodermic needles as those used by Thaw.

INDIANAPOLIS GRAND JURY REOPENS THE KNABE CASE.

Private Detective Reports That He Has a Clue That Will Result in the Conviction of the Slayer of Woman Physician—Council of Women Interested in the Matter.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Acting on a report of Harry C. Webster, a detective, the Marion County Grand Jury today reopened the investigation of the death of Dr. Helene Knabe, whose body, with the throat cut, was found in her apartment in the Delaware flats on the morning of October 24, 1911.

Webster asserted he had evidence to submit the grand jury which would result in the indictment of the murderer of Dr. Knabe. He refuses to disclose the identity of the alleged murderer, but it is hinted that it is a man of the "higher-up" class.

John W. Holtzman has been employed as attorney by the local council of women which employed Webster and will assist the grand jury in the investigation and the State in prosecuting the case if an indictment is returned.

Webster's work has not been attended with much publicity, and he says it has progressed by the slow process of elimination, but that he is certain that he has unraveled the baffling mystery at last, and that the murderer will pay the penalty.

Webster made a complete and detailed report of his investigation to the committee of local council of women and it is this report that has been filed with the grand jury and on which the present investigation by that body is based.

CUDAHYS ARE AGAIN MARRIED.

"JACK" AND WIFE END ALL THEIR DIFFERENCES.

Son of Late Millionaire Packer and Edna Cowin Cudahy Go Through Second Ceremony at Kansas City. Whisked Away in Motor Car for Honeymoon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Cudahy family, "Jack" and Edna Cowin, are married again. Last week a reconciliation was effected between the two, and John P. Cudahy, son of the millionaire packer, took up his residence in the apartments at No. 3527 Main street, with his former wife. Yesterday afternoon a marriage license was obtained and forty-five minutes later the two entered a motor car to speed them to a ceremony. Since then all trace of them has been lost. No Kansas City justice or Catholic minister (both members of that church,) could be found who had married them, but it was the belief that they were reunited by a civil rather than a canonical ceremony.

"You see the bridal party," John P. Cudahy told a correspondent of the Los Angeles Times at the door of his residence, about 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Besides himself, dressed in a plain sack coat of blue serge, was Mrs. Cudahy and H. G. Winstead, a real estate dealer, confidential agent of Mr. Cudahy. Mrs. Cudahy was stylishly dressed. She wore a white embroidered dress of costly material, with a long purple silk scarf thrown over her shoulders. A large black picture hat and white shoes completed the costume.

Winstead carried a black suit case that looked to be part of a motor car equipment.

"Look at this," he continued, and showed the license, made out to John P. Cudahy, 35 years old, and Edna Cowin Cudahy, 33 years old—and a blank marriage certificate.

"Other than that I have only five words to say—I have nothing to say," and "Jack" Cudahy stuck to his word. He said no more.

His wife, who was, and is now, said they were not going East. Then the three entered the waiting motor car.

The first intentions of the Cudahy's was to not be remarried. They were wed in the Catholic faith and the Catholic faith does not sanction divorce such as was granted to them by Judge Slover two years ago.

"We are married in the eyes of our church," Mrs. Cudahy said, a few days after the reconciliation was made. But evidently a change was made which resulted in today's action. The marriage license was obtained by Mrs. Cudahy and Winstead from P. H. Bowler, recorder of deeds, at the Coates House, so as to avoid publicity if possible. Cudahy telephoned Mr. Bowles to meet him at the hotel. This was done about 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Winstead signed Mrs. Cudahy's affidavit and she did not appear. All efforts to find trace of them after their departure from the Cudahy home were fruitless.

OPPOSITION TO JUDGE PARKER.

He Must Fight If He Would Be Temporary Chairman.

Bryan's Friends Don't Want Him at Baltimore.

Clark Howell Arrives With Boom for Underwood.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BALTIMORE, June 19.—Opposition developed unexpectedly tonight to the naming of Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, for temporary chairman of the Democratic National Convention. While a majority of the Arrangements Committee that tomorrow will select temporary officers of the convention were favorable to the selection of Judge Parker, it became known tonight that friends of William J. Bryan had come out against Judge Parker's selection and that a new choice might have to be made.

The statement was made by those opposed to Judge Parker's selection that he was a conservative, and that as this was a progressive campaign, a progressive should be named for temporary chairman to make the keynote speech.

William J. Bryan was said to have communicated by telephone from Chicago late this afternoon and presented his views.

Leaders of the movement to nominate Speaker Clark for President planned to hold a meeting in Washington tonight to determine whether they would present a candidate for temporary chairman to the Arrangement Committee. The Wilson leaders were uncertain whether they would urge the selection of a temporary chairman known to look with favor upon Wilson for President.

A member of the Arrangement Committee said that while a majority of the committee was in favor of Judge Parker, it could not be stated tonight what the outcome would be. There were reports that the temporary chairmanship might be brought before the convention for settlement.

Clark Howell, national committeeman from Georgia and the oldest member of the National Committee in point of service, reached here today and was soon engaged in numerous conferences. Mr. Howell, who has just been re-elected a member of the National Committee for the next four years, believes Oscar Underwood is the logical candidate for President.

"If Oscar Underwood came from any State north of the Ohio River,' said Mr. Howell, "he would be nominated unanimously. The floor leadership of Underwood has done more than anything else to bring the Democratic party together. The time has come when the logical man for the Presidential nomination should be selected no matter what part of the country he comes from. The day of sectionalism has passed."

It was generally reported tonight that William J. Bryan would be chairman of the Committee on Resolutions.

Lieut.-Gov. Nicholl of Ohio, directing head of the Harmon campaign, issued a statement today declaring that if Harmon should fail to get the nomination he would support the choice of the convention.

RUSSIAN WORD AWAITED.

Negotiations Regarding Loan by Six World Powers to China Held Up Pending Sanction.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, June 19.—Russia, which is the only power to be heard from in connection with the ratification of the Chinese loan of $300,000,000, which was virtually agreed to here yesterday by the delegates of the groups of bankers representing the six powers, the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and Japan, has not yet announced her adhesion to the terms.

Her answer was to have arrived here at noon today, and the delay is causing considerable disquietude among the international banking group, which was congratulating itself on the success of the negotiations.

The attitude of the United States has been insistence on the maintenance of the policy of the open door and the endeavor to preserve the complete integrity of China. The negotiations have been difficult because Russia and Japan sought recognition of their special political interests. Russia insisted that the loan should in no way endanger her rights in Manchuria, Mongolia and Western China.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. M. Curtis of San Bernardino, who was recently appointed cadet at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis by Representative Smith, has failed to pass the medical examination at the academy, the medical board finding him to be slightly color blind.

Curtis came to Washington today and Representative Needham took up his case with the surgeon-general of the navy. The surgeon-general sent for a copy of the examining board's report, and will decide this week whether Curtis is to receive another examination.

BEET SUGAR ROMANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 19.—A romance of the beet sugar industry—how it sprang up unexpectedly in Utah in 1890 when the Utah Sugar Company failed to find it feasible to make sugar out of sorghum cane and finally resorted to beets—was related by Thomas R. Cutler, general manager of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, a witness today in the government's suit to dissolve the American Sugar Refining Company.

Mr. Cutler said it was four years before the company made any money, but when it did, a great agitation set in for the extermination of the industry.

Questioned whether or not the sugar tariff had a great effect on the wave of prosperity in the beet sugar industry, Mr. Cutler replied: "Undoubtedly." He said the purpose of consolidation was general economy.

Mr. Cutler testified further as to H. O. Havemeyer's interests in Utah factories.

Counterparts of Bryan and Judge Lindsey of Colorado Mistaken For the Prototypes.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Henry J. Allen of Kansas, one of the Roosevelt orators, looks a lot like William Jennings Bryan. His hair isn't quite so long and he hasn't quite the same degree of avoirdupois. But he is a close copy and has been approached by several persons here under the assumption that he is the "Peerless Leader."

Then cames James Malcom of Albany, who is as like Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Colorado as one pea pod to its neighbor. Malcom was talking to friends in the Roosevelt headquarters last evening when up rushed a stranger, exclaiming: "How are you, Judge Lindsey? I've got some friends I'd like to present to you, if I may."

Malcom explained that he would like to serve as the judge's understudy but couldn't permit any confusion of identities.

The convention is developing several interesting cases of "doubtless." There is a striking likeness between Henry W. Taft, the President's brother, and ex-Congressman J. Van Vechten Olcott of New York City. An acquaintance of Mr. Olcott's rushed up to Mr. Taft today and engaged him in conversation. Presently he inquired about the health of Mrs. Olcott.

"She's very well," replied Mr. Taft, "at least she was the last time I saw her. I don't suppose I see her once in a couple of months."

His companion gasped.

MISS CAROL NEWBERRY TAKES AMERICAN SWEETHEART.

Daughter of Former Secretary of Navy Breaks Off With Officer in British Army and Becomes Bride of Man in Only the Moderate Circumstances of Life.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DETROIT, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Carol Newberry was married at 4 o'clock this afternoon to Frank Brooks, the young man to whom was ascribed the breaking-off two weeks ago, of her engagement to Capt. W. H. Alleyne, of the British army, whom she met in Bermuda last spring, and to whom she became engaged on five week's acquaintance.

Miss Newberry is the daughter of Truman H. Newberry. She was to have been married to Capt. Alleyne yesterday.

The calling-off of the wedding created a sensation throughout the country, in that it was the case of a rich girl putting aside a foreign title for the sake of her American sweetheart, who is in only fairly good circumstances.

The wedding was almost a secret one. Apparently the young people did not inform their parents of it until the last moment, for Mr. Newberry is in Chicago attending the Republican convention. They simply drove up to the County Courthouse at 3 o'clock, obtained a license and were hurried away in their motor car to the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Newberry was present at the wedding. W. J. Gray, Jr., was best man and Miss Newberry was attended only by a girl friend as bridesmaid, Miss Mellish.

From the church they were driven to the dock, where they boarded the City of Cleveland for Buffalo. Newspaper men were balked in trying to get an interview with them at the dock. All that could be learned was that they had made reservations for the trip. It is believed they were taken aboard from a lau—

A Woman Tries in Vain to Stampede the Convention for Roosevelt.

Rooseveltian.

HUGHES-HADLEY NOW THE TALK.

Plan Emerges from the Colonel's Desperation.

Plot Ignores the Ultimatum of the New Yorker.

Besides the Missourian Wants First Place or None.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Talk of a Hughes and Hadley ticket was started tonight by some disgruntled Roosevelt men who realize they will not be able to beat President Taft for renomination. They don't seem to believe Justice Hughes's statement that he would not consider accepting the nomination under any conditions and think if they could dragoon him into serving, or could use his name at present, coupled with that of the Missouri executive who has acquired a considerable following here, they could achieve wonders against the President.

Such schemes don't take into consideration the fact that Justice Hughes means what he says, and knows what he is saying every minute of the day. He refused once to accept the Republican nomination for Mayor of New York, when he had the insurance investigation under way. He was nominated, nevertheless, and calmly declined to have anything to do with the proposition. The plan to acquire his services as Vice-President four years ago met a similar decisive check.

The use of his name in any way in connection with politics at this time is intensely distasteful to Justice Hughes. He has told many of his friends recently that if it became necessary he would make a public statement which would set at rest for all time any schemes to nominate him, or to press him to accept a nomination.

He likes his work on the bench and took it up with the intention of making it his life work. More than that he holds it to be highly dangerous to the institutions of this country to foster the notion that the Supreme Court of the United States could under any circumstances, become a stepping stone for candidates for any political office. His idea is that any Supreme Court justice, who would permit himself to become involved in political scheming, or who would let himself be taken from the court directly into political life, would be guilty of treason to the fundamental principles of the government of this country. If it becomes necessary, his friends expect him to say something like this to the convention, and the public, but they are confident it will not become necessary, and that the talk of using him in any political plans will die a natural death.

Furthermore, Gov. Hadley is far from anxious to take a nomination for second place. As has been told in these dispatches, his ambition is to be first or nothing.

CONVENTION LUNCHEON.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Society folks today again participated in the gala assemblage at the Coliseum. Daintily-gloved society women enjoyed the quadrennial performance of the big political drama so much on opening day that few were willing to forego today. Even the inconvenience of the basket luncheon and the dependence upon drinks of varying degrees of coolness did not deter them.

"We like the experience," said Mrs. Fremont Older of California.

"I could scarcely eat my luncheon up here in the box," said Mrs. Lafayette Gleason. "Lafayette was up here on the stage and I was afraid he might miss his part. I am not going to miss a session."

"I'm going to remain in Chicago for a day or two after the convention," said Mrs. William Borah, wife of the Idaho Senator. "I want to rest and look around a little before I get away."

Lunches were sent for Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins Smith and the Misses Wiborg, of New York.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt is one of the women attending the convention who is not much in public view. She has her meal sent to her room and seldom is seen in the lobbies, apparently studiously avoiding the crowds.

The convention costume for women is a natty tailored suit, lingerie waist with low Dutch collar and small close-fitting turban. Simple, neat, attire forms a striking contrast to the elaborate costumes of other convention years. The small hat is everywhere. Large picture hats are not popular in the convention hall. And a visitor who hazards the top-heavy creation quickly doffs it, arranges her hair and remains hatless during the session.

What is convention luncheon? Why, a box of chocolates and a glass of water. One would not believe it if every woman had not brought a box of confectionery with her to the convention early today. Once one is in and seated, there's nothing between one and semi-starvation until dinner hour save candy.

COLONEL HIRES ACTRESS.

tion was the collateral ovation given to William Jennings Bryan, who, rising from his seat in the press reservation to observe the proceedings, was greeted with a storm of cheers and shouts for Bryan, this being doubtless the first time in the history of the Republican party that so distinguished a Democrat has been cheered in one of its conventions.

ROOSEVELT IN ALARM.

Col. Roosevelt, who was listening to the proceedings through a dictograph in his rooms in the Congress Hotel, became alarmed at the demonstration for Gov. Hadley and gave orders that Hadley be requested to retire from the stage, which he did, while Medill McCormick from the press reservation, gave the signal to the young actress in the gallery to exhibit the picture of the colonel. An effort was made by the Kansas and other delegations, led by Gov. Stubbs, to start the shout: "We want Teddy," but that proved unsuccessful and was soon abandoned.

The outbursts came at the end of a long and tedious debate, or rather series of speeches, most of them dealing with one or other of the contests reviewed by the National Committee.

ROOT'S RULINGS.

Senator Root having ruled germane to the motion of Gov. Hadley to substitute for the temporary roll a new roll which included the contestants, who, in the estimation of the Roosevelt men, had the better claim to recognition, and having alloted three hours for the debate, various orators for the respective sides gave the convention the benefit of ex-parte statements regarding conditions in their States.

After the debate and the roll-call, on motion of Mr. Watson, Senator Root ruled that it would be impossible to recognize the principle urged by the Roosevelt following, pointing out that while a contested delegate could not vote on his own case, it would be wholly impracticable for a convention to adopt the rule that delegates whose seats were contested could not otherwise participate in its proceedings.

"Otherwise," he said, "a minority could at any time convert a majority into a minority by including in one motion a contest of the seats of a sufficient number of their opponents to reduce them to a minority."

DOUBLE PURPOSE SERVED.

He further pointed out that by such a rule a convention would destroy itself, as "under certain circumstances every delegate would be contested and thus disqualified from participation in the business of the convention."

The three hours' debate on the Hadley motion served a useful purpose. It demonstrated that there are two sides to every contest, proved the impossibility of the convention itself examining the evidence and reaching anything approaching a judicial decision within a reasonable time, and showed the futility of expecting a national convention to act from judicial motives.

Many ex-parte assertions were made that the seating of certain delegates would be highway robbery, but each time these were followed by assertions of the most contradictory character and the unprejudiced witness was left to wonder what measure of truth or falsity was in the statements of the speakers and how anyone, without a careful and painstaking study, could possibly reach a satisfactory conclusion.

Senator Hemenway pointed out that after instituting and boasting of sixteen contests in Alabama, Col. Roosevelt had met the news that all but one of his contests had been thrown out with the assertion: "Oh well, we only expected to win one of them, anyway!"

AN UNINTERESTING RECORD.

George L. Record undertook to discuss the Indiana contests, but he proved so uninteresting that even his own supporters could not be prevailed on to abstain from conversation and the chairman had the utmost difficulty in protecting the speaker.

Thomas H. Devine made a strong point when he declared that the action of the Roosevelt managers in stirring up contests in the South was "damnable" and supported his statement with the undisputed assertion that of the 107 Taft delegates from the South, whose seats were contested, 101 were seated by the unanimous vote of the National Committee.

Mr. Devine was so frequently interrupted by the disturbances raised by "Bill" Flinn, that Chairman Root, advancing to the front of the stage and shaking an admonishing finger at the Pittsburgh boss, said to him: "I don't know whether or not you want to hear the arguments on this solemn subject, but I do know that unless the gentleman seated on that side of the aisle ceases to cause such a disturbance, he a delegate or no delegate, will be taken from the hall by the sergeant-at-arms."

FLINN SQUELCHED.

After that the Pittsburgh boss, being kept constantly under the surveillance of a special policeman, failed completely to live up to his reputation.

Summing up the opposition to the Hadley motion, which would have excluded the two delegates from Arkansas, James Watson called attention to the fact that not one word had been uttered regarding their case, that no one knew anything of the merits of the contest and yet the adoption of the Hadley resolution would exclude them from all participation in the organization of the convention.

The Hadley - Watson - Roosevelt demonstration assumed such proportions for a time as to start the report that the Roosevelt people would turn to Gov. Hadley as their second choice. That Col. Roosevelt had no such desire, however, was pretty clearly manifested by his telephoned request to Gov. Hadley to retire from the stage and by the efforts of his own shouters to change the affair into a Roosevelt demonstration.

George Manchester of New York was sent to the gallery to escort the pretty actress, Mrs. A. A. Davis of this city, to the floor, and he it was who superintended the somewhat awkward task of hoisting her to the platform. Another factor which contributed to the prolongation of the cheering was the antics of William H. Coleman of McKeesport, Pa., who succeeded in climbing on the platform, where he appeared to be all limbs, all of which he seemed to be able to wave at once, to the infinite delight of the shouters.

RELIEF IN SHOUTING.

A hardly less potent factor was doubtless the infinitely tedious character of the day's proceedings which, up to that time, had been devoid of interest, and so far as the galleries were concerned, hardly intelligible save when some loud-voiced clerk admonished the spectators to refrain from making a noise. Every one felt it a relief to shout and almost every one did.

When the vote, which indicated the hopeless defeat of Mr. Roosevelt, had been announced and Chairman Root had succeeded in quelling the second demonstration, he promptly put and declared carried, the motion to refer the Hadley motion to the Committee on Credentials, named the several committees as elected by the State delegations, and then adjourned the convention until noon tomorrow.

Tonight all the convention committees are meeting, with every prospect that most of them will remain in session throughout the night.

LEANING TOWARD GAYNOR. MURPHY TALKS FAVORABLY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 19.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, is by no means hostile to the move recently launched to favor the candidacy of William J. Gaynor for the Democratic Presidential nomination, judging from his comment today, when the movement was brought to his attention.

"That is the kind of man we want—a man who can get independent strength as well as the support of the regular organization," said Mr. Murphy.

"Such support would not affect the attitude of the Democratic organization."

CHICAGO, June 19.—In a test of strength at the organization of the Credentials Committee today, the Taft forces elected Thomas H. Devine chairman over the Roosevelt candidate, W. T. Lauder, of North Dakota, by a vote of 30 to 18, four members being absent, or not voting. Massachussetts had no representative on the committee because of the deadlock in their State delegation. The Taft forces expect the votes on the majority of the contest cases to be 33 to 19.

CONVENTION HUMOR.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Kermit Roosevelt is an assistant sergeant-at-arms and Chief McWeeny's men seem to take particular delight in keeping him on the foot. As the convention opened he was standing directly beneath the speaker's bridge.

"You'll have to get out of here," said a husky policeman. Kermit has faced a "bull rhino" in the African jungles, but he has never encountered a Chicago "bull" on his native heath. He looked up surprised and then turned and walked away.

"We ought to have one of these for the Smithsonian Institution," he told a fellow sufferer later.

James M. Keyes of Concord, Mass., known as "Roosevelt's double," created the usual disturbance when he came into the hall.

"Teddy" was the shout raised by those who thought it was the colonel. Mr. Keyes laughed and pointed to a huge button which he wears on his coat lapel, on which is his picture and the words "I am Roosevelt's double, can you beat it."

Senator Borah of Idaho has acquired a new name since the meeting of the National Committee opened. He is now called "The Senatorial Jack in the box." As one of the Roosevelt leaders, he is in frequent demand from the outside of the committee-room for conferences with other leaders and newspaper men. The Senator is always willing to be seen and his frequent appearance outside the convention room is the signal for suppressed comment.

"Aha, the Senator pops up again," says a Taft delegate. "And now he is down again," responded a second Taft man as the Senator disappears. "Beg pardon," says a Rooseveltite, the Senator is only in, he is never down."

"The dog-house," shouted a bell man at the Congress Hotel to the key clerk in asking for the key to the room to which he was taking a convention guest.

"Hold on there," demanded the guest. "What's this dog-house mean? Think I am an animal?"

"That's all right," said Clerk John Burke. "It's only a nickname the boys gave the room I gave you which was K 9.

"Oh, I see," said the guest, "K 9, canine. Good joke on me."

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 19.—The ten delegates to the convention from South Dakota drew cheers from the crowds when they appeared at the Coliseum in the "overland limited" stage coach. They reached the convention hall about half an hour before the session was called to order, the driver swinging his coach and four around to the main entrance in true western fashion. The delegates gave a typical cowboy yell, cheered for their candidate and disappeared into the building.

Chronology.

TAFT MEN VICTORIOUS IN THE SECOND BATTLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 19.—The Roosevelt forces met their second defeat in the Republican National Convention today in a session interrupted by a remarkable demonstration of nearly an hour's durnation in honor of Gov. Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri.

All Roosevelt delegates and some of the Taft States lent a voice to the outburst.

The ovation to the Missouri executive was quickly interpreted by many of the delegates as the forerunner of a boom for Hadley for President.

One enthusiastic Pennsylvanian jumped to the stage and shouted:

"Three cheers for Hadley, the next President of the United States."

Gov. Hadley led the fight on the convention floor today to oust ninety-two contested Taft delegates and to seat ninety-two Roosevelt men in their places. The convention finally refused to entertain the motion by a vote of 564 to 510.

This transferred the fight to the Committee on Credentials, appointed just before the convention adjourned until tomorrow noon.

OPENING NOTE.

The Coliseum was a sea of empty chairs at 9:30 o'clock, when the band, in its perch near the roof, struck the opening note of the morning concert. A file of policemen came in through a side door, stepping briskly to the march time. The bluecoated guardians took their places across the front of the hall, where the line held back surging crowds yesterday, and delegates and spectators began to filter in through the doors.

Before 9 o'clock the Wabash avenue doors of the convention hall were besieged by telegraph operators, messenger boys and newspaper employees who were denied access. The tickets issued for Tuesday's session were rejected by the doorkeepers, and for a time it appeared that telegraph wires would lie idle in the basement. Sergeant-at-Arms Stone finally produced 300 forgotten badges from his safe and these were distributed in the crowd outside annex door.

There was a rush for them, and it required the assistance of policemen to see that only authorized employees got passes.

The air of nervousness that hung over the convention police and employes before the opening of the session yesterday was curiously absent today.

No one knew then what to expect; today the patrolmen chatted and laughed in the belief that they could handle easily any situation that might develop.

EARLY ARRIVALS.

In the box reserved for special guests there were several early arrivals. At 10 o'clock, one hour before the time for opening the session, less than 200 spectators were in the hall, and but eight delegates.

Up to the very moment the convention was called to order the Taft managers labored mightily to maintain their hold on the majority. All through the night and morning delegates crowded into the ante-rooms and conference rooms of Director McKinley's headquarters while McKinley and his aides argued and pleaded with them to remain firm.

Director McKinley neglected practically everything else to labor with the delegates. When it was time to start for the convention he expressed confidence that the Taft vote would be fully as strong as it was yesterday.

"The Taft forces will stand together exactly as they did yesterday," he said. "If there is any shifting we will gain as much, if not more than we lose."

THE REAL STRUGGLE.

Although the convention faced the real struggle of the Roosevelt leaders to obtain control of the permanent roll of delegates, there was a noticeable lack of excitement or enthusiasm about the convention hall.

James D. Preston, in charge of the press section in the convention hall, came in with a big bundle of mail in his hand.

"The Coliseum postmaster wanted me to help him get out the newspapermen's mail," he said. "It's all for one reporter, William Jennings Bryan."

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, one of the Roosevelt delegates-at-large from that State, was an early arrival at his place on the convention floor.

ROOT APPEARS.

Spectators' seats on the floor and in the gallery were not half-filled when Chairman Root appeared at his desk at 10:54 o'clock a.m.

When California's delegation came it again bore the banners that were barred from the hall, yesterday. The sergeant-at-arms again forced the removal of the flags, leaving only the poles.

Soon after Chairman Root arrived he was flanked on one side by Gov. Hadley, the Roosevelt leader, and on the other by James Watson of the Taft forces. As a preliminary to the day's expected hostilities all three shook hands "and retired to their corners."

Gov. Hadley and Watson arranged for an equal division of the three hours' debate on the Roosevelt proposal to substitute a roll containing ninety-two Roosevelt delegates in place of ninety-two Taft followers seated by the National Committee.

CALLED TO ORDER.

Before calling the convention to order Chairman Root and the other officers of the convention posed for a series of pictures. This helped to delay matters several minutes beyond the scheduled hour, 11 o'clock. At that time many delegates' seats still were vacant. Chairman Root finally pounded the table with his gavel at 11:15 o'clock and ordered the sergeant-at-arms to clear the aisles. A swarm of delegates and alternates wandered about the hall in search of their seats.

Surrounding Gov. Deneen's seat on the floor for fifteen minutes before the call to order were the Roosevelt leaders in earnest consultation.

In the group were Senator Dixon, Gov. Hadley, William Flinn and Gov. Johnson of California.

Fifteen minutes passed before Chairman Root again took up his gavel and with emphatic blows on the table insisted upon quiet and order. Much of the confusion was due to late comers in the galleries.

THE PRAYER.

Then, pounding the table, Root announced:

"The exercises—I mean the business of this day—will be opened with prayer by the Rev. Joseph Stolz."

Senator Root announced the unfinished business of the day—the motion of Watson that the convention proceed to the appointment of regular committees and the substitute motion of Gov. Hadley that the Roosevelt list of delegates be substituted for the temporary roll. He also announced the agreement on three hours' debate and asked if there was objection. There was not.

HADLEY BEGINS IT.

Gov. Hadley began an explanation of the situation confronting the convention. He reviewed the events of yesterday leading up to the ruling of National Committee Chairman Rosewater, which quashed the Hadley motion to purge the temporary roll.

"We could have met immediately and defeated this arbitrary and unparliamentary ruling," said Hadley and he was roundly cheered. "We could have forcibly insisted on calling the roll on that motion and we could have forcibly taken control. Instead, we chose to wait patiently until today."

Hadley did not attempt to go into details of various contested cases, saying he would leave that to other speakers. He read the "indictment" of the National Committee as uttered by Col. Roosevelt in his Monday night speech and it called out a big cheer.

"It may be true that there are many persons who don't agree with us that Theodore Roosevelt should be our candidate for President, but there can be no difference of opinion that his voice today is the greatest of the western world," said Hadley. He then read a statement from fourteen members of the National Committee protesting against the action of the majority in seating many of the delegates, particularly in the California, Texas and Washington cases.

Gov. Hadley made an earnest plea that personalities be left out, declaring the question was so clearly one of principle that it should not be involved by anything else. It was not a question of any man's candidacy, he said, not a question of the next campaign, but embraced the very existence of the Republican party itself.

Hadley was given the closest attention throughout. In closing he declared that when the vote on the substitute roll came he would contend that on the question submitted only the votes of those delegates whose seats were not contested be allowed to ballot.

"All law, all precedents agree," he said, "that no man should be a judge in his own case."

DOVELL FOLLOWS.

Hadley was followed by W. T. Dovell of Washington, who argued in favor of the Taft delegates seated by the National Committee from Washington.

Mr. Dovell characterized as "recklessly false" the statement credited to Roosevelt that an effort had been made to "steal" the Washington delegates. As one of the Taft delegates from the State, he declared there was no primary law in Washington.

"The declaration is utterly false," he declared, "that the State of Washington ever was carried by Theodore Roosevelt."

Applause from the Taft delegates greeted this statement. The recital of what Mr. Dovell stated was "the facts" as to Washington aroused the ire of Roosevelt delegates. He was interrupted with groans from the Roosevelt forces when he said:

"When it was discovered the night before the State convention that the Taft forces were in control, the adherents of Mr. Roosevelt declined to come to the convention because they knew they were beaten."

READS THE NAMES.

The clerk, for the information of the convention, then read the names which the Hadley motion would strike from the roll and the list of those which it would seat.

When the announcement was completed, Henry J. Allen of Kansas was presented to speak in support of the Hadley motion. The chair announced that he had been allotted twenty minutes.

One of the questions discussed at the conference of the Roosevelt leaders this morning related to the advisability of the colonel going to the convention hall to direct his fight at closer range. This was talked over at some length and it was decided that temporarily, at least, the plan pursued by Mr. Roosevelt yesterday should be followed to keep in close touch with his leaders by means of the telephone.

Col. Roosevelt has been supplied with a bunch of tickets admitting bearer to a seat on the platform. Whence these tickets came was not given out.

BETTER TEMPER.

Mr. Allen discussed the Washington cases in some detail, denouncing Dovell's statement as "flimsy."

Despite occasional discourtesy to speakers, it was apparent the temper of the delegates was much better than it was yesterday. The tension seemed to have relaxed everywhere.

After being interrupted several times, Allen shouted:

"You haven't got anything until this convention is over; then the Lord only knows what you've got."

"Are you going to abide by the decision of this convention?" cried a delegate from Colorado.

"I'll answer you later."

AN UPROAR.

The floor was in an uproar.

"I'll answer you, I'll answer you," shouted Allen, his face growing red and his voice growing husky. The delegates stopped yelling long enough to hear him.

"I want to support the nominee of this convention, but—"

At this "but" the cheering and jeering broke out afresh.

"I'll support him," shouted Allen, "only on the one condition that his nomination is not accompanied by fraud and corruption."

Delegate Newcomb of New York made a point of order against further interruptions of the speakers and Chairman Root held it well taken.

Allen dealt in the figures of the primary held in Seattle. He said Roosevelt had got all but about 500 of the 6000 votes cast.

A delegate asked him how many voters there were in Seattle. Allen admitted there probably were more than 100,000.

"They ask us," Allen said, "why we don't wait for the Committee on Credentials to pass upon our case. I'll reply by asking you why don't you wait until your horse is stolen before you lock the door?"

HEMENWAY SPEAKS.

Allen was followed by former Senator James Hemenway of Indiana, for the Taft forces.

Senator Hemenway declared the work of the National Committee had been done fairly and regularly.

"Thirteen members of the committee have signed this protest, thirty-nine have seated these delegates. But they ask you to uphold that minority without getting at the facts," he said.

Hemenway attacked the thirteen men who signed the protest.

"Why," he shouted, "would you leave this matter to a man like T. C. duPont of Delaware, representative of the powder trust?"

Hemenway said Cecil Lyon had controlled 5000 Federal appointments in Texas; that his word had been law, but this year the Republicans of the other faction had sent a delegation, not of Cecil Lyon office holders, but of independent voters.

From the Pennsylvania delegation came a yell.

"How about Penrose?"

"Give me Penrose before Flinn every time."

FLINN MEN BITTER.

The Pennsylvanians led by Flinn went wild. Brandishing their fists they yelled epithets and vituperation at the speaker. For a few minutes tumult prevailed.

Senator Root came to the front of the stage and pointing to Flinn he shouted:

"If the gentleman from Pennsylvania wishes to commend his cause to the just and honest members of this convention and the American people he will cease to interfere with the delivery of a reasonable and decent argument."

Senator Root was cheered.

Flinn climbed upon a chair and demanded recognition.

"A point of order," he shouted.

"State it," commanded Root.

"It is that the mention of personalities, of Penrose and Flinn, are not in order."

"The gentleman's point is not well taken. The gentleman will be seated at once," ruled Root.

JERSEY MAN SPEAKS.

Hemenway was followed by George L. Record of New Jersey for Roosevelt. He dealt with the Arizona and Indiana cases. A double convention was held in Arizona, he said, and in Cochise and Maricopa counties the Taft men had been in the minority and had then selected their own delegates to the State convention. The recognition of these contesting delegations, he said, gave the Taft forces control of the convention.

Mr. Record declared the Roosevelt forces were willing to submit their cases to the decision of the Credentials Committee, if all contested delegates, both Taft and Roosevelt men, were excused from voting on the report of that committee.

The great crowds in the galleries became restless during Mr. Record's argument. Senator Root appealed again and again for quiet.

Gov. McGovern of Wisconsin said the "call of the luncheon" appealed to him and he moved a recess until 3 p.m.

"No, no!" cried hundreds of voices and the motion was not put.

"If you recognize the right of a committee to pass your right of State delegates to sit in a national convention," resumed Mr. Record, "you have established government by a minority. You are submitting to a partial and packed tribunal cases where the verdict is reached before the evidence is submitted."

INDIANA OUTBREAK.

An outbreak in the Indiana delegation followed the assertion of Record that in one district in Indianapolis the official returns were made up by the officials without even opening the ballot boxes.

William E. English, a delegate from the Seventh District, leaped to his feet.

"There was no contest in that district!" he shouted, waving his fists.

William Holton Dye, a Roosevelt delegate in the Indiana delegation, shouted at English. The latter yelled back: "Liar, liar, liar!" and started toward Dye.

Other members seized the two men and kept them apart.

"If you keep on you'll get a scrap out of me."

ARIZONA ROW.

Morris's description of the "bolt" made by the Roosevelt forces in the Arizona State convention caused much merriment. He said the Roosevelt people at the end of the convention marched out of the hall.

"Bolted," called a voice from the floor.

"Yes, and we remained and passed every parliamentary move that was necessary."

Judge Morris was interrupted by laughter.

"All that remained was parliamentary practice," he resumed, amid renewed laughter.

dered a recess until all who desired to do so could leave the building. The delay totalled fifteen minutes and then Record resumed his argument.

Record, in conclusion, said:

"We don't want to be driven out of the party either by force or [illegible]. But if we are to permit an outside body to pack this convention and to carry that packing through by a permanent nomination, the conscience of the American people will revolt."

Robert E. Morris of Arizona then spoke in defense of the Taft delegates from that State.

COLORADO MAN HEARD.

Morris soon concluded, the next speaker being Thomas H. Devine of Colorado, a member of the Taft forces, and slated for chairman of the Committee on Credentials.

Devine sat in the sessions of the Republican National Committee as the representative of Colorado.

He declared the fourteen members of the committee had "listened to their master's voice and signed a statement, the contents of which they did not know."

Mr. Devine said Gov. Hadley told him he expected to "say something nice about the National Committee," after it seated his Missouri delegation.

"But it seems to have been one of these Missouri 'gentleman's agreements'" he said, "which he stands by only when it is to his own interest."

A wave of hisses and hoots from Roosevelt forces greeted this attack on Gov. Hadley.

Turning to the southern contests Mr. Devine characterized the action of the Roosevelt men in "stirring" up these contests as "a damnable piece of business."

There were groans and cheers at this, and thereafter Devine was constantly in trouble with his audience. He referred to Ormsby McHarg as "an emissary from the North, loaded or unloaded, I won't say which."

There was a series of interruptions, after which Devine said:

"This emissary went among the delegates that were honestly elected—"

"Haw, haw, haw!" laughed several delegates and their example was quickly followed on the floor and in the galleries.

When Devine resumed his denunciation of the southern contests, some one yelled that his statements were not true.

"You say they are not true," he shouted, "but 101 of the contests were thrown out of the committee unanimously."

W. H. Featherstone, a Texas delegate, kept yelling at Devine. This aroused the ire of Senator Root. He walked to the front of the stage.

"Gentlemen of the convention," said he, "I don't know whether you want to hear what is said on this serious subject, but I want to say to you (pointing to Featherstone,) that delegate or no delegate, if you don't preserve order, the sergeant-at-arms will be directed to put you out."

Root was loudly applauded.

Devine concluded with a defense of the National Committee which brought a great chorus of "boos" and hisses from the Roosevelt sympathizers.

The crowd at this juncture began to call for Hadley.

DEFENSE OF LYON.

C. C. Littleton of Texas, a Taft delegate and a brother of Representative Martin W. Littleton of New York was introduced by Gov. Hadley to say a word of defense for Cecil Lyon.

"Lyon has built up an organization in Texas against which the gates of hell cannot prevail," he said, as he concluded.

TAFT MAN PROTESTS.

John D. Mackey, a Taft delegate-at-large from Michigan, asserted the Roosevelt people were neither open nor fair-minded in their consideration of the contests.

He told of the "bolt" of the Roosevelt men from the Wayne county convention and defended the regularity of the Michigan delegates at large, contested by the Roosevelt people.

Mr. Mackay declared if the Republican party was still an adherent of the square deal, no question could be raised as to the right of the Taft delegates-at-large from Michigan to sit in the convention.

E. L. Galvin of Kentucky spoke in behalf of the contested Taft delegates from that State, asserting that the contests were "trumped up for some ulterior purpose."

CONCLUDING ARGUMENT.

A round of applause greeted James E. Watson, who concluded the argument against the Hadley motion. From the gallery came a shout of "Hooray for Sunny Jim."

Watson asked whether the delegates were able to judge on the merits of the cases involved in Hadley's motion.

He pointed out that but few of the contests had been discussed by the [illegible]

"Now, you are not in a position to judge the merits of the controversies," said Watson.

A roar of "No" came up from the [illegible]

"You are in no position, you are in no temper—if you will excuse my saying so—to judge these cases."

Watson was interrupted several times and there were renewed calls for Hadley.

OVATION TO HADLEY.

The Governor appeared and was accorded the greatest demonstration of the convention up to this time. Both floor and galleries were on their feet, whistling, cheering, yelling, waving chairs and stamping their feet.

Watson and Root joined in conversation with Hadley as he stood waiting for the wild welcome to cease. But the tumult went on and on. [illegible] Virginia joined the procession. The ovation to Hadley started a running fire of talk on the convention floor to make him the compromise candidate for President.

The Roosevelt people yelled themselves hoarse, while many of the southern doubtful delegations joined in the cheering.

California, Nebraska and Kansas were soon in line and the hall became a bedlam of noise.

The first great ovation of the convention was fairly under way. Gov. Hadley retired from his place on the front of the stage and stood beside Mr. Root and Mr. Watson at the chairman's table. He smiled broadly.

Oklahoma and Pennsylvania fell into line. Round the hall came the big procession, yelling, shrieking, trying to sing, cheering Roosevelt and Hadley. It took three men to carry each of the heavy standards, which had been especially weighted to prevent such a demonstration.

Some of the California delegates, as they went by the speaker's stand, called out: "We want Teddy!" A stalwart Kansan carrying the standard of that State attempted to thrust it up on the platform, but was pulled back.

Missouri's delegates brought their standard with its big iron base up in front of the speaker's stand and did a "grizzly bear" dance there until pushed on by other delegations.

Some of the States found their standards so securely fastened to the floor that all efforts to dislodge them proved futile.

Massachusetts people tugged at theirs for ten minutes and then broke it.

The New York delegates climbed on their chairs when the demonstration had been in progress seventeen minutes, but they did so to observe and not to take part.

Over in the Kansas delegation a deep yell punctuated the demonstration:

"We want Teddy" came the yell and soon it developed into a deep, droning chant that rose above the flood of sound.

California's bear, surmounting a pole, joined the parade and the Massachusetts delegates hoisted a big black hat on their broken standard. During the demonstration Barnes of New York said: "I'm not disturbed. Reason eventually will be restored."

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, from her seat, near the press stand, stood up when the demonstration began and looked out over the sea of waving hands. She turned and spoke to Congressman Longworth and he rose also.

Mrs. Longworth was leaning over the rail talking with a friend when the chant of "We want Teddy" began sounding much like "We want Hadley." She straightened up and waved friends aside to catch the cry; then turned and smiled at her husband.

W. H. Coleman of the Pennsylvania delegation dashed to the front of the stage with a megaphone and shouted: "Hadley, the next President! Three Cheers!"

Coleman leaped up and down on the platform, waved his arms and yelled for cheers for Hadley. He got the cheers, but the sergeant-at-arms got him and he was led off the stage.

Soon after this incident a pretty girl in white in the gallery suddenly stood up and waved a lithograph of Col. Roosevelt. She was at once the center of attraction. She stood waving the picture in one hand and a handkerchief in the other, smiling all the while.

Finally she dropped the picture. But many of the eyes that turned her way lost none of their interest when the Theodore Roosevelt likeness disappeared. The girl herself was sufficient treat. Then someone found the picture and returned it to her and the cheering, which had died away for the instant, was renewed.

The California "Teddy bear" standard and several States' standards were carried to her side.

Reporters made a rush to find who she was. It was Mrs. W. A. Davis of Chicago.

Old-timers said they remembered nothing like this since Minnie Murray of Iowa, the famous "Woman in White," stampeded the Democratic convention in 1896.

Mrs. Davis was brought to the floor by several delegates and an attempt was made to lift her to the stage. The sergeant-at-arms stopped this. But Mrs. Davis, from the press section, led the cheering, still holding the picture and trying to make a speech.

Senator Root made no serious effort to stop the demonstration for a long while until it had been in progress forty minutes and Mrs. Davis had disappeared from the floor.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stone succeeded in getting most of the delegates in their seats by 2:37.

Mrs. Davis returned to her gallery seat amid another wave of cheers. She withdrew for a moment in the company of an officer and the crowd hissed what they thought was a forced removal of the feminine enthusiast. In a moment she returned to her seat to receive another storm of applause.

When quiet had been restored Gov. Hadley made a brief statement and Mr. Watson moved to refer to the Credentials Committee the motion to seat the ninety-two Roosevelt delegates.

Gov. Deneen moved to amend so as to prevent any contestants voting on the membership of the committee on credentials, or on its report.

Mr. Watson moved to table the motion of Gov. Deneen.

"The motion is not debatable; are you ready for the question?" called Senator Root.

Delegate Flinn of Pennsylvania demanded a roll call on the motion to table. It was seconded by New Jersey, Missouri and other States and was ordered by States.

THE SECOND TEST.

The roll was to furnish the second test of the convention and caused much excitement.

Alabama led off with 22 ayes and 2 noes.

Arizona followed with 6 ayes.

Arkansas vote of 17 ayes and 1 no. was challenged and the delegation was polled. It showed 16 ayes, 1 no, 1 not voting.

When California was called Gov. Johnson answered:

"California casts 26 votes no."

E. H. Tryon, one of the contested delegates from the Fourth District, rushed to the front of the platform and shouted:

"I challenge that vote."

"The delegation will be polled by name," said Root.

Gov. Johnson's name was the first called.

"Who challenges this vote?" he demanded. "Where are the men?"

"They are on the platform," answered Chairman Root.

Gov. Johnson again attempted to cast the solid California vote of 26.

The polling of the delegation began. When the names of E. H. Tryon and Morris Meyerfeld Jr., the two Taft delegates, were called, both answered "aye" from the platform.

The California delegation shouted its protest.

The clerk announced the vote as 24 noes and 2 ayes, and it stood.

"We'll get a lot of good Democrats out of this" shouted Johnson. "If those men are allowed to vote on their own case, what's the use of calling the roll?"

THE FIRST CHANGE.

When Georgia was reached the first change from yesterday's vote was noted. Yesterday Georgia gave Senator Root 22 and today voted 24 ayes to four noes.

Illinois showed a change. Yesterday it divided 48 and 9 on the temporary chairmanship favoring the Roosevelt candidate. Today it divided 51 and 7, one being absent yesterday. This was a Roosevelt gain of 3 as against the Taft gain of two in Georgia.

The Taft people gained a vote in the Indiana delegation because of an absentee, getting 20 ayes to 9 noes, as against 20 and 10 yesterday. Iowa and Kansas showed no change.

Kentucky 23 to 3 yesterday for the Taft forces went 24 to 2 today.

The Maryland delegation split, 8 to 8 yesterday, stood 9 to 7 against the Taft proposition, but Michigan 19 to 10 for the Taft forces yesterday was 20 to 10 today.

Massachusetts still deadlocked, voted 18 and 18 as yesterday.

New Mexico gave the Taft people a gain voting 7 to 1 as against 6 to 2 yesterday.

The New York vote announced 78 to 12 was challenged and there was a call of the delegation. Yesterday the delegation divided 76 to 13.

The poll of the delegation showed 75 to 15 and there was great cheering at this gain of two to the Roosevelt forces.

In North Carolina the Roosevelt forces gained one vote over yesterday's record. The delegation divided on a roll call, 2 for the resolution and 22 against.

North Dakota's ten La Follette votes were divided, two ayes, 8 noes. This gave the Taft forces two more than they secured in the delegation yesterday.

Ohio voted 34 noes to 14 ayes, the same as yesterday.

Oklahoma voted ayes 4, noes 16, unchanged from yesterday.

In Oregon the Taft forces gained 2. The vote was 5 to 5.

Flinn reported the Pennsylvania vote as 11 ayes, 65 noes. The vote was challenged and on a roll call gave the Taft forces 12; Roosevelt 64. John Wanamaker, who was absent yesterday, voted aye.

Rhode Island gave 10 noes.

South Carolina gave the Taft forces 11; Roosevelt, 6; one not voting, a loss of one for Roosevelt.

Texas divided 28 to 10, 2 not voting. Yesterday it was 31 to 8.

Utah and Vermont were unchanged.

Virginia divided 21 and 3 as against 22 and 2 yesterday.

Washington was unchanged.

Wisconsin cast all its twenty-six votes against.

Hawaii called out a great cheer by voting 6 ayes. Yesterday the delegation voted against Taft. There were no further changes.

RESULT ANNOUNCED.

When it was announced that the Taft motion to table had been carried by a vote of 564 to 510, the Taft folks broke into a cheer. The vote on the temporary chairmanship yesterday had been 558 for Root to 502 for Governor McGovern.

Chairman Root said that Gov. Hadley had made points of order against any of the ninety-two contested delegates voting. He overruled all the points.

Senator Root then put the motion of Mr. Watson, made yesterday, that the standing committees be appointed. It was adopted without objection and the committees were announced.

In overruling Gov. Hadley's points of order, Senator Root said:

"No man," said Senator Root, "can be permitted to vote on the question of his own right to a seat when it is questioned; but this does not disqualify any delegate on the roll of the convention from voting on another man's right to a seat, or from participating in any other regular business of the convention.

"Otherwise any minority could get control of a deliberative body by grouping a sufficient number of their opponents in on a motion to give them control of the uncontested delegates."

Senator Root quoted the precedents of the national House of Representatives.

"If this contention were upheld," he said, "enough seats could be contested so that there would be no delegates to do business."

Defeated, the Roosevelt forces made no further move.

After the convention committees had been announced and meetings for each scheduled for tonight the convention adjourned at 5:50 o'clock until noon tomorrow.

FRECKLES GIVE WAY TO THIS REMEDY

Nearly everybody who follows the outdoor life during the Summer is troubled more or less with freckles, and if nothing is done about it, this unpleasant blemish remains 'way into the Winter. We know of but one remedy that will cure freckles, leaving the complexion in a clear condition. This is the famous Dean's Freckle Salve, which is used by women and men all over Southern California during the Summer months. This splendid preparation is not only a cure for freckles, but if used in time, will prevent them. We advise everybody going to the beach or the mountains to get a jar of Dean's Freckle Salve price 25c or 50c (in the blue and yellow "freckle" package) at their drug store, or, if you cannot obtain it there, send 30c or 60c to the Sun Drug Co., 300 N. Los Angeles Street, Los Angeles, Cal., and a jar will be mailed to you. If you will use Dean's Freckle Salve, freckles will never bother you—prevention is better than cure—so why not begin using it right now?

Suburban Property.

FOR SALE—
THESE BALMY SUMMER EVENINGS.
What did you come to California for? Wasn't the climate the chief attraction? And yet, even here there is a great variation in the climate in the different districts. The ideal Southern California climate should be first a dry, balmy climate, and yet close enough to the ocean so that it will never be too warm.

At Verdugo Heights you find the ideal climate. It is situated at an elevation of 1400 feet above the sea, and yet only twenty miles air line from the ocean. It is protected on three sides by hills and mountains, which shield the valley from heavy winds, fog and dampness.

It is one of the highest suburban communities around Los Angeles, and this high altitude blends the pure mountain ozone with the salty air currents from the sea, producing an invigorating health-giving tonic.

This strong climatic asset at Verdugo places it in a class by itself. It is your ultimate home place.

And just think of it, you are enabled in the Verdugo project now forming to secure your large villa homesite at a low wholesale figure, and added to this you will share in the immense increase in value arising from the transformation of this undeveloped land into high-class retail property. This interest in the adjoining land will undoubtedly earn for you your homesite free.

PAN-AMERICAN OIL COMPANY.

"MARICOPA, CAL., June 17, 1912.

"Los Angeles, Cal.

"Midway Fields Oil Company, section four, eleven, twenty-three, Maricopa, struck big oil sand at 2767 feet last night. Oil flowed over derrick. Oil tests 25½ gravity. This well close proximity to Pan-American well No. 1. I expect strike same gusher sand at early date.

"B. M. HOWE, Superintendent,

"Pan-American Oil Co."

This telegram shows that Pan-American investors are in one of the great oil companies of California. Furthermore, oil of 25½ gravity means better than 60 cents a barrel.

The price of Pan-American stock is still only 15 cents. Better see us today.

TAMPICO-CALIFORNIA INVESTMENTS,

THE TREASURY STOCK OF THE L. A. Submarine Boat Company is now selling at $10 per share.

We have placed this stock on the market because of the fact that a great many people who wished to invest did not avail themselves of the previous opportunity, owing to the conditions existing during the time our stock was on the market; and also because of the fact that it would not be right to launch this boat, which is now nearing completion, without giving every person an opportunity to become a stockholder in our company and enjoy the benefit of the great increase in price which will come as a result of the successful launching of this submarine. We predict a value of $100 per share for Submarine stock and all we ask is an opportunity to show you why.

We invite you to visit our new shipbuilding yards, now completely equipped and in operation. See a submarine being built. Public opening Saturday, Sunday and Monday, June 15, 16 and 17, 1912.

ird Shadow Dancing Is a Pleasing Climax.

The Amateur Players, a delightful [illegible] nization of social folk, with a [illegible] ing for theatricals, gave a splendid [illegible] ning's entertainment last night [illegible] the Gamut Clubhouse.

Society was out in force to see [illegible] presentation of three charming [illegible] "The Man of Destiny," by G. [illegible] rnard Shaw; "The Far-Away Prin[illegible]," by Hermann Sudermann, and [illegible] Bit of Old Chelsea," by Mrs. Os[illegible] Beringer.

The Amateur Players is an organi[illegible] tion which has for its patrons and [illegible] mbers many of the folk most [illegible] minent socially in Los Angeles, [illegible] their programmes are always [illegible] which call for a generous turn[illegible] of the elite of the city.

Last night South Hope street, in [illegible] of the Gamut Club, was a stir[illegible] scene of 100 or more automo[illegible] and resembled the scene in [illegible] of one of the downtown play[illegible] during a first-night perform[illegible] of a popular musical comedy. The miniature theater in the club[illegible] was tastefully decorated with [illegible] The Amateur Players' own [illegible] chestra, led by E. C. Kammermey[illegible] furnished the music.

IN ITALY'S INN.

The first skit was "The Man of [illegible] tiny," by Shaw, and was supposed [illegible] be a scene in an inn in the south [illegible] Italy, immediately following the [illegible] ttle of Lodi, in 1726. The Little [illegible] rporal was presented by Patrick [illegible] Calhoun. The Lady by Miss Ger[illegible] Workman, the Lieutenant by [illegible] mas Allen Box, Jr., while Giusep[illegible] the innkeeper, was portrayed by [illegible] A. Silent. Miss Workman easily [illegible] rried off honors in this skit, while [illegible] Jr. as the foolish and susceptible [illegible] nant, was a close second. The [illegible] dience appreciated the work of [illegible] Workman and gave hearty en[illegible] to the climaxes.

The scene of The Far Away Prin[illegible] was laid in the German moun[illegible] The cast was composed of Miss [illegible] rgaret Gaffey as the Princess Von [illegible] ldorn, Mrs. John Crombie Niven as [illegible] Von Brook, maid of honor [illegible] the Princess, Mrs. Homer Lough[illegible] Jr., as Frau Von Halldorf, the [illegible] Gertrude King and Lucile [illegible] as the daughters of the Frau [illegible] Halldorf, Gurney Newlin as Fritz [illegible] a student, Mrs. Langmuir as [illegible] Liderman, Miss Helen Newlin [illegible] a waitress, and Dwight Whit[illegible] as a lackey. The work of Miss [illegible] was greeted with hearty ap[illegible] by the audience and Newlin [illegible] student was a decided hit.

The third skit to be offered was "A [illegible] of Old Chelsea." The cast was [illegible] Fielding Stilson as Alexandra [illegible] ctoria Belchamber (nicknamed [illegible]"), Monroe Salisbury as Jack [illegible] (nicknamed "The Saint"), [illegible] Bretherton as Phil McDonnell [illegible] nicknamed "The Sinner"), Neil [illegible] as Jim Dixon, and Carroll Stil[illegible] as Paul Raymond. The scene [illegible] laid in an artist's studio in Chel[illegible] England. The scenery in this of[illegible] was well planned and executed [illegible] the work of Mrs. Stillson as "Sau[illegible]" received hearty applause.

SHADOW SURPRISE.

Somewhat of a surprise at the close [illegible] the programme was the Shadow [illegible] the dancer being unnamed on [illegible] programme. The dance was un[illegible] well executed and by an ar[illegible] ment of the lights was made [illegible] appear weird and out of the ordin[illegible] There was considerable specu[illegible] as to the identity of the charm[illegible] young lady who performed the [illegible] movements but it was finally [illegible] that the dancer was Miss Mar[illegible] Jacobs.

Welcome—Bon Voyage.

HAMBURGERS EAT OF FATTED CALF.

PILGRIM RETURNS AS ANOTHER PREPARES TO GO.

Employees of White Store Cheer "Our Big Brother Mose" and Bid Godspeed As "D. A." Starts for Year's Outing on the Other Side of the World.

"The King is dead; long live the King."

That is the way D. A. Hamburger put it at the banquet given last evening by the employees of the big white store as reception to M. A. Hamburger, who has just returned from a nine-months tour of the Orient, and as farewell to D. A. Hamburger, who will leave on Saturday for a year on the continent.

It was a "choky" occasion and when "M. A." arose to speak his heart wound up in his vocal chords so effectually and the "big boss" was so overcome at the greeting he received that he was compelled to abandon his set speech and with a "God bless you all; my one happy family," he took his seat.

The dinner, reunion, greeting and farewell furnished an unusual exploitation of the Hamburger idea, an idea which includes the employee in the scheme of things and which perhaps accounts for the depth of feeling which was manifested many times during the progress of the reception.

When "D. A." began his talk with the suggestion that the King was dead, long may he live, he was really symbolizing the passing of the reins of authority from his own hands into those of "M. A." after a year of strenuous work at the head of the big concern. He intended to convey the thought that for at least a twelvemonth, while he seeks rest and pleasure in the highways and byways of the Old World, the returned globe trotter will take over the administration of the business.

EULOGIZES BROTHER.

D. A. Hamburger, introduced as the "man who moved the shopping center of Los Angeles, devoted the greater part of his remarks to a eulogy of "our big brother, Mose," who, he said, valued the confidence, respect and esteem of the smiling faces before him more than jewels or precious stones. "He's a prince of good fellows, generous and unselfish, devoted to the welfare of others, and to know him is to love him," concluded the brotherly expression.

After "M. A." had been given three rousing cheers and found that he had lost his voice he told the 500 hosts and hostesses of the evening that in a couple of weeks or so, when he has recovered his composure, he would have them all back again, and then he would tell them the story of his recent trip.

The dinner last night was served in the "cafe beautiful" on the fourth floor of the Hamburger store and embraced a menu attuned in literary arrangement and epicurean perfection to the idea of welcome and farewell. Back of the speaker's table was draped a huge American flag upon which were fastened mottoes, "welcome home," and "bon voyage." Hamburger's Orchestra played throughout the banquet, and Estelle Heartt Dreyfus charmed with her vocal selections, Lohn's "Where My Caravan Has Rested," and "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," finding especial favor.

Lewis Wallenstein acted as chairman of the meeting, which he soon turned over the Toastmaster Bartlett, and thereafter for nearly three hours there was a wealth of oratory, all expressing in enthusiastic terms the close affiliation between the employer and employee, and the co-operation which marks the entourage of the establishment.

WELCOME HOME.

General Manager Chamberlain welcomed the returning pilgrim to his home, and "to the State, people and city which love you best. The heart work is the work that counts, and it is what we have to offer at the big white store. May you have long life, prosperity and the health to enjoy it."

Louis Samuels, talking for the buyer's association, paid his respects to the employees. "You are the people who make the buyers necessary; the ones who are putting dash, snap, vigor and enthusiasm into your work and making this a great store."

R. W. Stutzman, of the advertising staff, urged every one to be a booster. "In talking for your store, for your employers, you are advertising yourself," he said. He called attention to the advertising instinct of Plutarch, and to the fact that it was a reporter and not Perry who said, "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

H. A. Guthrie spoke of the necessary qualities of a good assistant who is the 'stay at home" man and must be always ready to fill not only his own position, but that of his chief. Personality, confidence, ambition, courtesy, and hard work must be his guiding characteristics.

Sales Manager Heffelfinger sped the parting guest in eloquent word, and concluded with a toast in which the diners joined for the "health, happiness and safe return to the sunny South," of D. A. Hamburger and his family, who are to sail from New York the last of the month.

President Robinson, of the floormanagers association indicated the advantages of "Loyalty," and Robert Black, for the Boneka society, urged continued co-operation and harmony. Superintendent Hife told of the record-breaking business accomplished during the absence of M. A. Hamburger, and promised on behalf of the employees continued loyalty and application. William Fitzpatrick outlined the plans for the annual picnic which is to be held this year at Long Beach on Saturday, July 13, and for which an elaborate programme is being prepared, including a parade through the downtown streets. W. J. Tummonds talked for the educational institute which is a part of the store, and through which is developed mind, body and business.

The five hundred employees represented about the banquet boards included the department heads, and their assistants, the executives, the floor managers—the white squadron—and others important in the conduct of the business.

STATE'S LAWYER LOOKS INTO IT.

Invalidation of Apportionment Feared by Officials.

Woman Given Judgment for Injury by Motorcycle.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 19.—Atty.-Gen. Webb today sent a letter to Dist.-Atty. R. B. Goodcell asking for a county map outlining the two assembly districts into which this county is divided under the new State apportionment as arranged by the last extra legislative session. The map is required in connection with the request of Goodcell for an opinion as to what the result will be because of the alleged gerrymander worked out by progressives by which the seventy-fifth district is asserted to be completely divided by a wedge-shaped township, Victor, which separates the district.

It is believed this purported mistake invalidates the entire State apportionment.

TRIAL POSTPONED.

The suit of Mary Osborne against Frank E. Werner of Los Angeles to have set aside a deed which her husband, J. B. Osborne, gave to Werner and others conveying title to a mining group, was suddenly postponed today, when the defendant found it necessary to amend his answer, having failed to deny the allegation of the complaint that the mining group is worth $200,000. The case went over until October 23, when experts will testify for both sides as to the value of the property.

WOMAN GIVEN DAMAGES.

Judge B. F. Bledsoe has given judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $1500 in the suit brought against Wesley Peck of this city by Mrs. Carrie Powers who was run down by Peck on a motorcycle and seriously injured. The accident occurred at Mill and E streets, near Urbita Springs, last October. In giving judgment the court severely censured Peck, who, the court said, was shown to be traveling at a grossly reckless speed and to be unmindful of the suffering which he had inflicted by his carelessness.

SUIT TO ENJOIN.

The Arrowhead Hot Springs Company has brought suit in the Superior Court against the Arrowhead Cold Springs Company of Los Angeles to enjoin the latter corporation from selling mineral water labeled "Arrowhead" water. The complaint alleges that the selling of such water injures the hotel busines, which the plaintiff is conducting.

CASHIER RUNS AWAY.

But Only to Santa Ana, There to Marry a Man On His Twenty-first Birthday Anniversary.

Desiring to prove his independence on arrival at manhood's estate, and his capability of taking care not only of himself but a better half, Jack Foster, an electrical engineer, eloped with Hilda Howell, one of the cashiers at the Angelus yesterday, on his twenty-first birthday anniversary, and they were married at Santa Ana.

The affair was intended to be a secret, but when Miss Howell failed to arrive at the hotel at the usual hour the suspicion of one of her associate cashiers was aroused. She had dropped word several days ago about running away some day to be married, and with this thought in mind, her friend called up Santa Ana on the conjecture that it was a logical place for a runaway couple to go. The County Clerk there assured her that the two had obtained their license just ten minutes previously, and had gone immediately to one of the justices to be married.

Mrs. Foster's parents reside on an orange ranch near Pomona and knew nothing of the marriage of their daughter when informed that it had taken place.

BALD PITCHER ROBBED.

Wanders in Naud Junction and Says Four Mexicans Threatened Him With Assault If He Resisted.

Directed to the Central Station by a friend, a young man giving his name as Ray Woods, a pitcher recently secured from the Northwestern League by the Portland Coast League team, reported to the police that he had been held up and robbed of $92 in money and $27.50 in checks by four Mexicans who threatened his life unless he gave up his purse.

While taking in the sights along North Main street in the vicinity of Naud Junction, he says that some one called to him and a moment later a burly Mexican threatened him with a billy. The other alleged robbers assisted in searching his pockets, he said.

As the robbery was said to have taken place shortly after 7 o'clock and was not reported until 12:30 this morning, the police were somewhat surprised. Woods was unable to give any description of the alleged robbers except that one of them wore a blue suit. An investigation will be made today.

MAY PREVENT MANEUVERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 19.—President Taft's veto of the army appropriation bill may prevent this year's maneuver camps of the regular army and the National Guard.

In most of the States the camps were ordered for before the middle of July. Preparations have been made for the encampment of Northwestern States troops including Colorado, Washington and Idaho on July 31.

The bill vetoed by the President contained an appropriation of $1,350,000 to pay in part the expenses of the encampments. Today an effort was begun to induce the President to forward to Congress a special message urging that the appropriation for the encampments be authorized so that it may not be necessary to postpone them.

Moore, Vallejo, department commander; William Welch, Los Angeles, senior vice-commander; Brooks Johnston, Vallejo, junior vice-commander; Thomas C. Campbell, Denver, judge advocate; F. H. Crumbly, Los Angeles, inspector; A. J. Haynes, Los Angeles, marshal; J. Gordon McPherson, Los Angeles, chaplain; Salisbury Brooks, Vallejo, surgeon; Thomas M. Rogers, Los Angeles, historian.

Resolutions were adopted containing recommendations to the national encampment; that the word negro be eliminated from the department rules and regulations; that July 1, the anniversary of the battle of San Juan Hill, be set aside as Spanish War Veterans' Day; that Congress be asked to recognize the services of the fifty colored nurses who volunteered for duty in a yellow fever camp in Porto Rico.

Oakland was selected as the encampment city for 1913. All idea of merging the organization into the general department was effectually dispelled. The department is in good condition financially, and hopes to considerably enlarge its membership before the next encampment.

FRANCHISE PROBLEM CONFRONTS CHARTER MAKERS.

Railway Official Urges That Possibility of Overhead or Underground System be Considered—Committee to Make New Drafts Embodying Proposed Changes.

Last night's meeting of the City Board of Freeholders, which body is framing a new city charter, was devoted to a discussion of franchises, particularly for interurban railroads.

Vice-President Shoup of the Pacific Electric addressed the board, urging that the section previously recommended, providing for twenty-one year or indeterminate franchises will not be satisfactory to meet the conditions of the company he represented, where the growth of the city is sure to demand the construction of a subway or an overhead system. He asserted that such franchise provisions will prevent the securing of the necessary capital to construct such a system. It will require $7,000,000 or more, he said and those who supply the money will demand a more satisfactory term for the life of the franchise. He urged that the charter makers so preserve the power of the city that if it is deemed desirable to give a right to construct an overhead or underground system in the future, it can do so.

After much discussion two propositions were submitted for consideration. One by Lewis R. Works is to the effect that by the exercise of the initiative, the people may sell any franchise on such terms as they see fit, thus overruling when they so desire, the provisions of a twenty-one-year term. The other proposition, submitted by Charles Welborn, is to the effect that franchises may be granted for a period not to exceed forty years for any elevated or underground railroad in the streets, or for such period as the people may determine, if a private right of way is used.

In addition to these propositions, E. A. Walcott, secretary of the Commonwealth Club, San Francisco, presented the outlines of the plans on which public utilities franchises are drawn for that city.

It was decided that all the propositions should be referred to the Law Committee, with drafts of proposed changes to be submitted by Paul Sheup, Prof. William Carey Jones, charter expert, and others, and that from all these the committee shall present alternative propositions for consideration at next Wednesday's meeting.

Abbott Kinney took the position that under the new charter all railroads should be treated alike, no matter what their motive power, and urged that a more liberal provision be made for interurban franchises in order to build up both city and suburban sections.

The board voted to invite Henry F. Carter and other Wilmington citizens to appear before it next Wednesday evening, to present their ideas on a proposed extension of the time for which leases can be granted by the city on water-front lands at the inner harbor.

The next meeting the board, tomorrow night, will be devoted to a discussion, clause by clause, of the draft of the charter, which has just been put into pamphlet form for this purpose.

LETTERS CAUSED TROUBLE.

Accused San Diego Cashier Asserts His Part in Alleged Fraud Was Innocent and Merely Routine.

L. J. Rice, assistant cashier of the American National Bank of San Diego, who was arrested Monday night upon a charge of using the mails to defraud, asserts that his part in the affair was an entirely innocent one.

The arrest came about through Rice's answering queries relative to the standing and whereabouts of J. M. Bessolo of the Bessolo Implement Company, who is also under arrest in this city. It is said that after Bessolo left San Diego he wrote letters in Italian soliciting stock subscriptions.

"Persons wrote to the bank asking as to Bessolo's whereabouts and the standing of his company," said Page. "I replied, telling all I knew of his affairs as far as I was able. I signed the name of the bank, affixing my name as assistant cashier. It was merely a case of answering correspondence and signified no connection whatever with Bessolo or his transactions."

Friends of Rice are confident that his examination will result in complete exoneration.

Health in

Postum

There's no injurious Caffeine (the drug in tea and coffee) or other harmful ingredient in this famous Table Beverage.

Thousands of housewives are learning that not only economy of purse but better health follows the change to Postum.

Among the many common ailments caused by thoughtless habits of living are headache, listlessness, indigestion, irritability, sleeplessness, and other disagreeable symptoms of disturbed nerves, digestion and circulation, often due to tea and coffee drinking.

If interested in health and the good things that naturally go with it, why not try a package of Postum from your grocer.

For seventeen years Postum has proven a good friend to former tea and coffee drinkers who felt something was wrong, but didn't know the cause.

If this fits you—

AN OLD TIMER.
Has Had Experience.

A woman who has used Postum since it came upon the market knows from experience the wisdom of using Postum in place of tea or coffee if one values health and a clear brain. She says:

"At the time Postum was first put on the market, I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia, and my physician had repeatedly told me not to use tea or coffee. Finally I decided to take his advice and try Postum. I got a package and had it carefully prepared, finding it delicious to the taste. So I continued its use and very soon its beneficial effects convinced me of its value, for I got well of my nervousness and dyspepsia.

"My husband had been drinking coffee all his life until it had affected his nerves terribly, and I persuaded him to shift to Postum. It was easy to get him to make the change, for Postum is so delicious. It certainly worked wonders for him.

"We soon learned that Postum does not exhilarate or depress and does not stimulate, but steadily and honestly strengthens the nerves and the stomach.

"To make a long story short, our entire family continued to use Postum with satisfying results, as shown in our fine condition of health."

Better health follows the use of Postum in place of tea and coffee, sometimes in a very marked manner. "There's a Reason."

ALCO
Motor Trucks

The Energy a Horse Loses

In hauling a load—even in carrying himself—a horse wastes a great deal of energy. This means a tired horse.

Stop and look at a horse moving along. Note that two of his feet are in the air all the time. See that half the horse's effort is in getting his feet forward.

He picks up his feet, shoves them forward—it is all lost effort.

There is no lost effort in the Alco motor truck. The wheels are round and the energy applied from the motor revolves them—"rolling rubber feet."

For every drop of gasolene there are results—and results convince.

The means of inquiring into the motor truck is to call Columbus 5300 and ask to have an Alco Transportation Expert call on you. No obligation to you.

To Extend the Wharf.

The Pacific Wharf and Storage Company has received permission from the War Department to extend the wharf on the north side of its slip in the harbor to the pier-head line. This means an addition of 170 feet to the present wharf, making a total dockage of 1620 feet on the north side of their slip. The carrying out of this plan will necessitate the removal of the government offices from their present site on the double works. The company proposes to begin the extension work soon.

WOOD-TRADE PROBLEMS.

Australian Dealer Says Panama Canal Should Increase Exports to this Country by Lowering Rates.

"The fight over the wool tariff in this country has curtailed the business in Australia for two years past," said F. A. Bennett of the firm of Lathrop & Bennett, wool dealers of Melbourne. With his wife he arrived at the Lankershim yesterday on his way East, where he will study conditions pertaining to the woolen-manufacturing lines.

"Australian exports of wool to America have fallen off appreciably," he said. "At the present time the duty on wool is 11 cents a pound, and in order to compete at all with the American product it has been necessary to send over the very best grades. The price of Australian wool in this country now is about 41 cents, while American wool is worth about 25 cents.

"Despite the fact that American wool has had high tariff protection for a number of years, there has been a continued decrease in the production, due principally to the fact that the great wool ranges are being cut up into small farms, which is true also in Australia. In our country, however, the small farmer goes in for wool raising, and, having a small flock to look after, gets better results in quality.

"The question of freight rates to this country via the Panama Canal is important. At present all Australian wool which comes to this country is shipped the long way around, going first to London or Liverpool and then to America. The rate that way only amounts to about 1¾ cents a pound, against 2¼ cents if shipped to any Pacific Coast port and then sent East. This difference frequently represents the profit or loss to the Australian shipper and has to be reckoned with where hundreds of tons are exported. The Panama Canal should reduce this freight and, if it does, the business direct to the United States from Australia will increase rapidly."

SUICIDE OR JOKE?

Card Is Found Declaring Man's Intention to End Everything—Mysterious Woman Telephones Police.

Members of the police force were puzzled last night by the finding of a card which seemed to indicate that the writer contemplated suicide. All efforts to solve the mystery proved futile and it is thought that some one attempted to perpetrate an alleged practical joke.

The message was written on the back of a business card, issued by Baker & Hamilton, dealers in vehicles, No. 134 North Los Angeles street, and addressed to Mrs. E. C. Hansen, No. 1784 West Twenty-third street. It read as follows: "If I don't come back, tell them to look in the river for me. Inside of coat pocket is a check for my suitcase at the Arcade depot.—John."

A patrolman was sent to the house indicated, but was unable to find anyone named Hansen.

The alleged death message was found in a cafe on Main street, near Fifth and was turned over to Traffic Patrolman Green for investigation.

A few minutes later a woman telephoned police headquarters, and asked if anyone had committed suicide. She declared she was afraid a discarded suitor might wish to kill himself. She refused to give her name unless she was assured that the body of her alleged sweetheart had been recovered "from the river."

As there is less than three inches of water in the river no search was made there for a body.

Not quite sure whether the war is just hell, or whether it's a hell of a war! Personally, we look for more real trouble at Chicago than on the other side of the pond, because the fighters in the Windy City are real fighters. We have a fellow feeling for them. We've been fighting ourselves for nearly a generation, in the interests of fair and square tailoring methods.

NEW DIRECTORY CITY'S MIRROR.

Begin Distribution of Who's Who in Los Angeles.

|---|---|
| Total number names and addresses | 200,058 |
| Increase over last year | 12,000 |
| Canvassers' census, population | 419,096 |
| Monthly increase indicated | 5,004 |
| Time required to compile | 6 months |
| Number of canvassers. | 100 |
| Number pages in book | 2,002 |
| Most persons engaged in | realty business |
| Second | retail groceries |
| Third | law |

Distribution of the new city directory began yesterday. It contains an enormous mass of valuable information and a wealth of data to show the wonderful growth of Los Angeles along every line of commercial and municipal development.

The volume comprises 2002 pages, bound in bright orange, typifying the citrus industry of Southern California. Conservative figures compiled by 100 canvassers, who have been making a house-to-house canvass since January 2, 1912, indicate a population of 419,096 for Los Angeles. Last year's directory indicated a population of 357,776, and a normal average growth of 3200 residents per month. This year's average monthly increase is 5004 residents. The directory figures show that the city has increased 61,332 in population in the last twelve months, which is greater than that of any similar period in the history of the city.

The book contains 200,058 names and addresses, more than 12,000 more than in 1911. In 1910 the figures of the directory company varied only 1500 from the United States census returns, and the census officials in that year used the directory in tracing people the census canvassers were unable to find.

THE CLASSIFIED LIST.

The classified section shows that there are 1150 attorneys in the city, 1200 retail grocers, 170 jewelers, over 2500 real estate men, 850 physicians and surgeons, 110 osteopaths, 400 dentists, 450 dressmakers, 375 druggists, 725 building contractors, 112 retail clothiers, 175 retail confectionery stores, 198 Chinese merchants, twenty-three cafeterias, 145 restaurants, 115 garages, 110 livery stables, 175 laundries, 450 apartment-houses, 175 first-class hotels, 1400 furnished rooming-houses, 600 nurses, 350 tailors, 300 business buildings, 240 brokers, 250 steamship companies, thirty-five railroads, 200 architects, 400 churches and missions, 700 societies and fraternal organizations, 175 clubs, forty-seven State societies, twenty-five parks, fourteen brick manufacturers, fourteen foreign consulates, 175 wholesale produce merchants. Three hundred pages are devoted to the classified business section.

IN TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS.

The city directory of today and that of twenty-eight years ago furnishes some remarkable sidelights on the advancement of men as well as of the city itself. For example, the following appears in the city directory of 1884: Snyder, M. P., salesman. In that of 1912, Snyder, Meredith P., president, California Savings Bank. Here's another: Then, Elliott, J. M. assistant cashier, First National Bank; now, Elliott, J. M., president, First National Bank.

J. A. Graves, vice-president of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, was then a struggling lawyer. His partner was H. W. O'Melveny, and they had a little office in the Baker block.

Here's another: Hamburger, D. A., country order department, People's store, residence No. 7½ Commercial street. In the directory just issued: Hamburger, David A., president Hamburger Realty and Trust Company, and part owner of the Big White Store.

Frank M. Coulter, now head of Coulter's Dry Goods Company, was a clerk in his father's store in 1884. Edwin J. Brent, head of Brent's Credit House, was an expressman, who occasionally bought second-hand furniture. L. J. Christopher was selling home-made candy in a little store at Spring and Second streets. C. C. Desmond was bookkeeper in his father's store, at No. 200 South Main street. C. H. Hance, City Treasurer, was proprietor of a tiny drug store on Main street.

FORTY THOUSAND A YEAR.

County Recorder's Office Shows Net Profits of Small Fortune and Its Business Is Growing.

"There has been a document filed every forty-nine seconds during business hours in this office since the beginning of the month," said County Recorder Logan yesterday, illustrating the growth of business in Los Angeles county, "and by the end of the month we shall have filed 1500 more documents, probably, than we filed in June last year. The development here is a fair index of the development of the county everywhere and in every line of business."

The grand jury has made a careful study of the Recorder's office and in its forthcoming report, due next week, it will give an exhaustive table of figures, showing the revenue in this and other offices of the county. The Recorder said his office is now paying a net profit of $40,000 a year to the county over all expenses.

"This is larger than ever before," he said, "and in the last fifteen days the fees will show an increase of 15 per cent. over the same fifteen days in June of last year. Fees, however, are not a correct criterion as to the growth of business. To show how the county has grown, take the number of documents filed in the first fifteen days of June in 1900. It was 1600. Ten years later, in June, 1910, the first fifteen days showed 6587 documents filed. Last year the same fifteen days showed 7016, and this year 7619, an increase of nearly 10 per cent."

MOVING DAY FOR MILLIONS.

County's New Vault Satisfactorily Tested and Its Hard Cash Will Be Transferred to It Soon.

Next week over $1,700,000 in cash will be brought out of the receptacles where the cash of the county now reposes and under guard will be conveyed to the new vault in the office of County Treasurer Hunt, in the Hall of Records. The tests of the new vault were practically completed yesterday and found to work to perfection. Rubbing a slate pencil against the outer steel coat of the vault will start the burglar alarm to action and a careless painter striking one of the closed windows in the treasurer's office caused the alarm to ring for an hour.

Yesterday the treasury contained $5,059,895.66, so far as the books were concerned, but $3,344,970.47 of this money is on deposit on call in various banks, drawing 2 per cent. interest. The county is secured by bonds of the value of 10 per cent. more than this amount, deposited by the banks and kept in the great vault of the county. The amount of cash belonging to the county will increase until the end of this month and then, as there is hardly any revenue in July, August and September, there will be a drop in the income. The reserve in the banks will be drawn upon for about $500,000 about October 1, Chief Deputy Treasurer Slater said yesterday.

The reason for keeping so much money on hand, he said, is that there are about 160 school districts whose funds have to be kept in the county treasury subject to call at any time.

EARLY MORNING CRASH.

Oscar Bacon, No. 2080 West Twenty-first street, was painfully, but not seriously injured in an automobile collision early yesterday morning on Washington, between Hobart boulevard and Western avenue. The large touring car he was driving was wrecked. He was returning from the beach, closely following an auto driven by his uncle, T. M. Bacon. The latter stopped suddenly to avoid running into a street car, and Oscar's machine collided with the other. He was taken to his home.

In Free-Lunch War.

FOES OF OLD BACCHUS BACKING SALOONISTS.

OLD BACCHUS, who daubs noses a fiery red, may laugh up his sleeve this morning when he peers into the City Council chamber and beholds wearers of the white ribbon and frock-coated gentlemen, his relentless foes, fighting shoulder to shoulder with dispensers of his joy fluid to hurl the big hook into the steaming "hot dog" and free lunch delicacies in general.

The fight to eliminate the free lunch is racing to a climax and both sides are putting in their best work. Unless all epicurean signs fail several members of the W.C.T.U. and Church Federation and a number of saloonkeepers will appear before the Legislative Committee of the Council at 9 o'clock this morning and plead with the three committeemen to amend the liquor ordinance to do away with the free repast served in nearly two hundred city saloons.

The saloonists favoring the abolishment of the free lunch are bubbling over with joy at the stand taken by the W.C.T.U. and Church Federation, and assert that the amendment knifing the lunch will go through steamingly. The restaurant proprietors also favor the sweeping out of the liverwurst, wieners, and other free foodstuffs from the bubble emporiums and are organizing to push it over. Saloon men started the agitation against free lunch.

The breweries are making a strong fight to retain the free lunch, although 60 per cent. of the saloonkeepers are opposing it. T. J. Darbody, president of the Allied Liquor Dealers' Association, is leading the fight for the free lunch, and says the amendment will never carry.

Councilman Betkouski favors the free lunch idea and is leaving no pan unturned in an effort to save the grab-as-grab-can repast.

It appears almost certain that seven of the Councilmen will vote to stick the fork into the free lunch if the amendment is attached to the ordinance. Topham, Reed, McKenzie, Langdon, Lusk and Andrews intimate they will vote in favor of the amendment.

Several petitions have been filed asking the Council to refrain from amending the ordinance to prohibit free lunches. The petitions urge that this city's saloons are the best conducted and regulated in the West and that the Council should let well enough alone. They argue that the eating of a lunch with the drinking of liquors is beneficial, and that prohibition of the free lunch would be in the interest of only a few saloon-keepers, a detriment to the many, and an inconvenience to patrons.

The Church Federation opponents of the free lunch say they can get 100,000 names on a petition calling on the Council to put the lid on if such a step is deemed necessary.

TWO MILLIONS DAY'S FIGURE.

Several Realty Sales That Mean Buildings.

Blocks for West Seventh, Broadway, Spring.

Lot on West Ninth Brings Record Price.

Yesterday was a red-letter day in Los Angeles realty circles, not only in point of the volume of business transacted, but as respects the importance of the deals consummated. The early construction of three downtown buildings of metropolitan proportions is assured by three of the transactions concluded, and the cost of these improvements, together with the selling and leasing considerations involved, will represent an aggregate sum of upward of $2,000,000.

Following the announcement in The Times on Sunday of the project of the Standard Fireproof Building Company to rear a thirteen-story store and loft building on the north side of Seventh street just west of Grand avenue, it is learned that the Bronson Desk Company late yesterday afternoon concluded a twenty-five-year lease on this structure. The information was verified by The Times last night.

The consideration represented in the deal was not disclosed.

The site has a frontage of seventy feet by a depth of ninety-five feet and the building of the big desk concern will cover the entire area. Plans for the structure are now being prepared in the offices of John C. Austin and W. C. Pennell, associated architects. The building company is incorporated for $300,000 and numbers among its directors Shirley C. Ward, J. P. Chandler, L. S. Chandler, R. B. Wheeler and C. A. Sheedy. The lot to be improved was taken over by Shirley Ward about four months ago under a ninety-nine-year lease from Mrs. Fred Wood, the agents in the deal being Bryan & Bradford. It is understood that Ward has realized a handsome profit in the transfer of the quarter-century tenure. Both building and lot will revert to him or to his heirs at the end of the twenty-five years.

SPRING-BROADWAY BLOCKS.

A substantial building of at least six stories in height will be begun within the next eighteen months on the west side of Spring street between Eighth and Ninth streets by a local capitalist, who yesterday signed the papers in a fifty-year lease covering the property. The leaser was R. M. Baker of Monrovia, who has owned the lot for a number of years. The present improvements are of only nominal value.

The deal, which was handled in its entirety by Bryan & Bradford, involves the payment upon the part of the lessee of a total rental consideration of $480,000. The lot has a frontage of fifty feet by a depth of 160 feet. Owing to leases now covering the property, the fine building projected by the new lessee cannot be started for a year and a half.

By the terms of a long-term lease under which the Sun Drug Company yesterday secured from the John Norton estate sixty feet on the west side of Broadway between Seventh and Eighth streets, that corporation agrees to improve the site involved with a modern store and office building of not less than eight stories, and which must be started within three years. The building to be erected must cost at least $150,000.

ADJOINING THE HINMAN.

One hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars was paid yesterday for eighty-seven feet on the north side of West Seventh street adjoining the Hinman Apartments at Seventh and Figueroa on the east and separated from that building by an alley known as Lebanon street. The site was sold by the Bicknell estate to a local investor, whose name is not made public, but who, it is understood, will handsomely improve the lot in the near future. The property has depth of 119 feet and is only nominally improved.

A site 50x108 feet on the north side of Seventh street 100 feet west of Grand avenue was sold by I. N. Huntsberger to a syndicate headed by a leading real estate concern of this city. The consideration is reported at over $100,000. No plans for improvement are announced.

A noteworthy deal in suburban acreage concluded in the afternoon is that in which Dr. G. Edgar Smith transferred to W. D. Wilson, through the agency of Bryan & Bradford, forty acres at the corner of Western avenue and Ninety-second street, the consideration being given at $60,000. It is the intention of the buyer to lay the property off as a residence subdivision at an early date.

Forty feet of West Ninth street property between Broadway and Hill street was sold yesterday for $65,000. S. C. Graham, No. 622 Security building, is the purchaser, and M. W. Harker, No. 304 Union Oil building, represented the selling syndicate.

The price is understood to be the highest yet paid for property in the vicinity, and is a fair indication of the early invasion of Ninth street for business purposes. The figure is $1625 a front foot.

The property is 115 feet deep and "corners" to another lot owned by Graham which fronts on Hill street, thus giving him entrance from both streets. At present the site is occupied by a cottage, and it is stated at the new owner's office that no immediate improvements are to be made.

SHE'S SEEKING BALM.

The complaint of Ella H. and Fred W. Potts against the Santa Fe Railroad for $11,000 damages alleged to have been suffered by Ella H. Potts March 15, 1911, while traveling from San Dimas to Los Angeles, was filed in the United States District Court yesterday, having been transferred from the Superior Court. Mrs. Potts was injured in a collision that occurred between San Dimas and Glendora.

NO HARD FEELINGS.

Attorney Who Causes Arrest and Conviction of Conductor for Battery Shakes Hands With Him.

K. Wallick, conductor on a Pacific Electric car, was found guilty by Justice Summerfield yesterday afternoon of battery on C. E. Benoist, an attorney in the office of Gibson, Trask and Crutcher, the firm that looks after the legal business of the Los Angeles Railway Company. When the justice had ordered Wallick to appear this morning to be fined, Mrs. Benoist, a sympathetic woman, who had been sitting by her husband's side in the courtroom, insisted on Benoist going over to Wallick to tell him that there were no hard feelings and he regretted having had Wallick arrested. She even wanted her husband to speak to the court in favor of a small fine, if any. Benoist and Wallick shook hands.

Benoist, with a friend named Knapp, according to the testimony, was on a crowded Pacific Electric car May 29. The conductor told the two to move over in their seats and Knapp and the conductor had words. Benoist testified that he spoke to Knapp and urged him to move when the conductor, Wallick, struck him (Benoist) in the face. Miss Helen Hoover, a pretty miss dressed in a creation of blue, testified that she had been with the party and that the conductor struck without provocation, as far as Benoist was concerned. Wallick insisted that he had been struck himself.

VENICE WOMEN ON WARPATH.

School Principal Discharged, They Resent It.

Charge It's Politics, Want Her Vindicated.

For Good of the Schools Board's Answer.

Mrs. Nellie D. Tyler, for five years principal of the Venice grammar school, has been told by the school board that her services will not be desired after this week. She was "fired," she declares, without being given a chance to resign, and after the opportunity to take the city teacher's examination and get another position had passed by. The action of the board has started something at Venice.

Twenty-five Venice clubwomen, most of them members of the Parent-Teacher Association, are in states of mind, ranging from mild surprise to anger. They comprise an indignation committee which was to have waited upon the school board last night at 7 o'clock and demand the reinstatement of Mrs. Tyler. They also want to know the reasons why she was discharged. But the board met at 5 o'clock, in a different place than the usual, and the women waited hours and then found that the board had adjourned.

A petition containing the names of 500 persons, with additions every day, for the reinstatement of Mrs. Tyler, is in circulation and is to be presented to the secretary of the board with a request that he issue a call for a special session to consider it.

W. J. Thornbury has been named as Mrs. Tyler's successor, with a salary of $2000 a year. Mrs. Tyler's is $1500. The members of the Parent-Teacher Association and other clubwomen who are determined to have Mrs. Tyler reinstated, cry "politics," and declare they will resist the determination to put a man at the head of the Venice grammar school.

POLITICS, SHE SAYS.

Mrs. Tyler said last night she would not accept reinstatement, no matter what salary might be offered.

"In my humble opinion, the action of the board is all politics," declared Mrs. Tyler. "They are under the impression that I worked against them with the city club at the last school board election. But this is untrue. I cast my vote and retired to my home.

"It is true that I have lent my voice in protest against the hiring of inexperienced teachers, and the board has engaged for next term four young women who have never taught before. One of these is Miss Mary Reuter, daughter of one of the trustees. I have not especially opposed her.

"When Trustee Nettleton was discharged from the office of Chief of Police, he seemed to blame me for his defeat, and said to me: 'Now that I am fired, I promise you that you will soon be on the firing line.' I thank the people of Venice for the compliment of the petition for reinstatement, but really it is of no use. I could not go back now."

Mrs. C. H. Ritchie, prominent club woman, and member of the Los Angeles Ebell, is one of those who is working for the reinstatement or vindication of Mrs. Tyler. Others are Mrs. A. D. Kalm, Mrs. M. M. Merry, Mrs. Harry Mayer, Mrs. George Sibley, Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. Conley, and Mrs. Conn, president of the Parent-Teacher Association.

"It is a shame," said Mrs. Mayer, "the trustees are bound to put a man in that job, regardless of his fitness for the position. It is a case of politics, pure and simple."

Mrs. Nellie D. Tyler,

NEW FRIEND OF KIDDIES.

Kindergarten Superintendent Arrives and Gives Views of Her Work—Says She Likes This Field.

Miss Grace Fulmer, new supervisor of kindergartens and first grade work, arrived yesterday from Columbia University, where she has had complete charge of the kindergarten training work for the past six years.

Miss Fulmer spent some time immediately in consultation with the Superintendent of Schools. She expressed herself as delighted with her new field of work, believing that the West, with its tolerance of new thought and method, unhampered by hide-bound tradition, presents excellent opportunities for the introduction of new educational ideals.

"Superintendent Francis has been especially liberal with me," she said, "in his willingness that I shall work things out here in my own way."

Miss Fulmer is an authority all over the United States on things pertaining to the kindergarten. As to the work she will take up here she said:

"A vital relation between kindergarten and primary grades can be brought about only when the teachers of both departments look upon all school education as one continuous and unbroken process—from the kindergarten to and through the university; and when they at the same time recognize that each part—kindergarten, primary, elementary, secondary, college and university—embodies but a different phase or aspect, and meets the need of the child from time to time.

"The teacher must know the child as a living thing, with changing impulses, instincts, interests, attitudes, ideas, and then will she see the real relation between these seemingly different phases. A deeper and more earnest study of the child on the one hand, and a broader and more intelligent study of the school curriculum on the other, would give each teacher a greater joy in her own work and a genuine sympathy with the work of her fellow-teachers in different departments."

Miss Fulmer has not yet definitely formulated her methods, but will devote the latter part of the summer to this work.

Twenty-five men, charged with exceeding the speed limit with their automobiles, paid a total of $480 in fines to Justice Young yesterday.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Board of Public Works yesterday decided upon recommendations to the Council of provisions for safeguarding the interests of the city and property owners when tracts improved by private parties without regard to municipal specifications are presented for acceptance.

The Board of Public Works decided yesterday to call upon the carpet the contractor who has been keeping Hollenbeck Park lake dry by delay in storm-drain work. He may be declared an irresponsible

OUTLINES POLICY AS TO STREETS.

SLACK WORK IN SUBDIVISIONS IS CONDEMNED.

Public Works Board Recommends to Council Adoption of Stringent Provisions for Tracts Offered to City for Its Acceptance of Streets and Alleys—Many Mixups.

The Board of Public Works devoted much time yesterday to a consideration of what should be the policy of the city in regard to accepting tracts where streets have been improved by private contract. Heretofore there have been many mix-ups over this condition, and in some cases it has been found that streets have not been properly deeded and have been assessed for taxes. In some cases tracts that were improved by private parties were outside the city limits, but since being improved have come into the city. Various other points have arisen in connection with this subject.

The City Engineer sent the Board of Public Works a statement yesterday on the situation and directly asked of the board the question as to what shall be the policy of the city in regard to the acceptance of private streets or parcels of land reserved for street purposes, after these streets have been improved by private parties in any manner they may have seen fit; and after all the lots within the tract are sold and the interest of the original owners of the tract has passed away.

Such a policy, says the City Engineer, would be extremely unfair to other subdividers, who may have improved the streets within their tracts according to city specifications and under city supervision. He also pointed out that every time the city accepts a private street that has not been improved according to city specifications, it is an encouragement to subdividers to withhold land intended for street purposes, and to place maps of record showing such land in the form of lots.

After a general consideration, the Board of Public Works decided to recommend to the City Council the adoption of a policy providing that whenever tracts that have had their streets improved by private parties on other than city specifications, shall be presented to the city for acceptance, they must be accompanied by good and sufficient deeds for the streets and alleys and by a majority petition of the property owners, within the tract for the improvement of the streets, according to the city's specifications

It is believed this will eliminate an element in subdivision work that has brought much trouble to purchasers of property, who have not taken thorough precautions to determine the conditions in regard to street dedications and improvements.

CALLED ON CARPET.
CONTRACTOR TOO SLOW.

The slowness with which the contractor for the Hollenbeck Lake storm sewer has been conducting this work has been a source of complaint from Boyle Heights people for some time past, and yesterday the Board of Public Works took up the matter for the 'steenth time and ordered the contractor, P. Grbavich, to appear before it tomorrow at 3 o'clock to show cause why he should not be declared an irresponsible bidder

The report of the City Engineer to this board shows that after the contractor was stirred up he kept two crews on the work for a time, but that lately only one crew has been working, notwithstanding the contractor's promise to increase the force, and that he is seldom on the work personally and has been dilatory in doing work directed by the City Engineer.

There is much contingent on the completion of this work. The time for which Grbavich last promised to complete his work was June 15, and the City Engineer states that it could readily have been finished by that time, while at the present rate of progress, the work could not be finished this month. Meanwhile, this in hindering the work of the part department in reconstructing improvements contemplated for Hollenbeck Park and some of which are contingent upon appropriations that will expire with the current fiscal year. The delay of the contractor is also preventing the use of the lake at the very season when such use is most desirable, as the water was drained off weeks ago in order to give access to the storm sewer.

Water Users Complain.

Yesterday was water users' complaint day at the office of the Board of Public Utilities, and there was scarcely standing room. A delegation of men and women was there from the district supplied by the Hawthorne Water Company, each with a tale of woe about poor service. The board announced that it had ordered the company to put on a fifteen-pound pressure and try it for a week. If the service is not satisfactory at the end of the week, the board will order the company to replace its two-inch pipe lines with four-inch pipe. Users of water from the Glendale Consolidated Water Company appeared to protest against the quality of the water being served. They made such an impression that the board decided to summon Ralph Rogers, of this company, to appear before it today to discuss the situation.

Zoo and Aquarium.

The Park Commission yesterday sent to the City Council resolutions adopted by the Southern California Academy of Science and by the Friday Morning Club, each favoring the establishment by the Park Commission of a zoo in Griffith Park and an aquarium at San Pedro.

Will Make Estimates.

Property owners on Hoover street, between Seventh street and Wilshire boulevard, yesterday petitioned the Board of Public Works to set aside the rule that requires a majority of the frontage to be represented on petitions for street improvement, and to proceed to order the paving of Hoover, between the streets named, for the reason that the city owns more than a majority of the frontage in its Sunset Park property. The board instructed the City Engineer to make estimates as to the cost of improving the city's portion of this frontage.

May Extend Its Wharf.

Announcement was made yesterday that the Pacific Wharf and Storage Company had received permission from the War Department to extend its wharf in the inner harbor at San Pedro to the pier-head lines, a distance of 170 feet, thus giving the company a total length of 1620 feet for its wharf. It will now be necessary to get similar permission from the Harbor Commission.

Would Curtail Liquor Zone.

That the tendency is to curtail the liquor zone in the business district is shown by petitions that are filed from time to time with the Police Commission protesting against the granting of further liquor permits in certain blocks. Two such were filed yesterday. One of these was from property owners on East Fifth street, between Wall and San Pedro streets, protesting against additional retail or wholesale liquor establishments, and a similar one was from property owners on West Second street, between Broadway and Hill streets

Squatters at Harbor

Attorney E. G. Galusha appeared before the Harbor Commission yesterday with a proposition that the squatters on city lands at the harbor deed their rights to the city and in return accept ninety-nine-year leases of the same property for which they would pay nominal rentals. The board looked with no favor upon the project, but referred it to its attorney.

Will Depict Harbor.

A sketch of the Bush terminals at South Brooklyn has been sent by Engineer E. P. Goodrich to the Harbor Commission, and was exhibited at its session yesterday. A letter accompanying the sketch was read, stating that Engineer Goodrich is preparing a similar sketch of the Los Angeles harbor as it will appear when improved, and that he will have this sketch ready to forward about July 1. It will be along lines similar to those of the Bush terminals,

Want City to Lease.

E. Opp, representing the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, made a plea before the Harbor Commission yesterday for the adoption of a policy on the part of the city that will permit the leasing of industrial and wharf sites at the inner harbor. He urged immediate action, stating that important industries have been lost to Wilmington because of the uncertainty of the city's policy in this regard. It was decided that Special Counsel Hewitt should prepare recommendations for provisions in the proposed new city charter which would give the city authority to carry out a policy of leasing portions of its water-front.

City Hall Brevities.

The Harbor Commission has been notified that the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company has filed a protest with the United States Engineer against the application of the city to the War Department to have the pier-head lines of the Miner fill also declared the bulkhead lines.

John Slater, who gave demonstrations of his alleged psychic powers before the Legislation Committee of the City Council recently, was denied a medium's permit by the Police Commission yesterday.

The Harbor Commission yesterday instructed its special counsel, Leslie R. Hewitt, to present to the City Council the needs of a police patrol boat at the Los Angeles harbor, and to urge that such provision be made for the protection of property there.

Much difficulty has been encountered in dredging in the inner harbor because of quantities of scrap iron that have been dumped from time to time. Much of this has been used for private moorings and was never moved when the moorings were abandoned. The Harbor Commission yesterday instructed its special counsel to prepare an ordinance providing that there shall be no mooring established within the harbor without permit from the harbor-master.

D. B. Lowe, who leases the city's incinerator and has a contract for the disposal of refuse, yesterday notified the Board of Public Works that the work was too extensive for him to handle and that he wants to throw up his contract.

The Police Commission spent several hours yesterday hearing the charges against Tony Pazwich, who has a restaurant liquor license for No. 908 East First street, and who is charged with selling liquor illegally and allowing drunken Mexicans to remain in his place. The case was taken under advisement.

A wholesale liquor license was granted to Gilbert & Raglow for No. 238 East Seventh street, yesterday by the Police Commission. A restaurant liquor license was granted to James Albert Pratt for No. 120½ North Spring street.

ONLY WOMAN IN GREAT CLASS TO SEEK FRANCHISE.

Fourteen Nationalities Are Represented and England and Ireland Divide Honors for Having Greatest Number of Applicants—Over-Zealous Man Is Rebuked.

Miss Margaret Russell Fenton, a Glendora school teacher, stood proudly with twelve compatriots from Merry England and with upraised right hand took the oath of allegiance to the flag and the Constitution in Judge Willis's courtroom yesterday afternoon. Of the great class of eighty-seven, the largest in the history of the naturalization bureau in the Superior Court of Southern California, Miss Fenton was the only woman who sought citizenship.

England and Ireland divided the honors for having the greatest number anxious to serve under Uncle Sam. Germany came next with eleven applicants, Italy with eight and so down the line with diminishing numbers, fourteen nationalities being represented.

The total number in the courtroom was 261, each applicant being accompanied by two witnesses. So great was the press that the entrance to Department Nine was blocked, men stood along the walls, crowded into the jury box and overflowed into the space reserved for members of the bar. It was an impressive spectacle and an attentive throng. Above the bench was a great American flag to which Judge Willis called attention during Examiner Fred Jones's catechism, to ascertain if the applicants understood what the flag represents and the extent of their patriotism.

Sixty-five applicants were examined yesterday and the examination of the others was continued until this morning. A large percentage passed. August Arndt called down on his head a severe rebuke from Judge Willis for endeavoring to prompt a friend, also an applicant, and prompting him wrongly. His examination resulted unsatisfactorily and the court gave him sixty days to book up.

It was the banner day in naturalization, and the examination probably on account of the great class was conducted with even more solemnity than usual.

PECULIAR DAMAGE CASE.
SUES TO RECOVER MONEY PAID.

A suit with an unusual feature was filed by the Southern Pacific yesterday. The defendant is Edward G. Edmunds, a mail clerk, who was injured in an accident near Benson, December, 19, 1909.

Edmunds accepted $1250 January 11, 1910, in full settlement of any claim against the Southern Pacific, but later he instituted suit against the company, asking $30,000 damages for injuries sustained.

The suit was tried and the court instructed the jury, in arriving at a verdict, not to take into consideration the $1250 paid Edmunds in settlement. The jury found judgment for Edmunds in the sum of $5000.

The Southern Pacific tendered Edmunds's attorney, $4360.72 on May 12, which was the amount of the judgment plus the interest, but minus the $1250. The tender was rejected by the attorney.

The suit filed yesterday was for the $1250 it had paid Edmunds in settlement and for which it claims a credit.

FIXES RENTAL VALUE.
INCREASES THREE FOLD.

The rental value of the building occupied by the Mackie-Foley Company, No. 723 South Hill street, has increased from $500 to $1200 a month within five years, according to the judgment given by Judge Monroe yesterday for the company in the suit brought by Laura Carlton, the owner, asking that the lease be declared to have expired.

The order of the court was that the Mackie-Foley Company have the use of the premises for five years on the payment of $1200 a month for the first two and one-half years and $1850 for the second two and one-half years, provided the same is tendered before July 1, next.

The property, leased five years ago by the Mackie-Foley Company, has a frontage of forty-five feet and was valued by experts at from $3000 to $3500 a front foot. The furniture people hold possession under a covenant of renewal and the testimony in Judge Monroe's court was to determine the rental value.

"Home Builders"

Why "Home Builders" is the Safest Company for You to Invest With

[128]

You can't afford to get far away from the bankers' idea of investment. "Home Builders" does not allow itself to do so. It does not speculate, in the sense of ownership of large holdings of unimproved real estate as the source of its profit. Its investments are all made at an initial profit, yielding an interest income, as in its building operations. Last year it earned more from interest alone than it paid out in cash dividends, adding to its surplus some $158,000 from other profit sources.

It is conservative. It believes deeds and mortgage on improved, income property, better than ownership of unimproved property to be sold at a probable profit. In one case the profit and security is sure, while in the other it is problematical, thus speculative.

Here is proof that "Home Builders" stockholders' money is practically, entirely invested in interest income securities. At the end of last year, its total resources and surplus amounted to $1,297,000, whereas, its interest earnings for the year were about $84,000, which is 8% on more than a million dollars.

"Home Builders" guaranty shares pay a good cash earning in dividends (payable every three months) and its increasing surplus assures a continued increase to the value of its shares.

No one has ever lost a cent through investment in "Home Builders" shares, and the written guaranty is reasonable assurance of the continuance of that record.

MAY SOON PAY NEW DIVIDENDS.

Associated Strength Gives Encouragement.

Confidence Put in Sproule Announcement.

Earnings Will Be Disbursed Regularly..

Continued inquiry for Associated Oil bonds and the unusual strength of Associated stock both here and in San Francisco lead oil men to believe that the recent announcement of President William Sproule that dividends would be resumed may be placed in effect sooner than at first anticipated.

After a conference in New York with Chairman Robert S. Lovett Mr. Sproule said: "Our policy in this respect, that of not paying dividends for five years, has been one which we considered best for all classes of stockholders. Instead of occasional dividends we have worked to bring the company up to a position where it can regularly pay dividends, and where the stockholder can confidently look forward to receiving dividends at regular intervals."

When this announcement was made it was believed by the doubters that it would be some time before the dividends were finally resumed. Great confidence is placed in Mr. Sproule and the optimists assert he would not have made such a statement unless he meant every word and had the assurance of his associates that the promise would be made good by the company. The dividends will be paid on 400,000 shares of stock.

Large improvements have been planned or are under way by the Associated and these, it is declared by the doubter, will so drain upon the treasury of the company as to make it impossible for them to earn money for some time. The Avon refinery near San Francisco alone will cost $1,125,000.

When the Associated stopped paying dividends, shortly after the San Francisco fire, it was explained that funds were required to make large and necessary improvements to meet the growing demands of the company. In all the company has paid four dividends, each of 1¼ per cent. The sum was in excess of $1,500,000. The first was paid in 1905 and the last in 1907.

The company's last financial statement, issued at the close of 1911, showed a surplus of $1,706,059, as against a surplus of $2,454,212 in 1910. According to the statement the company had a sinking fund of $671,460 and cash on hand amounting to $356,934.

Buys Oil Land.

After twenty years' experience in eastern oil fields H. Cockrell of Columbus, O., according to McKittrick advices, has secured a lease on 280 acres in the Belridge region, and will immediately drill two wells and continue development until he has twenty wells on the property.

The leased land lies within the proved territory. It is shallow, the oil sands ranging from 1200 to 1500 feet in depth. Bert Rice of McKittrick will be in charge of the drilling, but Mr. Cockrell himself will remain there and give the work his personal attention until the land is fully developed, which will take about three or four years.

Output Still Low.

The Petroleum, operating the Gillman property in La Habra field, still has 250 barrels flowing from its well but it is said the well will do better after while.

The Standard Oil Company, in La Habra field, will bring in its Yriarte well with standard tools. On the Stearns and Goodman lease the well is down 3010 feet and has been cemented off there. The Toler is down 3900 feet.

The Dorsby on the Pittman lease, in La Habra field, is making progress with a rotary, having reached a depth in excess of 1000 feet.

Seventeen Wells Done.

On the Shields' lease at Piru the Montebello Company has seventeen wells completed. Up to a short time ago the company had fourteen wells producing 600 barrels a day and the production has increased to about 700 barrels by the additional wells.

The Montebello has suspended all work on the Burson lease, where it drilled one well to 600 feet and abandoned another at 3300 feet on account of water. All work will now be confined to the Shields' shallow well territory, the company to discontinue all deep well drilling for the time at least.

High Gravity in Midway.

California Counties well No. 2 on La Belle lease, section 4, 32-23, Midway, has been brought in at a depth of 1110 feet and at last report was producing 225 barrels of 27.5 gravity a day. The output is increasing and will, it is said, be larger within the next few days.

Contract has been let by the Midway Gas Company for the drilling of two gas wells, one on section 26, 31-22, and the other on section 22, 31-22. Tools will be dropping within the next few days and after these wells are drilled others may be put down. J. Q. White & Company took the contract.

CHAUFFEUR CASTIGATED.

Deceiver of Kansas City Girl Given Severe Tongue-Lashing by Juvenile Judge.

Harry Simpson, who duped Agnes Lindberg in Kansas City last September and brought her to this city as his wife, where she left him when she discovered he was paying attention to a girl in Hollywood, must pay for her support $50 a month for one year.

He stood before Judge Wilbur yesterday and pled when the court spoke of a "fitting punishment" for his crime. The court was reluctant to send him to prison for a long term, he said, but it was hard to draw the line. Simpson presented a fair appearance, but the people he had come in contact with, the court stated, have had the effect of rubbing off moral compunction.

Agnes Lindberg, the girl he had deceived by causing her to sign a paper which was no more than a health certificate, believed it was a marriage licence blank, but which she believed was binding her to him, was the person most seriously injured, said Judge

He must report to the probation officer at stated periods and at the end of one year show by his record that he has led a good life.

The girl Simpson pleaded guilty to deceiving sat in court, crying softly. She is a strange mixture of tenderness and firmness. She had given her heart to Simpson, still loves him, but is willing to have him go out of her life because he had deceived her.

Residents of Beverly Hills Enjoy Maximum of Summer Comfort

Delightfully cool in summer—comfortably warm in winter—one of the many desirable features of Beverly Hills. This beautiful foothill district has all the climatic advantages of the seaside (in fact, the ocean itself is clearly visible from almost every part of the subdivision,) in addition to the healthful woodsy atmosphere of the mountains. Few places in America enjoy such a combination of mountain and ocean.

No matter how hot, close, stuffy, dusty and disagreeable it is in the city—you will find it cool, clean, breezy, comfortable and restful at Beverly Hills.

Here is a stately residence district—a picturesque foothill suburb—a panorama of impressive beauty—a center of fashionable homes—with crowded, cramped fifty-foot lots conspicuously absent—here you will find broad, rambling villa plots—building sites that possess character and individuality—no crowding—no shut-off views—everything just as free and natural as nature planned it. And even about a million dollars' worth of modern, value-giving improvements have not interferred in the least with the picturesqueness of Beverly Hills.

Among the improvements are wide boulevards of petrolithic construction, flower-bedecked parkings—semi-tropical parks with rare trees and shrubs. And notwithstanding all this country-like scenic environment, Beverly Hills residents have gas, electricity, sewers, fine water system, telephones, and the best of car service. There is a big, beautiful hotel, too—recently completed at a cost of over $300,000. Also a big Country Clubhouse just a few steps away.

And with all these extraordinary advantages, you can buy sites here, 80x160 to 100x260, at $25 to $30 per front foot.

THREE RUNAWAYS.

Those and Other Accidents Reported to Police in Course of Day. Man Looks Up, Board Falls.

Three of the patients treated at the Receiving Hospital yesterday were victims of runaway accidents, and two others suffered ear injuries.

When Frank Motana, No. 218 Arm street, 23 years old, essayed to stop a runaway horse on North Main street he was knocked down and run over. He sustained a contusion of the right leg and a sprained right ankle.

C. C. Calhoun's horse ran away, knocked the wheel off another vehicle and threw him to the pavement. Calhoun's right shoulder was dislocated. The accident occurred near the Santa Fe depot. Calhoun lives at No. 307 South Los Angeles street.

Abrasions and contusions on both legs were sustained by C. O. McClure, No. 1122 West Temple street, 30 years old, in the third runaway, which occurred at Second and Figueroa streets.

HAD SHE NO FRIENDS?

Not a man, woman or child called at Pierce Brothers yesterday to identify the elderly woman who was ground to pieces late Tuesday night under an Oak Knoll-street car a short distance north of the Alhambra-avenue bridge. Whether the woman inadvertently walked in front of the car, or threw herself under it with suicidal intent, is still in doubt. The Coroner will hold an inquest at 10 o'clock this morning.

FAILS TO LEARN CAUSE.

Coroner's Jury Fixes no Responsibility for Death of Three Men in Clearwater Tunnel on Aqueduct.

"Accidental powder explosion from unknown causes in the Los Angeles aqueduct," was the verdict of the Coroner's jury that investigated the death of three men in the Clearwater tunnel early Sunday morning.

The inquest was held yesterday morning at Bresee Bros. The men who were instantly killed were Thomas O'Donnell, Edward Garfide and Norman Scoble.

The bodies of the first and last named were recovered a short time after the explosion. Garfide's body, which was torn into fragments, was buried under tons of rock and earth, and was not recovered until the next day. At the time of the accident the men were said to have been preparing dynamite for a blast. A number of other men were injured, but none fatally.

O'Donnell's body was shipped yesterday afternoon to San Bernardino for burial. Relatives have claimed the bodies of the other two.

SORRY FOR HIS ACTION.

So Says Man Held by Police for Shooting of Woman—Meant no Harm, He Asserts.

Mrs. Katie Yucca, thought early yesterday morning to have been fatally shot by William Kubenik, an iron worker, following a quarrel in their apartment at No. 149 North Main street, will recover from her wounds, according to a statement issued yesterday afternoon by County Hospital authorities.

The woman was sent there from the Receiving Hospital about noon yesterday. At that hour her temperature was normal, and she was suffering but little from the wound through her right lung and in the right side of the abdomen.

Kubenik is detained in a steel cage at the Central Police Station. It was said yesterday that no charge will be preferred against him for several days, until it is known what the outcome of Mrs. Yucca's wounds will be. He reiterated former statements that he was crazed by jealousy, that he really didn't mean to hurt the woman, and that he is sorry for what he did.

COMING FAST.

Two large new office buildings for the business district of Los Angeles have been announced this week. Between new structures of this sort and new hotels the architects and builders are kept on the jump.

SPEED LIMITS.

A couple did their courting, served their term as married persons and secured a divorce within two months of the beginning of their acquaintance. While a speedy divorce is not always the outcome of a speedy marriage, it is too much the rule to be encouraging to those who make haste to leap before looking.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

None of the Taft delegations in the national convention voted to unseat themselves. They resisted the blandishments of Pinchot, the brandishing of the right digit and the starboard pedoneum of Gov. Johnson, and the calm, courteous and conciliatory cussing of the Hyena. They had a magnificent opportunity to declare themselves to be cowards, liars and thieves and they neglected it. Such is life.

A GREAT OCCASION.

The Chamber of Commerce smoker Tuesday evening was exceedingly well worth while. It was attended by hundreds of enthusiastic citizens of Los Angeles, and the programme was entirely to their liking. The success of the event should encourage the Chamber to give a series of such meetings and in a personal way bring home to the people the facts about the city's constant and rapid development in many directions.

AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE.

The continent of Australia is planning a new Federal capital and three attractive prizes were offered for the best architectural plans. It is surely a great satisfaction to read that the first prize of $10,000 goes to an American, Walter Burley Griffen of Steinway Hall, Chicago. The other prize winners are a Finn and a Frenchman, but the present indications are that the American plan will be used intact.

AN EDITOR RETIRES.

Usually an editor retires when he dies, or when his paper is sold for a mortgage and the new proprietor will not hire him. Dr. James M. Buckley, however, is the exception, inasmuch as he has resigned on general principles. For thirty-two years as the editor of the Christian Advocate, the foremost publication of the Methodist church, his voice has been heard in the land and his sound opinions have been appreciated and respected far beyond the confines of the denomination he has represented. His paper today is still widely read, and his able pen will be missed by a large following.

EDUCATED.

Once a wee woman of 5 found herself deprived of much conversation because her parents would spell out their secrets so that the little one might not understand. Vexed by this subterfuge, she declared with conviction, "there is too darn much education in this family." It may not be that there is too much education in Los Angeles, but we are constrained to believe that there is quite enough of it when a single day's issue of The Times announces the graduation of 1400 grammar-school pupils, an annual daily attendance of 110,000 pupils in the county's schools, and the final finish of forty new dentists and eighteen osteopaths.

PANAMA POSSIBILITIES.

The returns for the Suez Canal have just been issued by the Egyptian government and they offer some indication of the possibilities of the Panama Canal when that trade route is thoroughly established.

The total receipts of the Suez Canal Company for 1911 were $27,607,640, which is an increase of about $1,000,000 over 1910, and the total expenditure $6,632,442—which leaves a nice little profit.

After appropriating substantial sums to reserve funds and carrying certain balances forward there remains $17,415,096 to be distributed to shareholders.

This represents the passing of 4969 vessels through the canal, with a tonnage of 18,324,794, and shows an increase of 436 vessels over the previous year.

BIRTH AND PROSPERITY.

The birth rates for the various European countries have just been published again and it is interesting to compare the figures with Olive Schreiner's statement in her celebrated "Woman and Labor" that the countries with the largest birth rate and whose women bore the largest individual families were, in modern times, the least progressive, the least powerful, and the least prosperous. Her instance wherein the childless woman or the mother of but two children is regarded as a desirable citizen, and the mother of twenty as a disgrace, has become almost a classic, yet it would seem to be disproven in the latest returns.

France shows but an increase of births of seventy for every 10,000 of the population, while Italy shows 112, England 115, and Germany 141. As will be seen, Germany tops the list, yet Germany is admittedly the most progressive, the most advancing and, in proportion, the most powerful and the most prosperous of the countries mentioned.

In any case, the German Emperor seems prepared to risk retrogression, for he offers many bounties and compensations to the parents of large families.

HOLD FAST TO FACTS, BRETHREN.

It will not do in this week of impassioned oratory and political turmoil at Chicago to take at its face value the vociferous declamation of any citizen, however distinguished as a "reformer," however ardent as a "progressive."

What the staid American citizen must do if he would "clear his mind of cant," as Dr. Johnson used to say, and not be misled by phrases used "for psychological effect," is to keep hold of facts.

It is no doubt an edifying spectacle calculated to impress the minds of all the civilized world with the greatness of America, the intelligence of its citizens and the wonderful possibilities involved in "progress" and "reform" when governors of commonwealths and leaders in political arenas are shouting through megaphones and without them "liar," "thief," "bandit," "plunderer," "rascal" and on to the end of the billingsgate dictionary.

The facts to hold fast are these: The temporary roll call made up by the National Republican Committee is composed of delegates chosen according to the instructions of the National Committee issued as long ago as last December and in exactly the same orderly way as such delegates have been elected before.

It is true there were brought before the National Committee contests a-plenty, 254 of them. We have the confessions of Mr. Roosevelt himself and of his principal press agent and of others in his camp that in most instances these contests had no foundation in fact, were not brought with a serious intention, but with deliberate intent to mislead the people so as to produce "psychological effects." It is also true that these contests were nearly all settled without roll call, without petition for roll call, and many of them were settled by unanimous vote of the committee, Roosevelt's friends in that body voting with his political opponents because the Taft cause was just and the Roosevelt cause unjust. It is true that there was serious division in the case of perhaps half a dozen of these contests. In some cases there was room for honest difference of opinion. It is just as true that Mr. Roosevelt's cause is represented in that committee by practical politicians well known as political bosses in their own States and in their own homes, men watched in politics by their opponents because of their well-known unscrupulousness in politics and of their crooked ways in politics.

It is all very edifying to hear Francis J. Heney tell Senator Murray Crane that he "has no respectability to lose," it is just as edifying to hear Bill Flinn of Pittsburgh, Pa., shouting about political dishonesty. Cecil Lyon of Texas is undoubtedly spotless in politics as an angel from heaven—if you take his own word for it and turn your eyes away so as not to see how low his brows hang like a penthouse over his eyes. But if there is any bunch on the Taft benches of that convention that can match in political reputation Bill Ward of Westchester county, New York, Bill Flinn of Pennsylvania, our own Hiram of Sacramento, and Heney of the devil knows where, he has got a bouquet of political posies that "stick fiery off, indeed."

YESTERDAY'S VOTE.

The vote of yesterday in the Republican National Convention was more significant and more decisive of the main question before the convention than the ballot by which Senator Root was chosen temporary chairman.

The votes for Senator Root and for Gov. McGovern, while indicative of the composition of the convention on other questions, were to an extent personal. But the vote of 563 to 510 by which the duly-elected delegates were accorded their seats beyond the power of parliamentary tricksters, hair-splitting sophists, or professional ruffians to remove them presaged the action of the convention on the vital questions of the formation of a platform and the choice of a candidate. Whether the 510 shall bolt the convention or remain in it will make no difference with either the platform or the nominations.

The platform will be a ringing reaffirmation of those principles upon which, for more than half a century, the Republican party has achieved and retained power. The ancient fads of populism with their recent addenda will be rejected. The Constitution of the fathers, establishing representative republican government and recognizing judicial tribunals as the expounders of laws and the protectors of the rights of minorities, will not be superseded by the overthrow of the representative system and the establishment of popular rule by secret ballot of uniformed and inconsiderate voters. Neither will judicial decisions be subject to reversal at the polls.

The free-trade poison, with which progressiveism seeks to dose to death the doctrine of protection to all branches of American industry, will find neither lodgment nor tolerance in the national Republican platform. The patriotic, wise, sane administration of President Taft will be indorsed not merely by words of approval, but by his renomination by the representatives of the best elements of the grand old party. So many of the 510 followers of the ambition-crazed Roosevelt as choose to illustrate their madness by forming a "progressive" party must even be permitted to travel the road to ruin in their own way. The Times predicts that the shouters for anarchy, the demagogues who curse Washington, and Jefferson, and Adams as grafters and tools of predatory wealth, the blackguards who "clothe themselves with cursing as a garment," will diminish in number as time rolls on, and that in November the patriotism, the intelligence, the common sense of the American people will reassert themselves as they have often done, and that neither the wiles of the wicked, nor the treachery of the trusted, nor the supineness of the indifferent, nor chance, nor change, nor time, nor toil, nor the gates of hell itself will prevail against the right.

OUR DESTINY.

In the Pantheon of the Nations California—"that soft, round, poetic bundle of voluptuous sensibility that bankrupted nature in the making"—reposes upon a couch of gold-hearted mountains and emerald-breasted valleys, and faces the soft wash of a summer sea that is seldom storm-swept, and on whose bosom, even from Nome to the Antipodes, no iceberg ever floated.

We lack one advantage that is still possessed by the people of the East. We have no California to go to. There is no promised land for us. We are in the promised land already. We cannot pack our lares and penates and with them journey toward the sunset, for we are living in its affluent beams.

It has been well said that a dwarf in this century sees more than a giant of bygone days, for the dwarf is perched upon the shoulders of all the giants of all the ages. Judea gives us the Ten Commandments, the Sermon on the Mount, and the doctrine that as all men are equal in the sight of God, so ought all men to be equal before the law. Artistic taste, a love of the beautiful, the true in art, and the Socratic method of reasoning, which shrivels sophistry to nothingness, we inherited from Athens. "From Rome we get our concrete logic and the theory and practice of our legislation." From England we get the best of our literature, the wisest of our laws, and

"The self same tongue
That Milton wrote, and Chatham spoke,
And Burns and Shakespeare sung."

California has had fires and floods and earthquakes—but never pestilence. Her people have had mutations of fortune, but "the individual efforts of every man to get on in life" have built up the aggregate wealth faster than any calamity or any season of depression could deplete it.

The light of civilization, which originated in the Far East, has, after crossing four continents in its journey of 6000 years, reached the sea which divides us from "the portals of its starting point." With the wisdom which civilization has gathered in its journey it stands ready to repay Asia with interest for the truths which Confucius preached when our Saxon ancestors were drinking blood out of the skulls of their enemies.

We stand midway between the East and the West—the interpreter between the old and the new, the living and the dead. The Orient and the Occident will exchange their products at our marts. Not merely the products of loom and forge and soil, but the more precious products of thought. Hail to the reign of high endeavor. We are its prophets, its priests, its kings and its beneficiaries.

INJUNCTIONS AND VIOLENCE.

A Kentucky Democratic Congressman named Thomas, who holds his seat by the neglect of God and the tolerance of Marse Henry Watterson, recently made a speech in the House in which he flung a necklace of rhetorical gems around a proposed law to abolish the power of Federal courts to issue injunctions in cases of labor disputes. He was courteous enough to say that his distinguished opponent "had not a single idea." He averred that "every trust, every crooked corporation, and every oppressor of labor" was against the bill to abolish injunctions, and that—

> "Alleged unconstitutionality is the last bulwark and fortification behind which the forces of plutocracy entrench themselves in a desperate effort to resist the encroachments of just and salutary legislation enacted for the benefit of the entire people. Alleged unconstitutionality is a sophistry born of the desire, a chimera without foundation in law or fact, and the shadowy nothingness of a hoped for but absent substance."

Labor has, in Mr. Thomas's expressed opinion, "been a great sufferer, because of the unjust and unwarranted issuance of injunctions restraining laborers from exercising their constitutional rights."

Congressman Thomas failed to give a specification by item of the "sufferings" of enjoined labor. He did not tell of the days of mental agony and "nights devoid of ease," of those sons of toil who were enjoined from picketing the establishments of employers who refused to increase their wages and pay them eight hours' wages for four hours' work on Saturdays, and who even went so far as to employ non-union workers to take the jobs which the strikers abandoned. He did not picture the agony of those noble unionists who were enjoined from clubbing to a pulp the "scabs" who accepted work. He forbore to describe the sorrow and the suffering, the weeping and the wailing and gnashing of teeth of those who, by the mandate of a plutocratic Federal judge, were estopped from heaving rocks at employees and passengers on the trolley cars of a railroad company which insisted upon its motorman wearing a badge of servitude and its conductors using a bell punch.

But notwithstanding the omissions in the speech of Congressman Thomas, it possesses the merit of being the candid utterance of a representative demagogue. It ought to secure him the vote in his district of every jawsmith that ever robbed a henroost. His remedy for the oppressions which labor suffers should be accompanied by an amendment to the criminal code defining murder as the unlawful killing of a human being other than a non-union laborer and not in necessary defense of the doctrine of a closed shop.

A complete answer to the bunglesome legislation proposed by Congressman Thomas and others of his ilk, is that the power of the courts to issue temporary injunctions is, and always has been, limited to cases where irreparable injury might be inflicted before the application for a permanent injunction could be heard and determined.

An irreparable injury is one that cannot be compensated with money, or which cannot be computed in money, or is one inflicted by an insolvent trespasser who would be unable to pay a judgment for money damages. Whether an injury is irreparable or not is a question to be determined by the judge in each case in the exercise of his sound discretion. The cutting down of a tree in a forest claimed by rival saw mill proprietors would not be enjoined pending the hearing of the case, for such cutting would not be an irreparable injury if the trespasser were solvent, as the money value of the tree could be readily estimated. But the cutting down of a shade tree in a man's front yard would be an irreparable injury, for the value of the tree for shade and beauty could not be computed in money and the tree could not be restored.

Boycotting is a proper subject for the issuance of temporary injunctions, because the injury caused by it to the business of the boycotted merchant cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, and, if it could, the boycotters would be found insolvent.

Congress may, to a certain extent, regulate by law the procedure in Federal courts. But, without an amendment to the Federal Constitution, Congress could not deprive the judges of those courts of their equity powers, for those powers are not conferred by statute law. They are inherent. It is claimed by that great constitutional lawyer, Samuel Gompers, that the power given by the third article of the Constitution of the United States, "to establish inferior courts," confers on Congress the power to control and regulate those courts in their conduct, and that therefore Congress may enact a law that while the commission of a trespass by an individual who is not a member of a labor union may be enjoined, the commission of a similar trespass by banded laborites must not be interfered with by injunction. The American Federation of Labor demands that the inherent power of courts of equity to enjoin the commission of unlawful acts, and to punish for contempt those who violate their injunction, shall be taken away from them when the unlawful acts are the result of a trade dispute between an employer and his striking employees.

It is not probable that Congress will enact the outrageous class legislation demanded by the labor unions, and if it should, and such legislation should not be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States, such an act of Congress could not affect procedure in State courts which would still be able to reach out "the strong right arm of equity," as injunction is called, and restrain the unlawful acts of labor unionites.

Burglar Arrests Himself.

A well-known Parisian architect was sitting in his office when he heard a knock at the door. As he wished to be alone, he took no notice of the knock, but went on with his work. A few moments later he heard a key moving in the lock. Not doubting that his visitor was a burglar, the architect armed himself with a revolver and quietly hid behind some curtains. Presently the thief entered and proceeded to rifle the place. Then suddenly he started and grew pale. In a mirror he had seen a revolver leveled at his head from behind the curtains.

"Open the window," ordered the architect, "and shout 'Police!'"

The burglar had no alternative but to obey, and so summoned the officer by whom he was to be arrested.

ABROAD WITH BURDETTE.

In the Streets of Boston.

Every American who can do so should make a pilgrimage to Boston at least once every decade. And those who can't come should cultivate a longing for that privilege as a man longs to revisit the town of his birth. The same kind of a longing—a yearning tender and loving and proud. Not because of its refinement, or its high culture, or profound learning, or of its delightful people—which the Bostonians of today certainly are. All these are good reasons for loving to come and wanting to linger in Boston. But, above all, for the unchanging Boston that it is forever, the mother of Americanism. The Boston that is the brightest of all the precious crown jewels set in the diadem of the uncrowned republic.

No other city is so universally American, as it impresses me. Our other great cities belong to their sections—each a geographical and historical metropolis. Boston belongs to our own California as it does to Massachusetts. True, there was no California—there was no West—when Boston was in the making. The West was the East in those days. But that makes no difference. As the rest of this mighty republic came along and was born, it was swaddled in Boston history and was inspired with a touch of the old Boston spirit. That was what made the new States want to come into the Union. It throbbed in the Alamo as it did in the rude redoubt on Bunker Hill.

Not Infallible.

Our Boston ancestors were men and women, and very human men and women. Some of them were very bigoted. Some were very narrow-minded. Some of them believed in witches and tortured to the death good men and true women. Cotton Mather was not an ideal pastor for our day. But we have some worse ones. There was a howl went up in Boston when somebody put a slave baby, black as the tar baby, in the cradle of liberty. Boston hoodlums hounded Charles Sumner and mobbed Wendell Phillips in the streets with sacred names. But it was only a mob, and the mob wasn't Boston. A mob isn't a principle.

You can raise a mob in the best city on earth. They raised one in Jerusalem. The Holy City, once, that crucified the Son of God. A mob doesn't represent the conscience of a city. It doesn't represent anything except the mob. That abolitionism would eventually triumph in Boston was as inevitable as that the tea party should be the precursor of Bunker Hill. The New England conscience never sleeps.

History in Names.

An American reads the earliest history of his country as he walks through the streets and drives about the environments of Boston. Names of places and people are so familiar to his ears and mind that he comes to feel that he is himself a citizen of Boston—he must be. Here on the 5th of March, 1770, occurred the Boston massacre, in which five men were slain—one of them a negro, Crispus Attucks, whose memory is honored by a memorial on Boston Common. A small affair with momentous results. For the matter of smallness Napoleon Bonaparte said the whole American Revolution was fought out by a corporal's guard. Napoleon was accustomed to marshalling men by the million. The end of our corporal's guard fighting was Yorktown. Napoleon's mighty battalions vanished at Waterloo. Everywhere you seem to hear the echoes of the voice of Samuel Adams talking in all places and incessantly for liberty. Here was organized one righteous boycott in which the Daughters of Liberty and the students of Harvard College bound themselves to drink no tea until the revenue act was repealed—the first "Consumers" League.

One of Mrs. Burdette's treasures in her collection of bells is an old-time watchman's rattle, with a voice as strident as a million crickets found in the store where the masqueraders for the "tea party" put on their Mohawk "make-up." Here at Winter and Fremont street dwelt Earl Percy; here opposite the Common British officers hacked the fence around John Hancock's house. Here a rebellious handbill was posted with the defiant postscript—"Show us the man who dare take this down!" From their windows in the spire of old North Church were hung the signal lanterns that were history's "Go!" that started Paul Revere on a ride whereof the galloping hoofbeats are echoing yet.

Walks with "Thrills" in Them.

Wherever you turn you are reading names that are in themselves thrilling chapters in American history. William Prescott, Dr. Joseph Warren, James Otis Col. Richard Gridley, Eldridge Gerry and scores of others. And to Los Angelenos it is pleasant to follow the line of history for one generation and come to the first Harrison Gray Otis, the second Mayor of Boston.

One stands uncovered on Bunker Hill in the shadow of the shaft which celebrates the most victorious defeat in the world. You see the clouds of smoke rolling over burning Charlestown; you see the British grenadiers rushing up the slope and recoiling before the deadly fire of the farmer soldiers—regulars fleeing from the militia. Still the bronze minute-man at Concord turns his back upon the plow in the furrow, hurrying to "fire the shot heard 'round the world."

When Talk Was Golden.

If you listen as you stand in Faneuil Hall you can hear the echoes of the impassioned eloquence that set aflame the souls of men when every sentence armed a soldier. Under this elm the great Virginian assumed command of the New England troops which formed the American army. Here in Dorchester Heights Washington placed the batteries that compelled the speedy evacuation of Boston, and the war was fairly on, for the army had a general. One who would lose more battles than he would win, but who would win the right one, which was the last one. For it's the last heat that wins the race, and the round with the knock-out in it gets the decision for the whole fight.

It is the city to which a man should take his boy on at least one of his vacations and keep him there until he knows Boston better than he will ever care to know London. And now that she is as much a citizen as her brother, in California, the boy's sister should go with him and study the beginnings of the great republic.

[Chicago News:] "Well Tommy," said the father of a 6-year-old youngster, "how are you getting along at school?"

"Bully," rejoined Tommy. "Guess the teacher is going to promote me."

"What makes you think so?"

"She said today that if I kept on at the rate I was going I'd be in the criminal class," explained Tommy.

THE ORPHEUM ANNIVERSARY.

CELEBRATION OF NATAL DAY SET FOR NEXT MONDAY.

"Peg O' My Heart" Continues As the City's Record-Breaker, While Mission Play Is Continuing Long-Distance Run Out of Town—Other Announcements.

The Orpheum will celebrate its first year in the new theater on South Broadway, the week beginning next Monday, and it looks all around as if a gala week were in store. Five new acts come, most of them only for that week, and all are guaranteed hand-picked for the occasion, exemplifying the spirit of vaudeville at its best, as well as its variety.

After a special march by Frankenstein to start it off with, the same musical programme as was used for the opening, and a few other frills, the anniversary begins. It is headed by John Tiller's London ballet troupe—first tour of America—secured through affiliation with the Palace Music 'all, London. This company of twelve Sunshine girls, six Eton boys, and four comedians, will offer a fanciful divertissement, "On the Wall."

The Lietzel sisters are said to be Germany's prettiest as well as most daring and sensational aerialists, and do stunts seldom conceived possible. The Five Sullys, well known in the fun-making line, present the nearest approach to a sketch, "The Information Bureau," but it is on fun lines throughout. The Kaufman Sisters, Reba and Inez, come to offer a line of clever capers, including many costume changes, songs, and dances.

Fred Hall, a singer of note, and Charles Abbate, a violinist his equal, will entertain musically. Camille Ober, with her wonderful vocal range and fetching solos; the Saytons, "in the land of the crocodile," and the Pudham team, in their exciting basketball game awheel, complete the bill, which, as will be seen, combines about all the elements that go to make up a well rounded vaudeville bill.

"Pop" Fischer will more than likely run "The Man Who Owns Broadway" a second week. Why not? It is making a hit for Bob Lett, doing a fine business, and putting coin in his purse. Besides, it is proving very enjoyable to a host of Lyceum patrons—which is its reason for existence, after all.

"Peg O' My Heart" continues to attract audiences of the "capacity" variety to the Burbank Theater, where Laurette Taylor and the Burbank stock company give a delightful presentation of Hartley Manners' "comedy of youth," as 'Peg' so aptly has been termed.

There surely will be another week—the fifth—starting with the Sunday matinee and it will be good managerial tactics to continue the career of "Peg O' My Heart," just so long as the public continues to crowd the theater at each performance.

John Steven McGroarty's "Mission Play" is approaching its century at the Mission Theater in San Gabriel, and the ninth week of its remarkable run will commence next Monday afternoon.

The one hundredth performance will be celebrated with a fitting observance of some sort, not yet officially decided upon.

Next week might be called beach week, as the bay cities—Santa Monica, Venice and Redondo—will send extensive delegations.

The cast remains the same, and the rendition has reached that degree of smoothness and automatic precision seen only in New York first companies which come to us after long runs in the metropolis.

Last night's performance of Kolb and Dill in "The Girl in the Train," at the Majestic Theater, made the thirteenth performance at which the Majestic box office has been unable to supply the demand for seats to see Kolb and Dill in this brilliant and delightfully funny Viennese musical play and this record of capacity audiences will undoubtedly continue throughout the week, for it is estimated that the present advance sale of seats for the remainder of this week's performances is even larger than that for the first week. While "The Girl in th Train" is playing to capacity audiences Kolb and Dill are busily engaged in rehearsing their brand new edition of "The Politicians" which recently proved in San Francisco the finest vehicle these comedians had.

Next week will be the last of Lewis S. Stone's special engagement at the Belasco. The piece selected for his final farewell is Harry Kolker's recent New York success "The Great Name." In the Belasco performance Mr. Stone will succeed to Mr. Kolker's original role while Harry Mestayer will be seen in the part he created in the Kolker production in Chicago and New York.

The unusually strong show now running at Pantages will be succeeded next week by another that promises to be equally good though entirely different in the character of its constituent acts. six acts listed own right, and the first issue News Weekly given a first run

"Peg O' My Heart" Continues As City's Record-Breaker, While Play Is Continuing Long-Run Out of Town—Other Announcements.

The Orpheum will celebrate its first year in the new theater on South Broadway the week beginning next Monday, and it looks all around as if a week were in store. Five new acts, most of them only for that week, and all are guaranteed for the occasion, exemplifying the spirit of vaudeville at its best as well as its variety. After a special march by Frankenstein to start it off with, the same programme as was used for the opening and a few other frills, the anniversary begins. It is headed by John Tiller's London ballet first tour of America—secured through affiliation with the Music 'all, London. This company of twelve Sunshine girls, six Eton boys and four comedians, will offer a divertissement, "On the line, present the nearest to a sketch, "The Information Bureau," but it is on fun lines. The Kaufman Sisters, and lines, come to offer a line of capers, including many costume changes, songs, and dances. Hall, a singer of note, and Abbate, a violinist his equal, entertain musically. Camille with her wonderful vocal range solos; the Saytons, "In the land of the crocodile," and the team, in their exciting basket-ball game awheel, complete the which, as will be seen, combines all the elements that go to make up a well rounded vaudeville

"Peg" Fisher will more than likely "The Man Who Owns Broadway" second week. Why not? It is a hit for Bob Lett, doing a business, and putting coin in. Besides, it is proving very to a host of Lyceum patrons—which is its reason for existence after all.

"Peg O' My Heart" continues to attract audiences of the "capacity" variety to the Burbank Theater, where Laurette Taylor and the Burbank company give a delightful presentation of Hartley Manners' comedy of youth," as 'Peg' so aptly has been termed.

There surely will be another week of this—starting with the Sunday matinee and it will be good management to continue the career of "Peg O' My Heart," just so long as the public continues to crowd the theater at each performance.

John Steven McGroarty's "Mission Play" is approaching its century at the Mission Theater in San Gabriel, and the week of its remarkable will commence next Monday

The one hundredth performance will be celebrated with a fitting observance of some sort, not yet officially decided

Next week might be called beach week, as the bay cities—Santa Monica, Venice and Redondo—will send excursion delegations.

The cast remains the same, and the production has reached that degree of and automatic precision only in New York first companies which come to us after long runs in the metropolis.

Last night's performance of Kolb and Dill in "The Girl in the Train," at the Majestic Theater, made the performance at which the box office has been unable to supply the demand for seats to see in this brilliant and delightfully funny Viennese musical of his record of capacity audiences will undoubtedly continue throughout the week, for it is estimated that the present advance sale of for the remainder of this week's is even larger than for the first week. While "The Girl in the Train" is playing to capacity, the comedians Kolb and Dill are engaged in rehearsing their new production of "The Politicians" which recently proved in San Francisco the best vehicle these comedians had.

Next week will be the last of Lewis Stone's special engagement at the Belasco. The piece selected for his farewell is Henry Kolker's recent success, "The Great Name." In the Belasco performance Mr. Stone will succeed to Mr. Kolker's original role, while Harry Mestayer will be seen in the part he created in the Kolker production in Chicago and New York.

The unusually strong at Pantages show now be succeeded by another that promises to be equally good, though entirely different in the character of its constituent acts. Every one of the six acts listed is a head-liner in its own right, and to round out the bill the first issue of the new Gaumont News Weekly moving pictures will be given a first run on the Pantagescope.

Frederick V. Bowers, singing comedian, supported by his own company, will be heard in his own song compositions. The Bittner Family will present "The Waif." Arthur Donn and Harry O'Neal will contribute songs and cross-fire comedy as "The Captain and the Kidder." Jessie Keller, the "Venus on Wheels," will demonstrate her cleverness and beauty. The Juggling Normans, champion club jugglers, and Jewell and Jordan, bird whistlers and imitators, make up the list.

—Here is Choice—and Quality, Style— and VALUE!—

—about one hundred splendid costumes, ranging in material from soft, lustrous satins to the handsome, mannish, plain mixtures.

—The wool suits—

—are unusually well-designed styles. Simple, plain tailored effects—and some that are slightly trimmed. Of serges, white and blue; whipcords in brown, tan and blue; black and white checks; those smart ratines in cream and tan; homespuns, novelty cloths and mannish mixtures.

Garden Dinner Dance.

Forty guests responded to invitations issued by Miss Elza Stern for a dinner dance last evening at the beautiful home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stern of Hollywood. The elaborate repast was served in the patio, where three large tables gay with choice flowers and candelabra were placed beneath a canopy of ferns and Japanese lanterns. Hundreds of gauze butterflies arranged on strings, flitted about among the greenery, completing the clever and original idea.

During the dinner the Frankel sisters, gowned in Spanish costume, played fantastic Spanish music on the mandolin, guitar and violin, singing the while.

The main rooms in the Stern home were simply decorated with immense groups of matilija poppies and greenery. After dinner, the gardens were illuminated with hundreds of electric lights where the young folks strolled until 8:30 o'clock, when they went to George's Hall and concluded the evening dancing.

Miss Rosalind Weisbein, who arrived from San Francisco, Tuesday, to be the house guest of Miss Stern for several weeks, came especially to attend this garden party. Other guests were Miss Hanna Wallenberg, Misses Ruth and Sylvia Brenner and Miss Edna Pyke.

WOMEN'S WORK. WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SIDNEY FORD.

Hst! There is a rich and handsome New York bachelor in town. He arrived on that New York special that brought a hundred of Gotham's brainiest clubwomen en route to San Francisco, to the Biennial.

In all the crush of femininity on board that train there were just four men—three husbands and one, lone bachelor, who plucked up sufficient courage to come along as chaperone for his three sisters, one of whom, Dr. Charles, is a practicing physician in New York, and all of whom are delegates to the biennial. Mr. Charles is interested in the fruit industry and his visit to California therefore has a business side.

Then there is Mr. Ford of Troy, a wealthy manufacturer and the head of big knitting mills. He accompanied his wife, as did also John Yawger who, I am told, has senatorial ambitions in New York State.

Women of Wealth.

I venture to say that there is more wealth represented in this New York delegation than in any other that will cross the continent for the biennial. There are a number of spinsters of independent fortunes in the party—fortunes that are represented in six figures.

There's Mrs. J. Hedges Crowell, the wealthy widow of a railroad man and the warm, personal friend of Mrs. Russell Sage. After the death of her husband a few years ago, Mrs. Crowell, in order to be able to handle her fortune intelligently, entered the University Law School in New York for a course of legal training. Her son, William Crowell, is the legal adviser of Mayor Gaynor of New York. Mrs. Crowell is a liberal philanthropist and gives largely to causes which benefit women, but not a cent of her fortune is bestowed for beneficiary funds for men. She is an ardent suffragist, a Democrat in politics, and organized the Jefferson Club in New York. Through her influence, Mrs. Russell Sage has contributed $5000 to further the suffrage cause in New York.

Miss Florence Guernsey, who has been prominently identified with philanthropic interests in New York for many years and is a woman of very large means, is one of the most interesting women in the delegation. Miss Guernsey is general secretary for the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs. She is on the alert for everything that is of interest to her sex and told me how the women of New York put the bill for correct weights and measures through the Legislature.

Short Skirts Make Long Measure.

It was through the efforts of the Rainy Day Club of New York that this bill of weights and measures went through. This club, formed years ago with Mrs. A. M. Palmer, wife of the veteran theater manager, as president, had for one of its primary purposes the sensible plan of wearing short skirts in wet weather and in those days it required considerable courage for a New York woman to appear in the streets in short skirts. The organization was dubbed the "Rainy Day Club" and the name was so apropos that it stuck. Now this club is turning its attention to household problems and is engaged in a campaign for pure milk and is in the thick of the fight against the high cost of living.

"It was the Rainy Day Club," says Miss Guernsey, "that simply flooded the Senate at Albany with telegrams requesting the bill for correct weights and measures to be passed—and it went through with a rush. As a consequence, a pound is a pound—sixteen full ounces—and a quart is a quart in New York, with no false bottoms in baskets and bags."

"Swat the fly," is the slogan of the New York League for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, which has a biennial representative here in the person of Mrs. Joseph McQuide of Troy, who is president ofthe league. She wears a red button on her coat lapel, with a big fly on it, his head shaped like a death's head.

After once looking at that death-dealing fly you will have an uncontrollable instinct to "swat" him and his kind wherever you see him.

She's Master of Law.

Miss Mary Wood, LL.M.—Master of Law, if you please—is a delegate from the New York Suffrage League, and does lots of work in the Legislature. She was lecturer in Washington College in Washington, D. C., for years, on contracts, constitutional law and real property, and she is an authority when it comes to legal entanglements. She has been admitted to the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, and she will address the biennial convention on "Industrial Legislation." She is especially interested in social and industrial conditions and is chairman of public service of the New York State Federation. She has conducted a special investigation of State charities.

"I found the State board to be composed of twelve men, appointed by the Governor," she remarked, "not a woman on it—and the State spends annually $100,000 in charities—and not a single woman on that general board to ask questions as to how and where all this stupendous amount of money is expended. In New York City, $10,000,000 are expended annually through the public charitable organizations, exclusive of private contributions. All this enormous amount of money is raised by taxation of the people as a whole—women as well as men."

Now that this clever woman legislator has turned her attention to this particular proposition it is quite safe to conjecture that it will not be long before women will be seated on that board.

For Titanic Heroes.

Miss Wood is deeply interested just now in raising the fund for the women's memorial monument to the heroes of the Titanic disaster and will present this subject at the biennial convention. "We have now a fund of $20,000 on hand," she said, "and we want to make it $200,000. The monument will be in the form of a memorial arch in Washington, D. C., where every foreigner who comes to the nation's capital can see it and know that American women honor American manhood and heroism. The movement has spread all over the country and the wife of the Governor of each State of the Union has been asked to act as chairman of the Fund Committee of her State."

Miss Wood will form a local committee here and goes north from San Francisco to Oregon, stopping in Minnesota and Ohio on her way East to organize Titanic memorial committees and also to speak on suffrage.

The New York special came out in charge of J. B. McCann, the expert manager of special tours. Mr. McCann brought the New York special across the continent ten years ago when the biennial was held in Los Angeles.

Last night at 7 o'clock the rest of the New York contingent arrived at the Alexandria from Catalina loud in their praises of the beauty of the Magic Isle. Mine host Whittemore has reserved for the visiting club women his choicest suites of rooms—"no common tourist quarters for these women," he observed, as assignments were made by the room clerks. As guests were shown to their rooms last night there were delightful exclamations when the decorations met their eyes. Local club women had placed in every room occupied by the delegates quantities of choice cut flowers.

The information bureau established in a private suite on the mezzanine floor is presided over by Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, who has a corps of assistants, and her gracious courtesy and hearty welcome reflects that of every club woman in this sunny Southland.

3rd Because it is only ten minutes' auto distance fromthe heart of the city—and in quick touch with church, school and theatrical centers.

4th Because it has unexcelled street car service and one of the best boulevards in the city direct to business center.

5th Because all telephone and electric wires are in underground pipes, and not on unsightly poles.

7th Because sewers are laid in all the driveways, which are as essential to the health, comfort and enjoyment of a home, as the roof that may cover it.

8th Because all inside lots in Westmoreland Place are 100x200 and corners [illegible].

9th Because of the growth of Los Angeles, Westmoreland Place frontage is bound to enormously increase in value.

10th Because Westmoreland Place as a site for a home is as quiet, restful and secluded as though it were ten miles in the country, and it is today, character considered, by far the cheapest property in our city.

11th Because every lot in Westmoreland Place will, in a few years, be to its owner a comfortable independent fortune. Look at the old homesites at the southwest corner of Fourth and Main, northeast corner of Sixth and Spring, southwest corner of Seventh and Spring—each of these today is worth fully a million dollars. The number of such instances in Los Angeles are too numerous to mention—and the number will vastly increase. Why shouldn't you make your home make you money? A homesite in Westmoreland Place will do it.

12th Because the answer to the question you may ask, why the present owners do not retain this property and reap all these fortunes for themselves,—is that they do not intend to sell their entire holdings in Westmoreland Place at the present low prices. They realize that, however, by selling portions of Westmoreland Place, the magnificent homes erected thereon will add enormously to the value of the portions of the property they retain. The opportunity is yours to share in the increase in value.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN AND MEN BY OLIVE GRAY

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: A woman who cannot allow herself the luxury of a real vacation, tells me that she is planning a "beauty vacation." Sounds interesting, doesn't it? This is her plan: She has appropriated for her personal use a certain amount of money and this she will expend in toilet luxuries. Bath crystals, fine soaps, sponges, powders, perfumes; in fact, all the delightful little luxuries which women love, but do not always have. In addition to these, she will at certain intervals take a Turkish bath, and a weekly facial treatment and shampoo. In fact, she expects to have some one perform for her all the little personal offices which she usually does for herself. "I expect," said she, "to feel quite rested and refreshed before the close of the summer, and maybe I shall look better than if I had gone to the seashore or mountains."

Anti-Ant.

When Elizabeth bought a bottle of ant paste to take home to her aunt, we were interested in finding that the bottle had a rattle top.

"Whatever is that for?" she asked as she examined it. "Oh, I see! It is so that if you happen to pick up the bottle thoughtlessly you will at once be warned by its rattle that it is a poison. Isn't that a fine idea? Every injurious medicine or exterminator should have such a rattle top."

"The rattle itself might scare the ants away," I ventured.

"Never think it!" she exclaimed. "Nothing short of ant paste will do that. We have tried almost everything this summer. The pests are omnipresent in our neighborhood. We have been anything but sluggards in our warfare against them, but I am now assured that this paste will put a quietus upon them."

Sleeves set into the bodice of the dress, but with pleats or frilling that hide the meeting, are to be seen more and more.

Skirts with becoming yokes, shaped over the hips and forming a panel at the back, are among the newest models.

Some charming little frills are made of black spotted tulle, held together around the neck by a tiny posy of flowers.

Crystal buttons are, according to the latest fad, sewn on the thick colored silk to match the collar of the decorated vest.

In some cases the head is almost completely swathed in fine black tulle as a headdress, tiny curls peeping from beneath.

VICTIM OF RACING.

Noah Ashbury, a young negro living at No. 216 North Bonnie Brae street, was arrested yesterday by detectives on suspicion of having caused the almost instant death of H. Le Roy, 57 years old, No. 1555½ Temple street, by running him down with his bicycle. Ashbury is held at the Central Police Station pending the outcome of the Coroner's jury investigation, which will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at Pierce Bros'. Witnesses of the accident assert, according to the police, that Ashbury and another boy were racing down hill on the wrong side of the street, when Le Roy was knocked down. He died later in the Hospital of the Good Samaritan.

SENIORS PLANT REDWOOD TREE.

FORMER CUSTOM REVIVED AT LOS ANGELES HIGH.

Students Present Star and Crescent Pins as Their Badge of Graduation — Creditable Exhibits and Sports Delight Visitors to Manual Arts School.

Nearly 4000 students participated in term-end exercises at Los Angeles High and Manual Arts High Schools yesterday. At the former the members of the senior class planted a tree and received their class pins. At Manual Arts all departments were thrown open to the inspection of visitors, regular classroom exercises being held as usual.

It was the important day of the week for the senior B class of Los Angeles High School. According to the custom of the school the senior B's were formally installed as the ranking senior class in place of the graduating senior A class.

A former custom of the school was revived by the graduating class in the planting yesterday afternoon of a redwood tree on the front lawn. The members of the class formed in semicircle during the ceremony and listened to brief talks by Principal Housch, George B. Culver, and Miss Lloy Galvin.

Following the tree planting the Star and Crescent Society, in the school auditorium, bestowed upon the members of the senior class, the student's badge of graduation, the star and crescent pin. The class, which graduates this week numbers 283. These with the class of 125, which graduated in the winter, constitute the largest class ever graduated by any High School in this city.

Aside from the presentation of pins the most interesting feature of the afternoon programme was the presentation of a farce by the members of winter '13, or senior B class. The little play was used as a medium for burlesquing the members of senior A class.

A reception to all alumni, including the newly graduated class of 1912, was given last evening on the school grounds by the school and faculty. Refreshments were served under the palms. Photographic views of the University of California Campus were presented by H. H. Mayberry on behalf of the school alumni. Frank Hutton, for the alumni, welcomed the new alumni, the response being made by Wayland Augur, president of the graduating class.

The second annual visitors' day at Manual Arts was a splendid success not only because the exhibits were excellent, but because thousands of persons were there to appreciate and admire.

In addition to the regular classroom work, special gymnasium and athletic events were arranged and competitive sports were held on the new athletic field. The exhibit by the department in woodworking was the center of interest all day. The boys in this department have become wonderfully proficient in the use of veneer and have turned out many valuable, as well as creditable, pieces of furniture. Some of the pieces were made from catalogues and blue prints, and would be valued by furniture men as high as $150 each.

Both boys and girls displayed ample evidence of their proficiency in metal working. One of the exhibits is a necklace valued at $250. One of the boys in this department has earned $400 during the school year by the sale of work turned out by him in school.

The dressmaking, millinery and cooking departments exhibited creditable specimens of the girls' handiwork.

The entire programme will be repeated today for the benefit of the students. In addition there will be competitive sports and a bicycle race to Venice and return, in which nine boys will compete.

The first graduating exercises of the school will be held in February, when a class of fifty will receive diplomas. Five members of the senior class have already received a sufficient number of credits to entitle them to diplomas, but they will not be formally graduated until February. They are George Etz, Clarence Flammer, Russel Conner, Lucy Barris and Ruth Hart.

A unique feature of graduation week at Los Angeles High will be provided this afternoon by the Japanese students. These will present a play taken from a popular story of Japan. The translation, dramatization and staging of the play has been entirely in the hands of the Japanese students. Native costumes and setting will be used.

The annual graduating exercises will be held tomorrow night in the auditorium.

AS CORN POPS OVER THE FIRE.

Legal Battledores Bat Behm About All Day.

Darrow Takes Case Into His Own Hands at Last.

Luckless Witness and Former Employer War Fiercely.

In the Darrow trial yesterday, George Behm, who had been examined in chief the previous day, was subjected to a savage cross-examination by Darrow personally. Though the witness got badly mixed on some of the answers to the lawyer's questions, in the main he stuck to the story that he was brought to Los Angeles to gain Ortie McManigal for the defense. All day long Behm repeated: "I was told to get Ortie to change his testimony." The monotony of his answers and the slowness of the witness rasped upon Darrow's nerves until he became impatient and argumentative. Twice the court remonstrated with Darrow for his sarcastic questions and manner of handling the witness.

Rogers may take a hand in the cross-examination of Behm today, as the defense evinces a desire to go deeper into the witness's motive for coming out to testify at the present trial. Rogers and Appel did little yesterday beyond making a few objections and suggesting questions to the defendant. Darrow did not seem to take kindly to suggestions and pursued his own manner of examination.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford had the opportunity to test the endurance of his voice at the afternoon session, for he read a long transcript of Behm's testimony before the county grand jury in August, 1911. The State is endeavoring to show that Behm's testimony before the grand jury was inspired by the lawyers for the McNamaras and that it was not truthful in regard to why he saw McManigal so frequently at the County Jail.

The news bureaus having wires in the courtroom got frequent reports from the Chicago convention and at intervals during the session the lawyers on each side would hastily ask one of the telegraph operators for the "latest" from the Republican convention.

"ALL TANGLED UP."

Following a series of somewhat involved questions, Behm got impatient and retorted to his inquisitor: "You have got me all tangled up."

"I object to that statement," said Darrow. "Any man can tell the simple truth if he wants to." Tell what statements you made before the grand jury were true and what were false.

The defendant then read from the transcript some of Behm's answers to questions propounded in the grand jury room by Ford. The witness thought some were true and some were false.

Finally after Darrow had struggled with the slow witness for half an hour, Judge Hutton took a hand in the interrogation for the defense and asked several questions which brought some light upon the subject under discussion.

"Didn't you say that Ortie McManigal was hypnotized by the Burns men?" continued Darrow.

"I might have done so," said Behm.

Upon redirect examination Capt. Fredericks contented himself with asking Behm if he knew that Mrs. McManigal came out here with a Mrs. Sadie Maguire. This was for the purpose of showing that Behm was not needed for an escort to McManigal's wife but to get into direct contact with the confessed dynamiter and get him to retract his previous admissions.

This started Darrow on more cross-examination. He asked Behm if Burns operatives did not watch the house where Mrs. McManigal was staying. The witness said he saw men follow the woman but he could not swear they were detectives.

"LIKE A WILD MAN."

On continued prodding by Darrow, Behm got angry and retorted: "In all these you asked me about, you showed you were a man of temper. You went at me like a wild man. How can I remember all that was said?"

Darrow, at the time of this unexpected outburst, was asking the witness as to the substance of the conversations held with counsel for the defense. It was shown on direct examination that practically all the lawyers retained for the McNamaras advised Behm to give but one answer to any question put to him in the grand jury room, "It doesn't concern the case." Behm was arrested on a charge of contempt of court and the lawyers once more gathered, according to the testimony, to frame answers that Behm could safely give to the interrogatories of Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ford. Darrow tried to get the witness to tell what occurred at this conference. Behm declared he was so confused he could not remember. He then seemed seized with a sudden spasm of rage and accused the defendant of trying to get him "mixed."

Judge Hutton admonished Behm. He told him that he was expected to answer the questions put to him by Darrow unless an objection to them was sustained. Behm tried to tell the court that Darrow had told him to tell so many lies that he got confused.

"Tell one thing I told you to lie about?" demanded Darrow, fiercely.

"Well, you told me to lie about seeing McManigal."

"Yes, yes, but tell something else."

Behm smiled feebly, but at last admitted he couldn't remember anything else.

"Who told you to deny everything?" asked Darrow.

"You did," said the witness.

"Haven't you just said that you were told to tell the truth about every subject save about McManigal?"

"Yes."

"Did you make any protests about telling lies?"

"I don't know that I did."

JUROR TAKES HAND.

At this point Juror Williams, a former school teacher, asked permission to ask the witness one or two questions. He asked him if he knew the difference between refusing to answer and denying the truth of any statement. After some time Behm replied that he "didn't know."

The question of the juror gave Darrow his cue to ask the witness more questions as to his education. Behm said he had never had much schooling and spent most of his life on the railroad. He said he knew all about locomotives but didn't understand court procedure.

The witness admitted that Mrs. McManigal told him that Burns would pay her expenses to Los Angeles to see her husband and that she asked him to accompany her. A little later the witness showed much animation on the subject of getting his expenses.

"I didn't get what I ought to have got," said he. "I got some money for expenses, but not my salary. It learned me a lesson. I am sorry I ever came out here."

"You complained that I didn't give you enough, didn't you?" asked Darrow.

"I didn't think I got what was coming to me."

"The arrangements were made at my house in Chicago, weren't they?"

"Yes."

"And the arrangement was you were to be paid for your time, your actual expenses and the pay of a man to run your place?"

"Yes."

A little later the expert cross-examiner got the luckless engineer tangled up in contradictions. The witness realized it and burst out with: "Mr. Darrow, you have asked me so many questions and told me to tell so many lies—"

"Hold on there," said Darrow. "I ask the court to admonish the witness."

This was done, and Behm was floundering through more mazes deftly erected in front of him by Darrow when the adjournment gave him temporary respite.

BACK TO THE OLD TOWN.

Former Cincinnati Persons Now Residents of Southern California and Arizona Plan Summer Visit.

Cincinnati contributes her share of loyal natives to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, and a number of these former Ohioans are going "back home" this summer to shake hands with the old friends, look over the new buildings and take cognizance of the improvements which the years have brought. It is planned that the "home coming" excursion shall include all Cincinnati former residents living in Southern California and Arizona who can tear themselves away from the attractions of a summer on this coast long enough to make the trip.

The party is now being "signed up" by a committee composed of Albert Euphrat, Charles Grischy, Raymond Fallon, R. L. Seebaum, W. L. Keetheler, Arthur J. McDonald, John M. Hines, H. C. Warden, Charles L. Wild, Frank C. Regan, W. F. Stermer, John Henges, E. G. Kinkead and B. F. Wessel of Los Angeles; R. F. Gusweller and Frank Wilson, of San Diego; George Hesseman and A. L. Boehmer, of Phoenix; Edgar A. Brown and George Babbitt, of Flagstaff, Ariz.

The party will leave this city at 8 o'clock p.m., Tuesday, July 2, arriving at the destination four days later. The train will be run as a special and a rousing reception will greet it at Cincinnati.

STRONG FOR TAFT.

Seed Magnates Talk of Politics and Roses—Guests of Local Merchants at Hotel Banquet.

"The fight for home rule in Ireland is nothing compared with the squabble here for the Presidency," said Hugh Dickson of Belfast and Dublin, who arrived at the Van Nuys yesterday in company with W. Atlee Burpee, an American seed magnate of Philadelphia. "It seems strange to a foreigner that such tactics should be employed by a Presidential candidate."

"It is my opinion," said Burpee, "that Roosevelt has lost his mental equilibrium and has allowed his own impression of himself to lead him into the struggle."

Burpee, who has been a personal friend of several Presidents and who knew Roosevelt so well that he named one of his new flower creations after one of his daughters, is in sympathy with President Taft.

Dickson, who is one of the tallest men to register at the Van Nuys in many weeks, is a son of one of the greatest florists of the past decade. His father produced the Killarney, Liberty and other famous forcing roses, and was considered one of the foremost florists of Europe.

Burpee's two sons, who are lieutenants in Culver Military Academy, arrived in the State a few days ago and will make their home in a shack on the great Burpee seed farm near Lompoc.

Mrs. Burpee, Miss Lena Schenck and Miss Beatrice Kennedy are also in the party. Los Angeles seed merchants and florists were hosts last evening at a dinner in honor of Dickson and Burpee at the Hollenbeck.

CITY WINS IN SUPREME COURT.

Hanford Gas and Power Company Must Pay the Municipality Two Per Cent. of Gross Receipts.

HANFORD, June 19.—That under the provisions of its franchise the Hanford Gas and Power Company must pay to the city of Hanford annually 2 per cent. of its gross annual receipts, after the plant has been in operation the first five years, is the decision of the State Supreme Court in the suit appealed to the highest tribunal by the city to compel the company to comply with this provision of its franchise.

In 1908, the first year when the returns became payable, the gas company paid the amount due under protest, and then sued the city to recover. In order to get the matter into the higher courts quickly, the city confessed judgment in the Superior Court and then appealed, the Supreme Court's decision having been rendered a few days ago. It compels the payment of back levies in 1908, 1909 and 1910 and 1911, and payments annually hereafter until the expiration of the fifty-year franchise. The point is one that has frequently been at issue in various cities throughout the State and the decision will probably occupy a prominent place in the "California Reports," as precedent in future legal procedure of this character.

"Tulare Dan," a character well known throughout the San Joaquin Valley, met death under a train near Armona sometime Saturday night, his mangled body being found alongside the Southern Pacific tracks Sunday morning. How his death occured, other than it was caused by a train, is not known, but an inquest will be held tomorrow morning to attempt to arrive at the facts, if possible. Dan was at one time a well-known railroad engineer, but over-indulgence in liquor unbalanced his mind and for years he has led a nomadic life, being a frequent inmate of jails in various valley towns. He was never violent, but his hallucination consisted of intimacy with Harriman, Huntington and other railway financiers and his whole thought was of railroads.

TO TALK ON FORESTS.

"The Advantages of Forest Covering on Our Great Mountains of California" will be the subject of a free illustrated lecture which T. P. Lukens, former Mayor of Pasadena, will deliver tonight at the First Baptist Church. Lukens was State Forester under Pinchot. He has given the subject much study since he left the service.

HUMAN FENCE OF JEWELRY ORE.

SO DOES DISTRICT ATTORNEY DESIGNATE SCOTTY.

Mystery of Whence Came Exploded Death Valley Enigma's Supply of High-Grade and Free-Milling Is No Stump at All for Chief-Trial Deputy—"Miner" Happy Again.

In spite of long strides forward in piercing the veil of the "Death Valley Mystery," it still remains for Walter Scott, otherwise "Scotty," to explain whence came the rich ore he showed in such abundance during his palmy days. On this subject the ex-enigma of the Funeral range remains silent and, although he volunteered information on other matters before the grand jury, he kept away from this as far as possible.

In the golden days of Scotty, when he stood before the bars of expensive hotels, wearing the picturesque, if ragged costume of a miner, with open flannel shirt and trousers tucked into the top of his boots, he showed quantities of high-grade, free milling ore. The immense value of the jewelry ore, as it was called, caused it to frequently disappear between the min-in and the smelting and to find its way into unscrupulous pockets. Some fence had to be found and it is well-known to those who lived in Nevada at that time that there were many middle men. Some convenient "mine" had to be devised to account for the ore that found its way into the great cities and to the public smelters and that the mystery with which Scotty came and went would have been advantageous to such people is considered by the District Attorney's office to be self-evident.

Scotty, however, is careless of such things now. He is perfectly content in the jail and yesterday was laughing and joking as usual there. "Nothing but a big boy, playful and thoughtless," is the verdict of the jailers. He himself has asked that he be kept in jail until after the grand jury shall get through with his case. The District Attorney's office will probably accede to the request.

Goodman, secretary of the Death Valley Scotty Mining and Development Company, is to appear this morning before the grand jury and continue his testimony as to the actual investment in the concern and who was behind it. Scotty has testified that all he received was $200 from the company, when he gave a receipt for $35,000. He has since modified that testimony before the grand jury and has admitted that he was to have had a percentage on the sale of the stock. He said he was not certain that the $200 paid to him represented a share of the sale of any stock as yet, or whether it was advanced to him by Goodman, but his impression was that very little of the stock had been sold. It is along this line that the grand jury probe is proceeding and Goodman is to produce the books of the company to show just how much stock, if any, was sold and to whom the certificates were made out.

HE DOUBTS "SCOTTY."

JOHNSON HEARD FROM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Statements made by Death Valley "Scotty" before the county grand jury at Los Angeles Tuesday were today branded false by A. M. Johnson, president of the National Life Insurance Company, at least so far as they applied to him.

"'Scotty's' statement that I grubstaked him is untrue," said Johnson. "The only capacity in which I ever gave him money was in the form of salary for work he did. I am under the impression that someone is trying to collect money from 'Scotty' and he is trying to avoid payment by leading the grand jury to believe that he never had a cent."

CLASS INITIATION.

Nine Drill Teams Assist Supreme Officers of Fraternal Brotherhood. Prizes in Contest Awarded.

A class of 250 candidates was initiated by the supreme officers of the Fraternal Brotherhood at their hall, No. 845 Figueroa street, last night. The initiation was the culmination of a campaign for new members which began March 11.

Representatives from all the twenty-one lodges of the city were present. The chairs were filled by the supreme officers and the work of initiating the candidates was performed by them. In the absence of James A. Foshay, Supreme President, Mrs. Emma Neidig, Supreme Vice-President, occupied the president's chair.

The hall was decorated with flowers and pennants, the yellow and white banners of the order predominating. Drill teams in uniform were present from the following lodges; Los Angeles, No. 1; La Grande, No. 9; Hermosa, No. 32; Golden Eagle, No. 174; Pico, No. 181; Crown, No. 400; Royal California, No. 490; Laurington, No. 600 and Carmen, No. 788. Each of the teams seated one of the supreme officers. Later they combined and as one team acted as escort for the class of candidates.

The trophy offered to the lodge securing the largest number of members was awarded to Manchester, No. 856. The trophy is a chain of twenty-one links with a medal attached to each link. The presentation was made by Mrs. Neidig. The gold chain for the individual members who secured the greatest number of candidates was won by Mrs. Eastwood of Ideal Lodge, No. 872. Mrs. Marie L. Goran, city manager, made the presentation address.

After the initiation the meeting was turned over to the city officers' assembly, Dr. C. W. Alderson, president. The members of the assembly then gave an exemplification of the new initiatory work.

NO DOUBT ABOUT ARREST.

Two Warrants in One Day Against Angeleno, Alleged to Have Uttered Worthless Checks—Long Search.

Raymond C. Tournoux, No. 120 North Spring street, 30 years old, found himself doubly in the toils yesterday when arrested by Nick Harris on a charge of having passed a fictitious check, for it developed there was another warrant awaiting him in Justice Summerfield's court.

Harris had been looking for Tournoux since December 23, last, he declares. The alleged fictitious check was issued to Bogy Brothers, for $30, was signed by J. C. Jackson and indorsed by Tournoux. Tournoux said yesterday he did not remember where to got it.

The warrant from the Justice Court was predicated on a check dated February 7, last, made payable to J. J. Edwards, for $25.

Tournoux is married, formerly lived on Third avenue, and at one time was proprietor of the California Printing Company.

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

(From the Feminine World.)

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary mercolized wax will aid you in this direction more than shelves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, procurable at any drug store, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvenating treatment—if you have wrinkles, or your skin is flabby and saggy—is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½-pint witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loosened tissue.

MUSIC AND STAGE.

Theater is providing thousands of vaudeville lovers with the most enjoyable sort of hot-weather entertainment, and this splendid list of attractions, headed by Walter Law and company in "At the Threshold" and Del Franco's Circus, combined with a cooling plant that is really effective, keeps the audience up to the usual Empress proportions in spite of the temperature.

On the new Sullivan & Considine bill coming to the Empress next Monday afternoon will be found three exceptionally attractive features in the Bessie Valdere Troupe of Cycling Beauties, the Five Musical MacLarens and the Roland West players in the interesting sketch, "Bill Jenks, Crook," with William S. Gill and Grace Hopkins as the stars. The Bessie Valdere Troupe is perhaps the best-known organization of bicycle beauties on the vaudeville stage today, while the Musical MacLarens are equally well known in their particular field of endeavor.

Monte Carter, with what may be termed a brand-new supporting company, is presenting a funny musical satire on women's suffrage this week at the Olympic Theater, entitled "His Nibs, the Baron." The dialogue is bright, the stage action swift and there is a generous interspersion of song numbers that are tuneful and catchy. The piece is appropriately staged as regards scenic embellishments, and the costuming is in strict keeping with the other good points of the production.

In addition to a new bevy of Olympic song birds, the principals include such new faces as Lew Dunbar, Harry Burgess, Otto Peck, Clark Russell, Ann Montgomery and Beth Van Haltren.

One of the finest evidences of pluck in the face of unexpected calamity recorded in the annals of present-day theatrical vicissitudes is that of the pretty little widow of "Happy Harrison," the well-known vaudeville and circus performer, who died shortly after an exhibition of his equally-famous trick mule, Dynamite, at Luna Park two weeks ago.

"Happy," who was all his sobriquet implied, had taught this fiery little Spanish hybrid numerous stunts that make for mirth, and also to throw any ordinary rider who might venture to accept his familiar offer of $10 to anyone sufficiently adept to remain on the animal's back for a single minute. He had several secret signals to which the sagacious little mule responded as if with human understanding. Not even his wife knew his method of directing the creature, but since her bereavement and inasmuch as Dynamite and his reputation were all the lamented comedian left for her support, Mrs. Harrison, who is hardly more than a girl, has bravely started in to master the secrets and earn her bread and butter by giving performances with the mule.

That she is rapidly succeeding was manifested yesterday afternoon at Luna Park, where she began a brief engagement with Dynamite, whose capers seemed none the less comical than when guided by the adroit hand of his departed master. Following her appearances at Luna, Mrs. Harrison will be booked for several weeks on the road.

BETTER PAY FOR TEACHERS.

Examination Early in September for Those Wishing to Qualify for New Salary Schedule.

Superintendent Francis called a teachers' meeting yesterday, to announce an examination to be held early in September, open to all city teachers, who wish to qualify for class B of the new salary schedule adopted by the Board of Education at its last meeting. The date of the examination will be announced later.

The superintendent explained that in class A, salaries are to be raised automatically as heretofore, according to length of experience. The maximum salary for this class will remain the same, and if a teacher desires to raise her status, professionally and financially, she may enter class B through personal ability and endeavor.

As several factors enter into the application of class B, many questions have reached the superintendent's office, and he explained the merit system exemplified in class B, as follows:

"The applicant must have had at least one year's experience in teaching in the Los Angeles city school system. She must be a maximum class A teacher, and must be credited with an average grade of 85 per cent. or above on the following points: Individuality, personality, power and efficiency, faithfulness to duty, comprehension and vision (as determined by a written and oral examination such as is required at present of teachers entering the department,) preparation additional to that required to secure a certificate to teach, this preparation to consist of travel and of work done in teachers' classes, reading courses, evening schools, summer schools, and other work and experiences better fitting them for their duties as teachers. These points will be judged by the superintendents and principals. Certificates of such finished work must be furnished to the superintendent's office before taking the examination, and teachers must exercise care in doing this to avoid the use of credits which have already been employed in securing certificates. The work must be additional to that required to get a certificate. The examination is not compulsory on any teacher, but must be passed before she can enter class B.

"Class B provides that $5 per month may be added through three successive years, reaching a maximum in the third year in all classes of teachers. The maximum salary in class A in the various departments remains practically unchanged."

Summer Aids to Beauty

(Esther in Household Helps.)

"Face powder helps that 'shiny' look only a few minutes, and then, when rubbed off, a woman's appearance is worse than ever. A true complexion beautifier is made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint witch hazel. Gently rub this lotion over face, neck and arms every morning. It 'holds' all-day long, and your complexion soon is clear, smooth, satiny and free from blemish.

"Short-sleeved waists sometimes prove embarrassing to a woman never troubled with superfluous hair on her face. Delatone will remove wild hairs. Just mix powdered delatone with enough water to cover the hairs; apply, and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

"A great advantage of a dry shampoo is that one is not compelled to devote hours to drying the hair. The best shampoo powder is a mixture of four ounces of orris root and an original package of therox. Sprinkle a little on the head, brush through the hair, and it removes dust, oil and dandruff, leaving the scalp clean, cool and refreshed, and the hair light, fluffy and lustrous.

"To make thin, short eyelashes grow in long, thick and silky with a beautiful curl, apply plain pyroxin to the lash roots with thumb and forefinger daily. Rubbing pyroxin on straggly eyebrows will make them long and silky."

yons of Arizona and New Mexico. They were claimed by Frederick L. Gay, executor under Sauerwein's will, as part of the estate. Miss Humble said they were the gift of the painter after their engagement.

SOB IN COMPLAINT. There is a sob in the complaint filed by James Cody against Harry Landers, charging him with having alienated the affections of Mrs. Cody. The couple were married in Milwaukee, October 8, 1896, and have two children. "In my old age," Cody recites, "I am alone in the world, my children scattered and disgraced, and I must hang my head in shame." He asks $10,000 damages.

CASH DISTRIBUTED. Judge Rives ordered the distribution of $25,257.50 yesterday on hand from the estate of John D. Hooker, to Anson C. Hooker, Henry A. Richardson, Agnes Dorr and John Whillock. The bulk of this money will go to Anson C. Hooker. Hooker died May 24, 1911. The will was probated July 6. The petition for a partial distribution of the large estate yesterday was presented by the heirs named.

LAWYER'S WILL. The will of Cyrus F. McNutt was admitted to probate yesterday. His daughter, B. Elouise McNutt, is executrix, and his heirs of the $35,000 estate are Mrs. Eliza E. McNutt, the widow; Elouise, Finley A. McNutt, a son, and John Gilbert, a grandson. McNutt died May 31, last. He was a member of the law firm of McNutt & Hannon.

FIXES BOND. Henry W. Whitmarsh was appointed administrator yesterday of the estate of his father, C. H. Whitmarsh, who died May 3, last, leaving property worth $65,000. The amount of the administrator's bond was fixed by Judge Rives at $120,000. The estate consists of promissory notes, $44,500, and cash, $14,000. The heirs are Charles W. and Henry W. Whitmarsh and Mrs. Carrie E. Gardner of Olmsted, O.

FINAL DISTRIBUTION. Through the Probate Department of the Superior Court $198,093 was ordered distributed yesterday to the heirs of Phineas Newmark, who died December 26, 1910. Of this amount the widow, Mrs. Elsie H. Newmark, will receive $99,047, and $49,523 will go to each son, Joseph B. and Warren P. Newmark.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Seller of Wrinkle Lotion Arraigned on Charge of Having Obtained Money Under False Pretenses.

Mrs. Crystal Bartee, No. 1718 Pleasanton avenue, arrested Monday evening by Mrs. Alethea Gilbert of the probation office, and locked up in the General Police Station on suspicion, was yesterday formally charged by Mrs. Anna B. Shaw with having obtained money under false pretenses.

The complaint was filed in Police Judge Rose's court. The woman entered a plea of not guilty, her trial was set for the 25th inst., and bail was fixed at $200.

Mrs. Bartee is accused of having sold a lotion which, it is said, she guaranteed to remove wrinkles. In lieu of money, the defendant is said to have accepted jewelry. Mrs. Shaw declares Mrs. Bartee wanted $100 for the formula, but finally accepted a ring said to be worth $35. The authorities aver Mrs. Bartee accepted jewelry from five women.

Arranging for Vacation.

Police Judge Rose is arranging his calendar to permit him to take a five weeks' vacation beginning the latter part of next week. Accompanied by Mrs. Rose, he will go to Racine, Wis., and from there, to Fon du Lac, his former home, where he will attend and address a "Home Comers' Meeting." After a few days in Wisconsin, he will go to Geneva, N. Y., the home of his family. Several weeks will be passed in the Empire State.

Stopp Fails to Stop.

Because J. F. Stopp failed to stop when given the signal at Fifth and Broadway, Judge Rose fined him $2 yesterday. It was testified that Stopp, in attempting to make the crossing, almost ran into a colored mounted officer, who was leading the colored veterans' parade.

A Poor Collector.

James Hay of South Pasadena thinks he has reasons for considering himself a poor collector, for he will pass thirty days in jail because he begged 5 cents from Plainclothesman Wedge.

"I only had a nickel and wanted another to pay my carfare home," explained Hay to Judge Rose.

Henry Taylor received a similar sentence for having begged 5 cents from three pedestrians on First street near Los Angeles.

Court Refused to Answer.

D. Cohen made the discovery in the Police Court yesterday morning that he was making money for the city and not himself when Judge Rose fined him $5 for having sold a 5-cent package of tobacco to Van Croford, under 18 years of age.

"The boy said he wanted the tobacco for his father," said the defendant.

Mistake Is Costly.

"I never said a word to the man. He just walked up to me on the car and smashed me in the face," testified Jacob Glasser, No. 128 South Clarence street. He was appearing against Sam Burr, a former fireman who conducts a bakery at Euclid and Stephenson avenue, who he charged in a complaint with battery. Burr pleaded guilty. The testimony showed he mistook Glasser for another who had jostled him. The court fined the defendant $30.

Alleged Rebate Case.

Through attorneys, the Economic Gas Company, and its president, L. P. Lowe, charged with rebating in a complaint signed by W. H. Stager, made an appearance in Police Judge Rose's court yesterday to the criminal charges preferred against it Tuesday afternoon. On the representation that President Lowe is in San Francisco, a continuance was granted until the 24th inst., when it is expected the head of the company will have returned to this city and can appear in person to plead. Stager accuses the company of having offered him a rebate in his gas bill, which is alleged to have been $43 originally.

BELONGS TO "IN-BADS?"

Wrestling Champ Is Fined in Police Court for Battery—Tries to "Square Things," Alleged.

Peter Buzukos, who claims the title of champion lightweight wrestler of the world, was found guilty of battery on the person of W. A. Abbey of the Adolphus Theater yesterday, and was fined $30 by Police Judge Frederickson.

Partial testimony was heard in the charge preferred against him by Miss Maud Ryan, No. 3465 Dayton avenue. A continuance was taken in this case to permit Miss Ryan to secure another witness and to permit Buzukos to go to San Diego, where he is to appear in a wrestling bout soon.

An effort was made by the prosecution to show that Buzukos gave Abbey money to "square" the case against him. Testimony was adduced to show that the wrestler gave the complaining witness $20. Abbey said the money was used to buy lotion for his lip, which was cut in the assault, and to reimburse the druggist who attended him.

Clerk Stockwell of Justice Frederickson's court said that Abbey did approach him relative to dropping the case, but he referred him to the City Prosecutor's office. Abbey called on Assistant City Prosecutor Stafford, but the latter refused to interfere. It was testified that Buzukos gave the $20 to Abbey's uncle, and the latter gave the money to his nephew.

Among the witnesses in the Abbey case were Charles Dalton and John Rice, better known as "Battling Chico." They testified that the blow administered by Buzukos "didn't amount to much."

"It probably didn't to men of your profession," replied the court.

ARRAIGNED AS SMUGGLERS.

Wong Wing, a Chinese alleged by the Federal authorities to be at the head of the oriental end of the alleged smuggling plot centering about the gasoline launch America, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday. Formal action will be deferred pending the report of the grand jury, which may indict one or more persons now under arrest and alleged to have been connected with the job.

BRADY

There was but one eye that saw the Civil War—

The Eye of Brady's Camera

IT was here, there, everywhere; it saw the frenzied crowds gather about the enlistment booths; it followed the marching regiments to Washington; it roamed through camp and battle ground. It was in the trenches, the hospitals, the forts, on the gunboats. It saw stern-faced duty command the assault and gentle pity bend above the stricken. It saw the truth—untwisted by prejudice—unwarped by hatred.

The photographs that Brady took are startling, absorbing, different from anything you have ever seen. They tell the intimate story of the war. Of the drummer boys and water boys and the many boys who got into the army by swearing they were of age. They tell many a pathetic story of the death of these boys.

The pictures tell of women who were disguised as men and lived in camp; of the postoffice in the fields, how the men sent their letters, how they received them, of welcome news from home. They speak of the affection of Grant, Lee, Sherman and McClellan for their men—and the daring heroism of officers and privates in uniforms of blue and gray.

The photographs that Brady took bring you back to the days of '61. You see the volunteers, just enlisted, standing erect and proud beneath their flag. You see the hopeful Southern recruits drilling in homespun and "jeans"; the Corinth battlements; the wide-trampled fields of Gettysburg. They take you in the huddled Petersburg trenches—show you everything from Sumter to Appomattox.

A thousand books could not tell you as much or so vividly the price that was paid, or the type of men who paid the price, as do these

Pasadena.

DIVIDING STATE INTO DISTRICTS

Mothers Feel the Need of Southern Headquarters.

Lordsburg Orphans Are Sidetracked in Crown City.

Commission to Hear Telephone Application.

[Office of The Times, 22 S. Fair Oaks avenue.]

PASADENA, June 20.—More than thirty Pasadena women, headed by Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, president of the California State Congress of Mothers, will go to Venice next Tuesday to coöperate with women from other parts of Southern California in the formation of the projected first district of the organization.

Last April a district was formed comprising the twelve northern counties of the State and another comprising the counties near San Francisco. This new district, which will bear the initial number, will consist only of Los Angeles county, but will be the strongest district in the State in point of membership and activity.

"This step is to be taken," said Mrs. Hamilton last night, "in the hope that we may soon have a parent-teacher association for every school in the county. It will mean that the lines of our work will be materially broadened and that the parents will become more active throughout Southern California generally in working with the teachers and the school authorities in every way possible for the good of the children.

"There are many things to be done other than those that have been undertaken. At Tuesday's meeting an extension committee will probably be appointed to outline future work for the organization. There are many things for which we will work. The establishment of playgrounds, the providing of funds to mothers who require the aid of their children's work for a livelihood so that the children may go to school, care of babies and the teaching of young mothers to care for their children, are some of the most important of them."

The Pasadena delegation will consist of two delegates from each of the sixteen circles in the city, and others. At the meeting next Tuesday a constitution will be adopted by the district organization and some advanced theories of what should be done in a practical way for the good of the children of the southern part of the State will be discussed.

TOTS HAVE ENJOYABLE TRIP.

Two youngsters, Fred and Martin Morley, aged 5 and 3 respectively, whose home is an orphans' home in Lordsburg, paid a visit to Pasadena yesterday, which, while enjoyable enough to them, caused a number of older persons much anxiety.

In the first place, they started out all spick and span for Claremont, where they were to be exhibited at a convention of mothers, by a Lordsburg woman, who was scheduled to speak there, as model orphans. Through a mistake in connections they landed in Pasadena instead, and were sent by the local agent of the Santa Fe to the police station.

Not a bit downcast, they declared that they had had plenty of fun coming this far and that they liked Pasadena well enough and did not care much about going on to Claremont.

The lecturer, finding her exhibits did not arrive, traced them here with the help of the railroad and their jaunt at last came to an end with the arrival of an attendant from the Lordsburg institution to take them home again.

GOOD REPORTS ARE MADE.

The call of the Comptroller of the Currency yesterday for reports from the local banks at the close of business on the 14th inst., brought forth the following figures:

Total deposits of ten banks in the city, $12,960,000; the best statement that has ever been made in the city at this time of the year. The total deposits for these banks June 7, 1911, amounted to $11,274,476.

Union Trust and Savings Bank, $2,547,000; Union National, $2,405,000; Pasadena Savings and Trust Company, $2,211,000; First National, $2,090,000; Pasadena National, $1,741,000; Crown City National, 758,000; American Bank and Trust Company, $530,000; National Bank of Commerce, $295,000; Security National Bank, $210,000; State Bank of Pasadena, $180,000.

DEMANDS GOOD SERVICE.

City Attorney Carr will appear before the State Railroad Commission when it convenes in the City Council chamber here tomorrow to hear the applications of the two telephone companies of the city to effect a merger to demand that an adequate and efficient service be furnished. He has been at work preparing a draft of questions and recommendations that the city will ask and make and is now ready for the hearing, as are both of the telephone companies.

It is believed by those concerned that thework of the commission can be accomplished in one day's sitting, so that no adjourned meeting will be necessary. The commissioners are expected to arrive in the city today.

According to reports, which, however, are unauthorized by the telephone companies, which have made no statements as to the details of their proposed consolidation plans, it is probable that an entire new telephone system will be installed in the city as an ultimate solution of the problem.

TEACHERS ARE NAMED.

The Board of Education yesterday announced the appointment of teachers to serve for the year 1912-13. The clerical and business force appointments and reappointments have not yet been made. The list of teachers is a long one.

Many of the teachers are planning to spend their vacations in traveling and a number have already left the city.

HAD BUSY YEAR.

With the close of the school term, the Public Athletic League has closed its second year's work, with a record of having rewarded 649 pupils for superior work in athletics. An active and enjoyable programme of sports is being arranged for next winter.

CITY BRIEFS.

BIG WAVE PULLS HIS NEW TEETH.

LONG BEACH, June 19.—J. E. Van Sicherer, a Pacific Electric conductor, took an extra day off today and secured the aid of 100 surf bathers in a combing of the sands below high tide for his set of false teeth for which he yesterday paid $90. The search was unsuccessful and the conductor fears that some finny denizen of the deep has appropriated them.

Van Sicherer donned his new molars yesterday and while diving in the surf got his mouth full of water. Standing erect and blowing the water from his mouth, he was struck in the face by a big wave and the teeth were knocked out of his mouth.

Members of the board of directors of the Pasadena Board of Trade that were out of the city at the time of the annual meeting have returned and a president of the organization will be elected within a few days.

The Executive Committee of the Komical Knights of the Karnival met last night. Practically all arrangements have been made for the Fourth of July celebration.

The Investigating Committee that held a conference with the Board of Education several days ago will probably make its report today to former Judge G. A. Gibbs, who presided as chairman at the mass meeting held last week.

The Northwest Pasadena Improvement Association next week will ask the City Council for better light service.

Plumbing Inspector A. C. Shaver has returned home from a three weeks' visit in St. Louis.

The last meeting of the season of the Ohio Society will be held tonight at the Tea Cup Inn.

FUMIGATES HIMSELF.

Cleans House But Enters too Soon After and Gas Nearly Asphyxiates Him—Exciting Runaway.

GLENDORA, June 19.—Charles Lane of the Powell Lane Fumigating Company came near losing his life by asphyxiation yesterday and it was only by the timely discovery of John Mathers that his life was saved. The two men were engaged in disinfecting the old Alosta Hotel which had just been vacated by a colony of Japanese. After waiting several hours, the men returned to the building and cautiously proceed from one room to another on the ground floor without noticing the presence of gas.

Finally Lane ventured to go upstairs, notwithstanding the protest of Mathers. Failing to hear Lane's footsteps after he had been upstairs a minute or two, Mathers, suspecting the worst rushed up the steps. He found him prostrate on the floor, his head drawn back, his face black and his body limp and apparently lifeless. Partly dragging and carrying Lane, Mathers made for an open door and fresh air as rapidly as possible.

A horse hitched to a buggy in which two strange children had been left in front of one of the stores, broke loose and ran south on the main street. The runaway was pursued by men in automobiles, bicycles or anything that could be brought into requisition. The horse was stopped near the home of the owner.

BABY'S TRAGIC DEATH.

VENTURA, June 19.—The seven-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaufman of Fillmore, met its death in a peculiar manner yesterday. The little one had been left lying on a bed while the mother went about her household duty in the next room. The child was teething and had been restless. In tossing about, the baby's body slipped through the curved iron rods at the foot of the bed but its head caught and it slowly strangled to death. The mother happened to go into the room after a time, and saw the baby thus suspended and extricated it, but too late to save its life, though medical aid was quickly summoned and all possible was done to resuscitate the child.

OUTFALL SEWER PLANS PROGRESS.

CITY COUNCIL APPROPRIATES MONEY FOR EXPENSES.

Pomona College Graduates Class of Fifty and Confers High Degrees on Post-Graduates—Two Hundred Alumni Attend Banquet at Claremont Inn.

POMONA, June 19.—The City Council has agreed to an appropriation of about $375 as its part toward the expenses of investigating the plan for the proposed outfall sewer system which is now being agitated by eighteen towns and cities of Pomona and San Gabriel valleys. It is the purpose to have the engineers of the various cities interested meet in joint session and determine upon some plan of action.

The investigation will be expeditiously prosecuted and when a plan has been decided upon and the route laid out the specifications will be submitted to the County Supervisors. Since the ban has been placed upon sewer farms, this outfall sewer proposition seems to be the only solution for future sewage problems which confront many towns of the valley because of the great growth in population.

LIBRARY OPEN AGAIN.

The Pomona Public Library is open again after a period of being closed because of the work of painters and decorators engaged in finishing the new addition. For a time the Library will be closed at 6 o'clock p.m., because changes to the lighting system are not yet adjusted.

Edward O. Essig, secretary of the State Horticultural Commission, who received the degree of bachelor of science at Pomona College, was given the degree of master of science by the college at the commencement today, having submitted a minor thesis upon "Wither Tip and Die Back of Citrus Trees" and a major thesis upon "California Coccidae and Aphididae." Miss V. R. Stout of Caldwell, Idaho, was also given the degree, and her thesis was "A Study in Pacific Coast Isopoda."

The degree of master of arts was conferred on Floyd Hayden of Ontario and Merton E. Hill of Upland.

BETTER SERVICE BY WATERWORKS.

RATES REMAIN THE SAME BUT PEOPLE WIN ANYHOW.

Consumers Must Be Given Notice When Supply Is Turned Off. Ten Fire Hydrants Located at Advantageous Points—Surprise Party That Failed to Surprise.

SOUTH PASADENA, June 19.—The fight between the water companies and the people of this city was definitely settled by the Board of Trustees deciding that no change in the water rates should be made from those of last year, and that the water companies should give the public better service.

Consumers must be notified when the water is to be turned off for repairs and the companies are also required to make connections to the curb at their own expense when laying mains for consumers.

The location of ten fire hydrants along Mission street has been determined by the committee under the plan recently outlined by the board and the selection for locations of fire hydrants along those portions of Pasadena avenue and Huntington drive, now under contract for paving, will be made this week. The City Attorney was instructed to take steps to compel the water companies to make connections immediately to the point where the fire hydrants are to be connected.

EVERYBODY SURPRISED.

A double surprise was perpetrated this morning when Miss Josephine Gillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gillman, No. 1837 Diamond avenue, and Harry R. Tritt, endeavored to "steal a march" on their friends by being quietly married in the presence of a few relatives. The second surprise came when a number of near-by residents and friends walked in upon the "quiet" wedding party. Rev. Booker Smith, pastor of the Christian Church, read the service, and the couple left immediately on their honeymoon.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tritt, No. 21 El Centro street. Upon their return the young couple will make their home upon the apple and grain ranch of Mr. Tritt in the Mesquite Valley in San Bernardino county.

WOMEN DELEGATES.

Santa Ana.

SEWER PROBLEM IS NOW SETTLED.

City Trustees Contract With Private Corporation.

Obviates the Necessity of a Big Bond Issue.

Automobile Club Will Make Journey to Ocean.

SANTA ANA, June 19.—The City Trustees have entered into an agreement with the Southern California Sugar Company that solves Santa Ana's outfall sewer problem for years to come. The sugar company agrees to take care of the sewage of the city after it has passed through septic tanks, either by taking the output through the company's outfall to the ocean or by using it in irrigation.

The contract means that the City Trustees will not ask for a bond issue of $80,000, thought to be necessary to get an outfall to the ocean, and that the entire city will be put under sewers, and that within three or four months.

The sugar company pays the city $15,000 cash for a seven-year lease on 115 acres of the Santa Ana sewer farm. With that money the city will build an outfall south on Bristol street and east by Fairview avenue to Orange avenue, thus making it possible for the southern part of the city, hitherto unable to drain into the present system, to be sewered. The outfall on Bristol goes only to Delhi road, where the city is deeded land for a septic tank. At that point the sugar company will assume all control of the sewage.

Material is now on the ground for completing the sugar company's outfall into the ocean at a point between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach.

The contract is for seven years. Should the sugar company quit business or a sale of its outfall to the city be decided upon, the price is to be fixed by arbitration or appraisers agreeable to both sides. For taking care of the sewage, the company will be paid $200 per month.

BOOSTING GOOD ROADS.

Sixty automobiles of the Santa Ana Automobile Club today made a successful run in the interests of boosting good roads. It will not be long before Orange county will be asked to vote bonds for good roads and all over the county people are fretting because the improvements cannot be made sooner than seems possible.

At Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton and Whittier stops were made on the way to Long Beach, where luncheon was taken at the Hotel Virginia. At Anaheim the automobile club of that enterprising city met the Santa Anans and an address of welcome was given by Attorney F. C. Spencer.

At Fullerton, E. K. Benchley, a banker and fruit shipper, declared he hoped the issue would be big enough to do the job right. Benchley represented the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce.

At Whittier, George Hazard of the Board of Trade of that city welcomed the guests. The fine roads of Los Angeles county from the Orange line to Whittier and from Whittier to Long Beach was an object lesson to the Orange county people, a lesson that added fuel to the fire of enthusiasm for better roads in Orange county.

NEWS BRIEFS.

A jury in the City Recorder's court that tried A. C. Lantz on a charge of speeding his automobile failed to agree, voting five for conviction and seven for acquittal. Officers Ryan and Boynton, who saw Lantz pass, judged his speed to be thirty miles an hour. Lantz testified he was going less than fifteen.

The Southern Counties Gas Company last night agreed to take out a franchise for the operation of all gas extensions put in since October, 1911.

WILL CREATE A LAKE.

Irrigation Plan at Oxnard Involves the Construction of a Reservoir Which Would Float a Titanic.

OXNARD, June 19.—A lake, three-quarters of a mile long and holding thousands of gallons of water, is the central idea in an immense irrigation project that has been put under way by the Citrus Heights Company. Work on this big irrigation scheme was formally started today when surveyors commenced laying out a place where the lake will be situated. It is to be the counterpart of the famous Matheson dam.

After the construction of the place for its location, water will be pumped into it and then pipe lines run to it to irrigate the big lemon orchard that the company has started to plant, as well as other properties they have in this section.

BITTEN BY SPIDER.

Bitten by a spider some days ago, M. D. McGillicuddy, section foreman for the Southern Pacific Company here, is now in a precarious condition. He was working on some old ties when the insect suddenly came off of one of them and bit him. He paid but little attention to the incident until today, when he discovered that his arm was swollen to practically twice its normal size. An operation was performed and the man is now in a serious condition.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Edward F. Arnold, aged 57, one of the earliest settlers of this section, passed away today. He came to this vicinity when this was Santa Barbara county, and has been closely allied with the county history. Mr. Arnold settled in this section in 1869 and had since made it his home.

Eddie Maier, of Los Angeles, is to be host on Sunday next to probably 200 Ventura county Elks at his Rancho Selecto near here. The occasion will be the annual picnic of Elk members in this county. A big barbecue and other attractions have been arranged for.

FIFTEENTH COMMENCEMENT.

Colton Schools Close With Interesting Exercises and the Award of Diplomas to the Graduates.

COLTON, June 18.—The fifteenth annual commencement of the Colton High School was held in the Operahouse last evening. Dr. James A. B. Sherer, president of the Throop Polytechnic School, delivered an interesting address. Music was rendered by Miss Stella Sankey and chorus, by the Schubert Glee Club and the High School orchestra, all under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Butler, supervisor of music in the Colton schools.

Professor L. M. Frey awarded the diplomas to the graduates, who included Misses Eva Ratliff, Mary Darling, Edna Vaughan, Elizabeth McHargue, Dorothy Armstrong, Gladys Hulbert, Harry Flinn, Thurlow Sager, Richard Ellery, Van Arsdale Smith.

A. J. Holmes was given sixty days in the County Jail by Justice Hanna this morning, having plead guilty to furnishing liquor to Indians.

By stipulation of counsel, the trial of J. E. Wilson has been continued until July 9 at 10 o'clock. The jury was excused until that time. Wilson is charged with over-driving a horse belonging to a local livery stable, causing the animal's death.

CORCORAN'S BARLEY CROP.

Nearly Quarter of a Million Sacks Harvested in Locality—Plant Grain on Tulare Lake Alluvial.

CORCORAN, June 18.—The first load of barley for the new crop of 1912 was delivered at the Corcoran warehouse today by H. S. Hubbard. There were 100 sacks on the load and the quality of the grain is pronounced as fine as any ever produced in the State. Hubbard estimates his crop at 32,000 sacks. F. A. Cleveland, proprietor of the Corcoran warehouse, estimates the total crop in this district at 200,000 sacks, including both wheat and barley. No quotations are made at present on wheat, but barley will bring the grower about $2 a sack, the best price in many years at the opening of the season.

Owing to the meager rainfall during the season and the light snowfall in the mountains, Tulare Lake is drying up rapidly and the land is being planted to alfalfa and grain as fast as the water recedes. Campbell Brothers are now seeding one tract of 2000 acres to wheat, with the expectation that the moist land will produce a profitable crop before fall.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fred Cann, a member of the notorious Maybray gang of swindlers which mulcted victims in every part of the United States on fake horse races and athletic contests, was captured here today by Manager William A. Mundell of the Burns Agency after successfully eluding the Federal authorities for more than three years.

All of Cann's former associates are now imprisoned in the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan. When taken into custody by Mundell, Cann admitted his identity and the ceaseless search of the Federal detectives for him ended. The prisoner was known as the "capper" for John C. Maybray, the brains of the famous gang.

RETURNED WITH INTEREST.

While engaged at a quiet game of whist with a party of friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Duncan of Fourth avenue and Sixteenth street failed to hear sneak thieves enter their garage and get away with a new Pierce-Arrow car. When Duncan went out Tuesday night to get the machine to take some of his guests home he found the doors of the garage open and the auto gone. A patrolman found the machine early in the morning standing in front of the Harvard school, four blocks away. It had been run twenty-eight miles, presumably to the beach and back. The tonneau was filled with burned matches, liquor flasks and cigar and cigarette stubs.

CAN'T WAIT TO FINISH SCHOOL.

Orange Grower's Daughter Married Up North.

Clay Corporation Opposing Opening of Road.

Druggists and Clerks Fined for Ignoring Law.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Merle L. Braden, 22, and Miss Alice R. Chandler, 19, were married yesterday at San Rafael, according to dispatches from the north last night. Both are well known and popular young people of Riverside, where they have lived since early childhood.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chandler, her father being a prosperous orange grower here. She is a graduate of the Riverside High School, in the class of '10, and since graduating has attended the State University at Berkeley, still being a student there. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Braden of Riverside, being in the employ of the city as a mechanic.

Miss Chandler departed Monday, going to Los Angeles, and took passage on a boat from San Pedro for San Rafael, where the wedding was solemnized. The couple will go immediately to Berkeley to make their home.

AFTER BIG COMPANIES.

The Board of Supervisors today received a petition for the opening of a road in the Alberhill section, near Elsinore, where three big clay corporations are opposed to such a proceeding. The petition was filed and viewers appointed.

The board recently brought a suit against the Alberhill Coal and Clay Company to condemn a right of way across the company's property. A motion for non-suit was granted on the ground of technicalities in connection with irregularity in the serving of notice on defendant with whom is involved also the California Coal and Clay Company and the Los Angeles Pressed Brick Company.

The action taken today means that the county will begin proceedings anew against the clay companies.

INSTRUCTOR REMEMBERED.

A number of the members of the Board of Education and former members yesterday afternoon presented Miss Eugenia Fuller, principal of the Girl's High School, with a token of their esteem, as she has been identified with the school twenty years.

DRUGGISTS FINED.

Four prominent druggists charged with employing clerks who are not registered, and six clerks charged with selling drugs without the legal right, were fined $20 each by Justice Holton Webb today. The charges were brought by the inspector of the State Board of Pharmacy.

SECURE WILBUR LOU.

The Fourth of July committees have announced another feature for the celebration. The Riverside Driving Club has the assurance that Bud Doble, the famous driver, will be here in charge of "Wilbur Lou," the yearling which established a record of 2:19 at Phoenix. The club is planning for a matinee meet on the date of the Fourth.

AUTO TOUR OF STATE.

P. T. Evans of the Riverside Land and Irrigation Company will leave tomorrow for Newport and Los Angeles, from which point he will enter on a 4200-mile automobile tour of California and Nevada. Evans made an extensive automobile tour last summer which attracted the attention of motorists all over the State.

As on the former occasion, Evans will keep a complete diary of his journey and illustrate it with scores of photographs taken on the way. The route to San Francisco will be by way of Bakersfield and the interior section. From San Francisco the journey will be by way of the Feather River into Nevada.

TO ADJUST LEMON RATES.

Member of Interstate Commerce Commission Here to Attend Final Hearing—Other Tariff Complaints.

E. E. Clark, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, arrived at the Van Nuys yesterday afternoon to attend the final hearing on the lemon tariff on shipments to the northwestern part of the United States. "The lemon rate East was reduced to $1 per hundred after it had been advanced from that to $1.15," he said. "This reduction did not cover the rates of shipments into Idaho, Montana, Washington, Oregon and other Northwestern States. The tariff is still standing at $1.15 and it is to determine whether it shall be decreased that the present hearing is planned."

The hearing will take place in the Federal building on Friday morning. Commissioner Clark will also take up the matter of western classification, which has been suspended by the commission pending the time when its expediency can be thoroughly tried out. "The western classification covers all goods handled west of the Mississippi on which many changes of classification were made by the railroads in their last revision of tariff," he said. "There were so many complaints that the tariff was suspended until the commission can determine their effect. Shippers claims that the rules for packing are almost impossible and that the tariff is an upward revision."

Clark has been on the commission for six years and will be retired at the end of this year, the term of service on the commission being seven years. He has never before been in Los Angeles on business connected with the commission, but his personal visits have been numerous. For sixteen years previous to being appointed a commissioner he was grand chief conductor of the Order of Railway Conductors of America.

San Diego.

POLICE SEEKING WOMAN, ALLEGED DIAMOND THIEF.

SAN DIEGO, June 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While Charles E. Riece, believed to be known to many persons the width of the continent by many other names, and asserted to be the ringleader of the gang of hotel thieves operating in San Diego for several months, is in jail here, and a woman, well known about town and to the police, who passed as the wife of the bell boy, Paul Sobie, formerly employed by the U. S. Grant Hotel, is still missing, and with her is said to be a large amount of stolen jewelry.

While the theft of the diamonds and jewelry occurred early in May, Sobie, the bell boy, now under arrest in San Pedro, as one of the thieves, made no move to leave the hotel until last Sunday night, when he reported to Chief Clark Lilly that "Mrs. Sobie," referring to the woman who passed as his wife, had betrayed him and that he had just found her with a local photographer in his rooms in a Sixth-street hotel. For this reason, he said, he wanted to leave his employment in the hotel and quit the city.

Sobie was persuaded, unwillingly, to remain for the time, but hastily left the day following, taking with him no baggage to speak of, and Tuesday the woman, known as Alice Sobie, also departed suddenly, taking her baggage on the ticket of a friend. It is now believed that the woman intuitively sensing the situation, left the train this side of the destination called for by her ticket, probably Santa Ana.

It is believed that her trunks contain the bulk of the valuables taken form the guests of the hotel during the past few months. So far she has proven herself much the cleverest of the quartette sought by the police.

Teh police of Los Angeles traced Sobie to San Pedro, where he was placed under arrest. Detective Joseph S. Lopez of the San Diego force brought the prisoner here today.

Appreciation.

FINE SETTINGS AT HOLLYWOOD.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS AND BOYS RECEIVE PARCHMENTS.

Populace of Exclusive Suburb Witness Interesting and Attractive Ceremonies and Express Their Delight—Group of Handsome Buildings Now About Complete.

The people of Hollywood showed their appreciation of their High School last night when they packed the beautiful auditorium to its fullest extent to witness the graduation exercises of the fifty-nine girls and boys in the class of 1912. The ceremonies formed a symphony in white, or an enshrinement of the white carnation. The auditorium was a wilderness of the fragrant blossoms, in its unique and graceful decorations, while every girl graduate carried a large arm-bouquet of the fair blooms and every boy wore a single blossom as a boutoniere, the former all being clad in plain white gowns and the boys in dark suits. After the audience was seated, the graduates, to the music of a march by the school orchestra, entered single-file up the main aisle, mounted the stage from each side and took their seats on an elevated platform provided for them, while the fond parents and friends applauded.

The graduates were represented by Miss Stella Messenger, who delivered an oration on "The Vision;" Miss Dorothy Ferguson, who rendered "La Fileuse," by Raff, on the piano, and Leslie W. Somers, whose oration was entitled, "The Spirit of the Pioneer," and they all three creditably redeemed the trust confided to their care. Miss Messenger was on the programme for an essay, but as she eschewed paper and delivered her production with marked feeling and fine presence, it is fully entitled to be called an oration. A double quintette of the graduates, five girls and five boys, sang "Merrily Goes Our Bark," by Leslie, with unusual charm.

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. J. A. B. Scherer, president of Throop Polytechnic Institute, Pasadena. It was a learned presentation of the value of education, and teemed with wise counsel to the seniors. Following a number by the Senior Mandolin Club, J. B. Monlux, deputy City Superintendent of Schools, presented the debating pins to the winners, and the class was presented by the principal of the school, Dr. William H. Snyder, to receive their diplomas. These were awarded with a neat word of commendation, by Col. J. J. Steadman, the Hollywood member of the City Board of Education.

Hollywood High is destined for one of the city's most attractive and valuable institutions, and under the management of Principal Snyder, has developed into a broad, democratic school, characterized by a friendliness and loyalty on the part of pupils and patrons that is delightful to observe. The administration building, women's building, and the handsome auditorium are all now complete, and the polytechnic and arts building is practically complete.

CAR STRIKES CIGAR DEALER.

John R. Edwards, a cigar dealer, No. 604 South Main street, was struck and probably fatally injured by a Santa Fe avenue car No. 482, at Seventh and Wall streets, last night, and removed to the Receiving Hospital unconscious. An examination indicated that he was suffering from a basal fracture of the skull in addition to severe concussion of the brain. Spectators assert that Edwards, in company with Ed Graham, a barber, stepped from behind a car directly in front of the car. Graham, however, escaped with a few scratches.

The Social Drink And Its Effect

Hundreds of men and women social drinkers are drifting into habitual drinkers through the mistaken idea that a social glass does no harm.

Alcohol is a poison which soon masters the man or woman who drinks it. No one can play "fast and loose" with alcohol, and the only way to stop drinking is to stop. If the will power is not strong enough to make the fight alone, assistance of a reliable treatment is the only rational course to adopt.

The Neal Treatment will remove all appetite and necessity for alcoholic stimulation in three days' time and without hypodermic injections.

For full information regarding the Neal Treatment call at the Neal Institute, 945 So. Olive St., Los Angeles, Calif., or write or phone G. U. Neal, Mgr., for Dr. Neal's free book. Just bear in mind that there are no secret cures, and that you are taking great chances in administering such. Phone Broadway 4602, A4072.

COLD CAUSED A WRECK

Mrs. Mitchell Has Weary Search for Relief. Physicians State No Hope for Recovery.

Morganton, N. C.—"My health had been a wreck for years," says Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, of this city.

"When I was 16 years old, I commenced to suffer. I caught cold, and it went into a fever.

I stayed in bad health, and though I used all kinds of medicine, I got no relief, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Cardui cured me. It is the best medicine I ever used. I cannot praise it enough.

Then, some time ago, I was taken down again very bad. The doctors all said I could not live, and they gave me up. I used Cardui and was greatly relieved. Now, I am entirely well.

Cardui is a good medicine and worth its weight in gold! I will keep it in my home all the time, as I do not want to be without it."

Do you wonder why Cardui is so popular, when it has cured so many sick and ailing women, after other medicines had failed?

The reason is that it goes to the spot that needs attention and does the work that is required.

All women need Cardui, the woman's tonic,—at times. When you do, will you try it? Please do.

PREPARE FOR A TASK.

Commission Which Is to Redraft the Building Ordinance Meets and Committees Are Appointed.

The Building Ordinance Commission appointed three weeks ago by the City Council to redraft the building ordinance of the city met in the Story building and named several committees to handle the various phases of the work.

The present ordinance was framed ten years ago and although it has been amended from time to time it does not serve the purposes required by a large and rapidly growing city. The commissioners declare that many important changes will be made in the present building laws before they complete the task of building a brand new ordinance.

Following are the committees: General arrangement: R. B. Young, C. E. Richards, Octavius Morgan, Sr.; class "A" steel: Morgan, Albert C. Martin, J. F. Hall, C. L. Peck, George C. Sutton; class "A" concrete: Martin, Edward Mayberry, Morgan, Richards, Hall; class "B" and "C": Young, J. H. Bean, J. A. Crook, Richards, Sutton; Class "D": Bean, Crook, Young, Peck; theaters and halls; Morgan, Young and Peck; fire escapes, Mayberry, Hall and Sutton.

The commission will meet on Wednesday and Friday nights. Albert C. Martin, secretary of the Commission has his offices at No. 430 Higgins building.

Bring Only $1—Pay $1 a Week

The Special Limited offer which we are making herewith is absolutely without a parallel. It is the very first time in the whole history of the industry that pianos of such truly magnificent quality have ever been placed before the public on an offer even approaching this in fairness and liberality.

The public has been wretchedly deceived by the extravagant and misleading advertising with which irresponsible jobbers and cheap mail order houses have flooded the country. Even some manufacturers and dealers have stooped to depths of misrepresentation and deceit that are almost unbelievable.

Now, all this must stop. Single handed, this firm has engaged in a fight for clean methods, absolute honesty, real liberality and absolute, proven quality.

We are determined to introduce our famous high grade pianos throughout the entire State—and in the very shortest possible time, and so we are selling them on terms of only $1 down and $1 weekly. Act at once, so that you may make certain of securing the rights and benefits of this unusual opportunity right away.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. has always been one of the strongest points in its favor, and is one of the principal reasons why it is the most widely known and universally used of all blood medicines. A great many of the so-called blood purifiers are really nothing more than strong mineral mixtures which act so unpleasantly and disastrously on the delicate membranes and tissues of the stomach and bowels, that even if such treatment purified the blood, the condition in which the digestive system is left would often be more damaging to the health than the original trouble. Not so with S. S. S.—it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and at the same time is an absolutely safe and harmless remedy. It is made entirely of the healing and cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks, each of which is in daily use in some form by physicians in their practice. Years of work and research have proven S. S. S. to contain everything necessary to purify the blood and at the same time supply the system with the purest and best tonic effects. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other blood troubles, and it leaves the system in perfect condition when it has purified the blood. Book containing much valuable information on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

FINANCIAL NEWS SUMMARY.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Bankers representing six powers reach agreement to lend China $300,000,000.

Merchants' Association begins its investigation into advance in coal prices.

American stocks in London were irregular.

The market displayed a firm tone throughout today's session, with buying of a substantial sort in evidence in coppers.

Shorts covered freely in the coalers and bought today, but even so, the volume of trading was restricted by the political news.

The occurrences tomorrow at the convention will be such as to permit a more definite opinion relative to the outcome, but of course the week beginning with June 25 will also be interesting from the standpoint of politics, though it may be such as to dissipate lethargy which has characterized the securities market for quite a period.

The opinion is entertained in good quarters that the industrials rather than the rails are likely to lead an upward movement in the stock market, owing to the fact that the carriers do not as yet appear to have turned the corner in the matter of adjusting operating expenses to the current level of freight rates, and as a consequence it is thought that an expansion in trade and industry will not be reflected to the extent in net earnings of the railroads.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Action may be taken by the produce exchange today to quote the producer's price rather than the wholesale price on poultry, and for this reason all wholesale dealers in poultry who are members of the exchange will be asked to be present.

According to many of the poultry dealers the producer becomes confused with the wholesale price and the figures quoted to him are differential. Therefore it is asserted if prices are quoted officially, "dealer buys from producer," all trouble can be eliminated.

Bananas for the first time in weeks were easy. Heavy arrivals the past several days, together with the hot weather, caused them to sell down as low as 4 cents a pound, although this was for damaged stock. The selling price yesterday was 4½ and 4¾ cents. The quarter-cent was put on the price when the scarcity began and it is now anticipated it will be removed.

Deciduous fruits fell off in receipt and a number of advances resulted. Peaches sold on the street at $1.50 a box for the best. Cherries advanced on the exchange, Royal Annes to 8 and 10 cents in bulk, and blacks to 6 and 8 cents. Watermelons advanced to 5 and 6 cents. Cantaloupes declined to $2.25 for pony crates, and to $3.25 for standards. Specials were marked off the board.

New navel oranges advanced to $2.50 and $3 on the produce exchange, and Valencia oranges were marked on the board for the first time this season at $3 and $3.25.

The first green figs of the season were in. They sold in two-tier boxes at $1.50. Black figs were quoted on the exchange at $1.25 a box.

In the vegetable line summer squash experienced a slump, dropping to 25 and 50 cents a lug box. Green corn declined to 90 cents and $1 a lug box, bell peppers to 8 and 10 cents a pound, and cucumbers to 75 cents and $1.25 a lug box. Celery was scarce at 75 and 85 cents a dozen. Tomatoes were marked down to $1 and $1.25 on the exchange, being the price at which they sold on the street for several days previously. However, the market was well cleaned up on tomatoes early yesterday, the fancy stock selling readily at $1.25.

Receipts of the leading produce staples were light. Eggs, 454 cases; butter, 38,384 pounds; cheese, 723 pounds; potatoes, twenty-three sacks; beans, thirty-six sacks.

EXPORT RUMORS PROMOTE RISE.

CHICAGO WHEAT MARKET GIVEN AN UPWARD TURN.

Change Comes After Bears Have Had an Inning—Corn Scores Net Gain, Oats Finish Unchanged and Provisions Are Advanced Further by Run on Hogs.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 19.—Rumors of export sales to France, later denied, turned the wheat market upward today after favorable weather had made the bear side popular during most of the session. Closing prices were firm, ranging from last night's level to ⅛@¼ above. Corn scored a net gain of ¼ to ½@⅝, oats finished unchanged to ⅛ up and provisions at 2½ to 12½ advance. September wheat fluctuated from 1.03 to 1.04⅛ with the wind-up at 1.03⅝, exactly the same as 24 hours before. September corn ranged from 70⅝ to 71⅞, closing at 71⅝, a net gain of ¼@⅝. No. 2 yellow was quoted at 73½@74. September oats ranged from 39⅞ to 40¼ with the close 40¼, a shade higher than last night. A light run of hogs made provisions firm from the start. Tonight the bulletin boards recorded pork at 12½ dearer with lard and bacon up 2½ to 2½@5.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour easy. Rye, No. 2, 85. Barley, feed or mixing, 65@70; fair to choice malting, 95@1.10. Timothy seed, 7.00@8.50. Clover seed, 14.00@20.00. Mess pork, 18.75@18.87½. Lard (in tierces) 10.92½. Short ribs, (loose) 10.12½@10.62½.

The strong statistical position of the copper metal industry is gradually becoming recognized, with the result that many who have heretofore hesitated are now taking hold on the buying side of coppers.

Shorts covered freely in the coalers and bought today, but even so, the volume of trading was restricted by the political news.

The occurrences tomorrow at the convention will be such as to permit a more definite opinion relative to the outcome, but of course the week beginning with June 25 will also be interesting from the standpoint of politics, though it may be such as to dissipate lethargy which has characterized the securities market for quite a period.

The opinion is entertained in good quarters that the industrials rather than the rails are likely to lead an upward movement in the stock market, owing to the fact that the carriers do not as yet appear to have turned the corner in the matter of adjusting operating expenses to the current level of freight rates, and as a consequence it is thought that an expansion in trade and industry will not be reflected to the extent in net earnings of the railroads.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Action may be taken by the produce exchange today to quote the producer's price rather than the wholesale price on poultry, and for this reason all wholesale dealers in poultry who are members of the exchange will be asked to be present.

According to many of the poultry dealers the producer becomes confused with the wholesale price and the figures quoted to him are differential. Therefore it is asserted if prices are quoted officially, "dealer buys from producer," all trouble can be eliminated.

Bananas for the first time in weeks were easy. Heavy arrivals the past several days, together with the hot weather, caused them to sell down as low as 4 cents a pound, although this was for damaged stock. The selling price yesterday was 4½ and 4¾ cents. The quarter-cent was put on the price when the scarcity began and it is now anticipated it will be removed.

Deciduous fruits fell off in receipt and a number of advances resulted. Peaches sold on the street at $1.50 a box for the best. Cherries advanced on the exchange, Royal Annes to 8 and 10 cents in bulk, and blacks to 6 and 8 cents. Watermelons advanced to 5 and 6 cents. Cantaloupes declined to $2.25 for pony crates, and to $3.25 for standards. Specials were marked off the board.

New navel oranges advanced to $2.50 and $3 on the produce exchange, and Valencia oranges were marked on the board for the first time this season at $3 and $3.25.

The first green figs of the season were in. They sold in two-tier boxes at $1.50. Black figs were quoted on the exchange at $1.25 a box.

In the vegetable line summer squash experienced a slump, dropping to 25 and 50 cents a lug box. Green corn declined to 90 cents and $1 a lug box, bell peppers to 8 and 10 cents a pound, and cucumbers to 75 cents and $1.25 a lug box. Celery was scarce at 75 and 85 cents a dozen. Tomatoes were marked down to $1 and $1.25 on the exchange, being the price at which they sold on the street for several days previously. However, the market was well cleaned up on tomatoes early yesterday, the fancy stock selling readily at $1.25.

MOTOR

THE vogue of the Columbia Knight motor is not due to its silence so much as to its other qualities. Its positively driven valves produce greater power from its cylinders by reducing loss of energy and friction, give greater flexibility, higher efficiency and longer life. These are the reasons for its success. No motor built on other principles can equal these results.

Charles Y. Knight gave his personal unqualified approval to the entire design of the Columbia Knight before it was offered to the public.

Some One Slips Joe Rivers the Secret.

Of the "Come-Back" Mixture Ad Uses.

Is This What Tom Jones Gives Him?

Sh-h-h.

Many a time, and oft, as the poet whispers it, Ad has gone to his corner badly used up and his manager has put a magic bottle to his lips. One swig and the champ comes to the center refreshed and as full of ginger as a fighting bulldog.

Expert opinion has differed as to what was in the bottle.

Some have maintained that it was champagne; others that it was whisky.

According to Joe Rivers, neither report is correct.

What purports to be the real recipe has just been slipped to Joe.

It is a rather complicated mixture, but the two chief ingredients are beef extract and strychnine.

Very likely, little Joe will have some of the same brand of dope manufactured for his own use during the July Fourth fight. He has been assured that it will do him no harm and should have an even greater effect upon his recuperative powers than upon Wolgast.

Expansion.

ENLARGING THE VERNON ARENA.

PROMOTERS WILL AD SEATS BY HUNDREDS.

Expectation Is That the Record of the Kilbane-Attell House Will Be Smashed by the Wolgast-Rivers Fight—Most Expensive Bout Ever Staged in California.

The present lower floor seats will remain as they are. Several seats will be added to the gallery.

The seating capacity will be raised from about 7000 to about 15,000. The promoters of the Rivers-Wolgast fight confidently expect to play to the capacity of the enlarged pavilion on July 4.

It will be the most expensive fight ever staged in California.

Uncle Tom McCarey claims that it will cost him more to stage this fight than the total receipts of any fight ever given at Vernon.

It may be added, by the way, that the biggest house ever drawn to Vernon was the Attell-Kilbane fight. This, in spite of the assertion of the fight fans that Kilbane cannot draw to the box office. The receipts for that day were about $24,000. To stage this fight will cost about $25,000.

This estimate includes both purses, Wolgast's share being $15,000 and Rivers's $7500.

MURPHY AND ABE BEGIN TRAINING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Promoter Coffroth today wired transportation to Harlem Tommy Murphy, and he expects Murphy and his manager to arrive in this city either Saturday or Sunday.

Al White's quarters have been secured for Murphy to train in and Tommy will be busy at his work early next week.

Abe Attell is still up at Nolan's ranch in Lake county. The chances are that Abe will take up his regular quarters at Millett's Camp next Monday.

The former featherweight champion is ready in fine form and he is sure that he will "get even" with Tommy when he meets at the Daly City arena on the afternoon of July 4.

AD WOLGAST MOVES HIS CAMP.

Special Correspondence.

WHEELER SPRINGS, June 19.—Walking nine miles to milk the cows didn't worry Ad Wolgast a bit, but the nervous anxiety of waiting worried the cows; so the champion has moved.

WHIFFS FROM THE OLD SPORT PIPE DOPE

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

Johnny Laubeck of Las Vegas is in town, a guest of Al Brown. Lauback is the man that has been instrumental in pulling off the Johnson-Flynn fight. He is a great friend of the Governor of New Mexico and says that the fight will surely take place. He also says that the Governor never said that he would stop the fight and has no intention of trying to do so, as there is a law in that State that permits glove contests. Besides, that is a sporting country and they would never stand for stopping it. He also says that Tommy Ryan and Flynn had a split up, but it will have nothing to do with Flynn's training. Ryan seems to be sore about something, but Jim has decided that he can get along just as well without him.

Jimmy's Plans.

Jimmy Johnson, manager of Harry Thomas, the little popular English fighter, is negotiating for a match with Johnny Kilbane. He said yesterday that if Abe Attell beat Harlem Tommy Murphy, he expected that Harry and Abe would be matched, and the winner meet Kilbane. This would make two very interesting matches.

Abe Is Strong.

Billy Nolan, who is trying to bring back Abe Attell to his old fighting form, sends several pictures of Abe in his mountain attire. Abe looks much bigger and stronger than ever, and Billy says he is weighing 136½ pounds. Judging from the photos, Abe is working the Ad Wolgast stunt to a finish. He appears in fighting attitude and on the road following Nolan, who is on a horse, looks as brown as a berry and as strong as an ironworker.

Joe's Arm.

The story about Joe Rivers hurting his arm is one of Joe Levy's jokes. Rivers laid off Tuesday simply because he is in fine condition and does not want to take any chances of going stale. Levy said: "Don't worry kid, little Joe will be there with bells next Fourth of July."

Jim Is Fat.

Japs Pick 'em.

The Japanese wrestlers have a novel way of bringing a wrestler to after he has been knocked out. Wrestling, as the Japs wrestle, is of the roughest kind, and it is a common thing to see several knocked out at every meeting. When this happens, they stand him up on his feet and shake him up and down, very much as a miller would shake a sack of meal to fill it. They then set him down in a sitting position with several holding him so he cannot fall, then a third one steps around behind him and gives him several hard kicks with his foot on the end of the spine. This invariably brings him to. Imagine a fighter being kicked after he has been knocked out. There would be enough rough-house stuff to last for a year.

M'CREDIE IS ON TRAIL OF TWO GOOD PITCHERS.

BY GREY OLIVER.

"I DO not know of Peckinpaugh coming back here," said McCredie yesterday, in discussing a possible strengthening of his team. "If he does I do not know it." Which would lead any ordinary fan to think that rumors from the East that Peck might be farmed back to Portland are probably untrue.

"What I would like to get is a couple of good pitchers," added Mac, but I do not know where I can get them. It's a cinch that Cleveland has none, for I tried to get one or two from there. Some of my pitchers are not going right and I could use some very nicely. The balance of the team seems to be strong enough but I would like some pitchers."

Gus Fisher's throwing yesterday was a fine thing to look at and some of the fans marveled at the ease with which he knocked the Tigers out of stolen bases. He caught Kane, McDonnell, Bayless and Burrell trying to steal second and any catcher that can do this in one game is a pippin. Gus always was pretty good at nipping runners and his experience in the Cleveland team probably helped him some. It's the atmosphere of a big league club that helps even in some cases.

"My, but wouldn't I like to have Johnny Kane on my team," mused McCredie yesterday as he sat and watched the little fellow rapping out three of the six hits the Tigers got and grabbing every fly ball that went over second base. "A man like that

WOLGAST AND ABE ATTELL MATCHED.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Ad Wolgast and Abe Attell will fight here early in August at 133 pounds, ringside.

Coffroth consulted with Billy Nolan, who is manager for Attell, and the latter promptly accepted the challenge in behalf of Attell, and will post a side bet of $10,000. The details of the match will be arranged as soon as possible.

Coffroth is also trying to bring "One-Round" Hogan and "Knockout" Brown together in August.

CARSON STOPS BEAVERS AGAIN.

Holds McCredie's Men Down to Five Swats.

Koestner Loses Contest in First Three Innings.

Carlisle Drops Out of Game Owing to Injury.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Vernon, 3; Portland, 1.

It was just like a convention, yesterday, with the steam-roller fired up and working overtime.

Mashed hats, big sticks and everything and a lot of delegates were seated that Teddy Koestner would like to have killed.

Steam-Roller Carson presided and what he did to some of the contests was enough to make the whole of Portland cry. As a matter of fact, however, there were few contests and there was so much oil on everything and it went through so smoothly that if John D. had been present he would have been tickled to pieces.

The contesting bunch got but one delegate and that was Mister Chadbourne from Ranier, or some other similar country, who wriggled through by main strength and awkwardness before the convention was half over. In the fourth he bounced a three-bagger off the score board and ran in after the catch of a fly that Lindsay hit in the same locality.

It was very easy, and yet it was the only time any of the Beavers could get to second base. When you have to knock the fence down in order to get by first base you are not going to fill up any baseball books of advertising with records of any kind.

And the Beavers did not yesterday, for they got but five swats, and the only two of these that came together did not do each other any good. Chadbourne was the only one of them who could get as far as second base.

You cannot hope for much of a ball game when this is all one team can do in the run line.

Tigers didn't do much more. Only hit Koestner six times and were lucky enough to bunch four of these drives in the first and third innings. Two in each and two in each made all the runs they got.

Carlisle was soaked on the knee in the first inning and dashed to third on Kane' double to left. Both runners stuck around while McDonnell fanned and then both scored on Brashear's hard single to right. Lucky that swat came then for the next two men were easy outs.

In the third with one out, Kane hit a triple along the first-base line and scored a moment later on McDonnell's bouncing infield hit.

Nothing else doing for none of the Tigers got to second base in the remaining five innings of the game, for Koestner got himself straightened out and pitched high-class ball. Two hits off him in the last five innings. Which shows that he was heaving some.

Little about this game but the fast time in which it was played. One hour and twenty-two minutes is going some for a Coast League contest, and none of them seemed to be chasing themselves much, either. Almost everyone that came to the bat was an easy out.

There is no use in writing history about how so few of them did not reach first base. They didn't get there because they didn't get there. Too much good flinging.

Carlisle was hit on the knee the first time he went to bat and after several innings of struggling around he retired from the game, after playing for a time in right field. He changed with Bayless and Bayless showed the fans some real running catches in left, making two particularly good ones by running at top speed in behind third base. Krueger grabbed a good fly in center after a long run and Litschi also showed his class by dashing back of third base for Lindsay's fly in the first inning.

Two neat double plays by the

HOBO DOUGHERTY FIRST MET AD WOLGAST, CHAMP.

IT is possible, after all, that Hobo Dougherty may be one of Ad Wolgast's trainers at Doyle's where Ad will do his boxing work for the fight.

Ad has said a fond farewell several times to Hobo, who is getting too fat and soft to box well. But he always relents and takes back his old pal when it comes to a show-down.

Hobo was wild with jealousy when Ad chose Pete McVey to go to the camp at Wheeler Springs instead of himself. He expects, however, to go back to Ad when the boxing begins out here.

"I have been with Ad in every one of his fights for the last seven years and I would feel pretty bad if he had a fight and I wasn't in his corner," said Hobo mournfully.

"The first time I ever met him was in a little town in Wisconsin. I had an idea that I was born to be a fighter and had run away from home to seek my fortune; but all I got was hungry.

"I landed dead broke and hadn't anything to eat. Ad Wolgast was then just starting out as a fighter and he had come to that town for a fight. I saw him there in the crowd and struck him for a dime to eat. I asked another fellow first and he turned me down. Then I asked Ad if he would let me have a dime and he gave me a quarter. We got to talking and I told him how I was fixed. He asked me if I didn't want to come up to the gymnasium and work with him. I did so and have been with him ever since."

Hobo says that the hardest fight Ad ever had was the one with George Memsic a year or so ago at Vernon.

"George mighty near had him in the second round. That was the hardest blow Ad ever received from any one and, had it not been for his wonderful ability to come back, he would have been counted out.

"Ad is a mighty interesting fellow during a fight. When we are rubbing him in his corner between rounds, he keeps up a steady fire of kidding. He almost always tells us what he is going to do in the next round.

"I remember, during the Moran fight, that he said to me while I was fixing him up between rounds, 'Hobo one of my hands is hurting. I am going to knock him out this next round. I can't afford to hurt this hand any worse. And,' added Hobo, "He went out and knocked the guy out."

Hobo thinks that Wolgast will have a cinch with Joe Rivers.

"Ad is faster and stronger than he was before the operation. I don't know who could know better than me.

"You know this guy Rivers fought Frankie Conley twice before he could beat him. Can you imagine Ad fighting a draw with Conley? He would be arrested for murder if he got into a ring with the intention of fighting Conley."

Too Much Class.

AVIATORS KILLED: MID-AIR COLLISION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOUAI (France) June 19.—Capt. Dubois and Lieut. Albert Piegnan, both officers of the French army and trained air men, were killed this morning when the biplanes they were piloting around the military flying course collided with terrific force in mid-air. The 2 officers, who were close friends, were unable to perceive each other flying through the early morning haze when they started practicing soon after daybreak. In making a curve their machines collided with an awful impact, the wire stays and canvas wings became interlocked, and both crashed to the ground.

Lieut. Peignan was taken dead from among the debris. Capt. Dubois died within an hour.

COLLEGE CREWS WERE PRACTICING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 19.—The practice of the college crews on the Hudson today was interesting, but the large number of spectators who followed the crews in motors proved bothersome to oarsmen and coaches.

The best part of the exhibition was on the stretch of river from Blue Point south to Milton, where the crews of Cornell, Syracuse, Wisconsin and Leland Stanford were rowing at one time. The boats moved in procession down the river to a point a mile south of Milton, where, turning, they rowed back with the tide to the finish of the regular course, a hard row of three miles for all participants, Wisconsin leading, followed by Syracuse and Cornell.

New Haven and Bridgeport have been running neck and neck so far this season, and leading the way in the Connecticut League.

Dr. J. A. Schipfer of Bismark, N. D., hired a special train last week at a cost of $200 and rode in it to Minneapolis in order to keep his appointment to act as best men at the wedding of a friend in the latter city.

IF RIVERS GETS TO BE CHAMP.

"I am glad to hear you say that these demands of Wolgast's are all right," said Joe Levy, at the Venice training camp yesterday. "Because I will be glad to regard his demands as a precedent. When we get the championship, I think Joe and I will take the opportunity to lay down the law ourselves to aspirants for the title. We have had a hard row to travel."

OAKS LUCKY TO BEAT SLAGLE.

Local Flinger Holds Sharpe's Men to Four Hits.

Howard in the Limelight With Four-Sack Blow.

[By Federal (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 19.—[Special Dispatch.] When the fans saw old man Malarkey step into the box for the Oaklanders this afternoon they began to extend their sympathies to Oakland. They were certain that the Angels were going to slaughter the Oaks and jump into second place.

They had the wrong dope on the right team. Things moved along very smoothly for the first four innings. The rival pitchers were very effective and nobody approached the pan until the fifth when the Oaks broke in with a tally which was a gift. Hetling hit to center and Cook hit to right. Tiedemann bounded the ball down to Howard who thought he had a chance for a double play at second but he winged the ball wide to Berger and it left a full house. Mitze hit to Metzger and the pill deflected off his mitt, and rolled to Berger who tossed to Howard and Tiedemann was forced at second base.

But while the play was being pulled Hetling arrived with the tally. Malarkey ended the round by fanning.

The sixth was where the Commuters made it good and strong. After Leard had been disposed of, Slagle foolishly passed Hoffman and Zacher. Then he tossed leisurely to first to catch the latter napping and the former got away with a sort of delayed double steal and landed very nicely on third base. Once more the steal signal was tipped and Hoffman tore for home. He was off to a good start and would have landed pulled up though Howard made a very wide return of the ball.

The fans thought that they were lucky to nail this tally especially after Coy had faded easily, but they forgot to think about Hetling who stepped right to the ball and gave it a ride over the right field fence, sending Zacher ahead of him and making the score read 4 to 0.

All went well until the eighth. Hoffman and Zacher had been disposed of when Coy cleared the right field boards with a regular "darby."

Then the Oakland fans began to lament the fact that there was nobody on, when this bingle left the bat of their fielder. They wanted to make a joke out of the game. The Angels slumbered beautifully until the ninth, then they tumbled into the veteran Oaklander all of a sudden.

Howard was the first man to face the old boy and greeted him by nailing one to about the same place Coy did five minutes before. Berger came next with a nice drive through second, and the Oakland fans yelled for Sharpe to take Malarkey from the box. Then Daley took three wide swings on the three big out curves and on the last one Berger got away with a steal of second. Heine Heitmuller had the right system. He just crushed the ball into left for a clean drive and Berger came home but this was the last of the Angel rally for Dillon and Metzger failed to deliver, and the game was over.

The score:

WEIGHT DOESN'T WORRY RIVERS.

Joe Rivers is taking no thought of his weight for this fight. "I am drinking and eating all I want to," he said at Venice, where his hard work began yesterday. "I haven't a thought in the world about any difficulty in making 133 pounds on the day of the fight.

"I will never be heavier than a lightweight and I doubt if I go into the ring weighing any more than Ad.

"You know that we weigh in just before the fight—fifteen minutes before we go into the ring. I am planning to eat a light meal that morning and nothing more until after weighing, when I will drink some strong beef tea."

AUSTRALIANS TENNIS EXPERTS.

[illegible] AMERICANS AND BRITONS [illegible] ALL THE GLORY.

[illegible] Players Are Top-notch-[illegible], but Are Not Strong for Big [illegible] Matches — French [illegible] Team in Davis Cup [illegible].

[By Direct Correspondence of The Times.] NEW YORK, June 10.—Australia [illegible] years has loomed up as [illegible] tennis continent on the [illegible] the English and Americans [illegible] been considered the [illegible] of the cleanest of sports. And after all the Australians are Anglo-Saxons, too. Much talk is being circulated about what the French might do to us if they sent a team after the Davis cup.

Why is nothing being said about the Germans? And why are the Germans not saying something for themselves? In tournaments abroad the Germans are never too modest to be boastful. And the Germans have a gardenful of fine players. The names of the two Kleinroths, Dr. Pippes and Herr Kinzel are not household words in this land of the free and the home of the brave, and probably few Americans have heard of the German champion, Freutzheim; but these melodious gentlemen can slap some nifty wallops over the mosquito netting. In other words the German tennis players can go some.

Fishing.

STREAMS ARE NOW IDEAL FOR CATCHING TROUT.

THE TROUT season in Southern California thus far this season has been one of the best that has been seen in a number of years as far as the quantity of the fish is concerned, although the anglers that have ventured into the mountains in search of the wary speckled beauties have met with such varied success at different times and localities that it would be impossible to sum the whole situation up into a few words.

While there have been a number of exceptionally large fish taken from the streams, most of the catches reported seem to consist of the smaller ones, measuring between four and six inches.

The large fish, with but few exceptions, have been caught in the big pools well down toward the mouths of the streams; but the sport in these places does not compare with that to be found further up among the headwaters, where the trout are smaller, but much more plentiful.

These conditions apply especially to the San Gabriel River, which is the nearest and the easiest to reach, and for this reason selected a great deal more, for the short week-end trips.

Below the forks of this stream the fishing is very tame and hardly worth the while; but above, the real sport begins before any great distance has been traveled.

At Camp Rincon, on the west fork, just fourteen miles above the mouth of the canyon, some very fine strings have been caught. Toward the latter part of the season the fish there become scarce and very hard to raise, and the fisherman now in search of a limit must journey a number of miles farther upstream before he may hope for his efforts to be rewarded.

The best sport to be found any place in the San Gabriel at this time of the year is either well up on the west fork or above the forks of Bear Creek, which joins the west fork about two miles above Camp Rincon, where even this late in the season a clever angler can secure a nice string.

The water in nearly all of the streams at the present time is in an ideal condition for good fishing on account of the late rains, which left them rather high and muddy, but wrought no particular damage, except, maybe, on the north fork, where a great many fish were killed by the floods.

Although the fish in the San Gabriel are the easiest to raise, with the fly, the conditions in these canyons are not favorable to fly casting.

On the Sespe and Venture, where the pools are much more open and easy to approach, it is hard to get a strike with a fly, as much fishing has been done with prepared bait.

The streams in the northern part of the State have been so high and unsettled this season that the catches from these districts do not compare with those of the southern streams in point of numbers and size of the fish.

MATTY AND BROWN'S RECORDS COMPARED.

[Baseball Magazine:] Though National League rooters believe Mordecai Brown the equal of the Big Six Mathewson, the sterling veteran twirler of the New York Giants, a glance at their respective records, beginning with 1905, the year the three-fingered gentleman made his appearance, shows immediately that Matty has not only worked in more games, but has a higher percentage of victories. Here are their records:

WHAT IT COSTS.

Equipment of Major League Ball Team Approximates $2500—Of What It Consists.

[Baseball Magazine:] The cost of equipping a major league baseball team of twenty-five players is somewhat in the neighborhood of $2500 each spring, according to Thomas G. Davis of the New York Americans. Here are the items:

Ten dozen bats, $120.
Fifty uniforms and twenty-five sweaters, $800.
Bases and plates, $25.
Masks, chest protectors, etc., $50.
Twenty-five sliding pads, $85.
Movable batting cage, $60.
Incidentals, $100.
Total, $2320.

M'CREDIE AFTER PITCHERS.

is a whole team in himself." Which nobody can deny.

---

"I do not know what Hap Hogan intends to do with Bull Durham," said Roy Brashear yesterday, "but of course if Bull does not get a chance here he will some place else. He wants to get back into the game and if he is anything like he was two years ago he is worthy of a place on any team. The only question is whether or not he can come back after being out of the game so long. He seems to have regained his health."

---

Babe Danzig will return to the Coast in about six weeks, according to information given out by one of his friends yesterday. He still belongs to the St. Louis Americans and although he went south with the team on the training trip, his health was so bad that he could play but little for Montgomery and later returned to his home in Oswego, N. Y. His stomach trouble has been responding nicely to treatment.

Many of the Coast fans thought Babe was lazy, from the way he played, but it appears that he was a sick man all the time he was with the Sacramento team. When he is right he is a pipper for his size and his hitting ability makes him an ideal first baseman and on his first appearance here before he became ill, he made a fine impression. Babe has been taking a long rest, but hopes he will be in shape again this fall. His many friends here will be glad to see him back in the game again for he is a real ball player.

Wares, who was drafted by the St. Louis Americans, and later sent to the Montgomery team of the Southern League, is said to be hitting and fielding in fine style down there.

---

Many of the old-time fans will remember Bob Unglaub, who was with Mike Fisher's Sacramento team in the good old days. He has lately changed himself from the Baltimore team to Minneapolis.

---

"Most dangerous hitter in the league," murmured one of the Beaver fans yesterday as he watched Roy Brashear lam out a single to right in the first inning, that scored both Carlisle and Kane, and won the game for the Tigers. "I always tremble every time that guy goes to bat. I'd rather be a catcher than a pitcher or a fielder when that one picks up his stick. When you are behind the bat there is no chance for him to knock your head off with a liner."

FROM THE MASON TO THE MAJESTIC

BY JULIAN JOHNSON

Kolb and Dill will probably go to New York under Morosco management late this fall.

If so, they may be the opening attraction in the new Cort-Morosco theater now building in Forty-Sixth street.

The piece in which the Los Angeles manager is considering presenting them is the revised "Politicians," which will succeed "The Girl in the Train" as soon as local audiences feel that they have seen enough of this semi-operetta.

Jack Barrymore will probably open at the Belasco in Willie Collier's old piece, "On the Quiet." This has been seldom done in the West and is a corking vehicle.

"The Fortune Hunter" is a long time coming through in its negotiations. Lots of money. But it'll be on hand for Barrymore's second show, say the powers.

Ruth Gartland, the pretty Cort-Egan protege, is to have a good chance locally next week playing a fairly important role in "The Great Name" at the Belasco.

Harry Mestayer in this piece will return to the part he created in Chicago.

"The Taming of Alberta," a play that has been sizzling around for casting here a matter of some two months, will probably be awarded finally, to Muriel Starr.

Morosco has made tentative offers to both Helen Ware and Nance O'Neill to come West and create the part, but without waiting to hear from them the manager has decided to pass this highly-strenuous and somewhat startling role over to Muriel, the brilliant character actress and walking sartorial amazement—this week especially.

The opposite role—the gent who beats her up—will probably be created by Jack Barrymore.

While Bill Ham Cline is making all this noise about the Orpheum's anniversary, next week, I wonder if he remembers going to bed in the fireplace on the Orpheum's natal evening?

Sufficiency.

Tom Baker's reminiscences of that festivity are decidedly moist. Tom was chief vintagian and popped the corks on exactly $600 worth of Cordon Rouge during the little supper party after the final curtain.

Bill Cline says the Orpheum has an attraction this week that beats the G.O.P. convention. Namely: The Baytons, contortionists, who are crookeder than the Credentials Committee.

Theodore Roberts is going to Catalina next Monday for a considerable fishing stay. The Kirksmiths will also go to the seashore. "Dinkelspiel's Christmas" is already there.

The Hartman road show has closed, and fourteen of the people came back to town yesterday, including Myrtle Dingwall and Roscoe Arbuckle.

Hartman and Kavanaugh are negotiating for a summer season in Idora Park, Oakland.

The incomers report that road patronage is not as abundant this year. The company concluded in Washington.

Gerald F. Bacon, play-agent for Sanger & Jordan, is headed this way, and expects to spend most of the summer in the West.

Louis J. Gottschalk, the most noted musical director of light opera in this country, is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. Bond Francisco, in this city. When Mr. Gottschalk puts his name on hotel registers nowadays he signs himself as from New York.

Time was when Los Angeles had the spot on the hotel register now allotted to Gotham.

Mr. Gottschalk has not been in his home town for over seven years. Of course, he was immensely surprised at the marvelous growth of the city when Jack Bond Francisco, the artist, piloted him about the business district yesterday.

The New Yorker accumulated a fierce stiff neck at our new sky scrapers.

He indicated his recent urban education by gazing admiringly at a pile of cucumbers and then remarking to Francisco: "Gee, it does seem fine to see green tamales once more."

Mrs. Gottschalk and the two interesting Gottschalk children are in the East. Mrs. Gottschalk was formerly a vocalist of high repute. She is a daughter of Harrison Millard, the noted composer. The elder Gottschalk boy was named after Victor Herbert, the foremost composer of light opera of this country, although Ireland claims him as a native son of the ould sod. Incidentally Victor Herbert always insists that Mr. Gottschalk shall conduct every new Herbert opera.

So, it will be gathered that Mr. Gottschalk is a musical director, the excellence of whom there is no whomer.

When Henry W. Sage first staged "The Merry Widow" in this country it was Gottschalk who occupied the director's chair, and when the Chicago company was organized, Mr. Gottschalk was sent to the western metropolis to see that the opera was properly put on.

Last season Mr. Gottschalk had charge of Lehar's "Gypsy Love," in which Marguerite Sylva was starred by A. H. Woods. Gottschalk was given a band of forty-five men to direct. Can you imagine the result—with this pre-eminent musician and over two score of the pick of New York's best instrumentalists?

Just prior to making the trip to Los Angeles Mr. Gottschalk put on Ziegfeld's "Winsome Widow," at Klaw & Erlanger's New York theater.

John Cort wants Gottschalk at the helm of his Luders-Pixley opera, "The Gypsy," next fall. The young and energetic—also eminently successful—firm of Werba & Luscha also are bidding for Mr. Gottschalk's professional services for next season. They want him for their general musical director, to take charge of their numerous "Spring Maid" and "Rose Maid" companies.

Like the majority of musicians of real worth, Mr. Gottschalk is the composer of a musical comedy, which will have a production after the Presidential election by Cohan & Harris.

And, after having gathered about all the honors in his own particular department of the theatrical game, Mr. Gottschalk wants to return to Los Angeles and his fondest hope is to see himself at the head of a musical organization—preferably an amateur one with professional abilities—capable of presenting the better class of works, of the sort that come from Vienna from Lehar and Strauss and London, from Caryl, Monckton, Stuart, and others.

It is no disparagement to the others in the cast of "The Man Who Owns Broadway," at Fischer's Lyceum, to chronicle the belief that the best bit of character work in the performance, excepting Bob Lett's is contributed by Lon Chaney, as the theatrical manager who is "All O. K. with K. & E."

In the original Raymond Hitchcock production this part was played by Mark Sullivan and if you don't consider the clever imitations of well known actors Sullivan gave between the verses of the song, Chany's performance is just as good as his New York predecessor.

The reason?

Listen, Rollo:

It is theatrical custom to give extra matinees on all national holidays. It just happens that the Fourth of July is generally observed, regarded and mentioned as a national holiday in America.

Dill declares with much emphasis that if he ever has anything to do with affixing his signature to a Declaration of Independence, he will insist on a clause making it a crime for managers to pull off matinees on national holidays.

Kolb is milder in his words. He thinks it a shame that matinees should be played when prize fights of national importance are scheduled for the towns in which the Kolb & Dill company happens to be playing.

A prize will be given to the first person who explains why Messrs. Kolb and Dill don't want to give a Fourth of July matinee at the Majestic Theater.

Meanwhile the worry and the perturbation of the comedians continue.

Percy Bronson has been added to the Kolb & Dill company and will make his first appearance in "The Politician," which will follow "The Girl in the Train" at the Majestic.

Bronson formerly was connected with the K. & D. organization and was regarded as one of its most valued members.

He is no stranger to "The Politician"—there will be no contest over his seat and he promises to be a splendid addition to the Committee on Entertainment.

When Jack Barrymore follows Lew Stone he will be introduced to the Belasco clientele in Augustus Thomas's comedy, "On the Quiet."

The piece is no stranger to local audience, but it always has attracted large audiences.

Barrymore will have the part created by Willie Collier and played in previous Belasco productions by Stone.

Marjorie Rambeau has completely captured the theater-goers of Columbus by her fine work as The Girl, in "The Girl of the Golden West."

The Columbus newspapers fairly raved over the brilliance of her work and hailed her as the greatest actress ever known in the history of Columbus stock companies.

Just to show what she was able to do in the way of "quick study," Miss Rambeau arrived in the Ohio capital Friday morning, learned the 115 pages of her part and played Monday night, letter perfect in lines and "business."

Florence Dillon has been selected as the soloist for the season's final concert of the Ellis Club, to be given next Tuesday night at the Auditorium.

Miss Dillon has been kept unusually busy with concert engagements since her first public appearance at the Majestic a fortnight ago and her future bookings are such as to insure her a vocal campaign of uncommon activity, this summer.

John H. Blackwood, who has assumed the professional direction of Miss Dillon, is just now trying to secure a cancellation of Miss Dillon's contract to appear at the Royal Operahouse at Malta, Italy, next season. With this foreign contract out of the way Mr. Blackwood expects to have Miss Dillon added to the list of prima donni of either Andreas Dippel's Chicago-Philadelphia company or Henry Russell's organization in Boston.

Ever since he went to Portland, to play with the Baker stock company, Richard Vivian has been consigned to second parts—stage villains, those black moustached, cigar consuming, crafty, designing male wr-r-retches who thrive on scounderlism until the end of the last act.

Likewise, "Have a care, Jack Dalton!"

Ditto: "Tonight, at midnight, remember—and bring the money, or I'll not be r-r-r-esponsible for the gir-r-r-l's life."

Marguerite Leslie,

GUN TOURNAMENT RESULTS.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) June 18.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] At the Grand American handicap gun tournament today both the amateur and professional national championships were decided. Both events were 200 targets, permanent eighteen yards' rise. There were 137 entries in the contest for the amateur championship and sixty-eight in the professional championship. For the amateur title, E. W. Varner of Adams, Neb., tied with W. S. Hoon of Jewell, Iowa, on 192 out of 200. In the shoot-off, Varner won. In the professional championship, W. R. Crosby of O'Fallon, Ill., won by breaking 198 targets. He was followed closely by Fred Gilbert, of Spirit Lake, Iowa, and R. O. Deikes of Dayton, Ky., with 195.

CHICAGO, June 19.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, will make two appearances on the mat here within six days. He will wrestle Charles Cutler in a twenty-minute handicap, on June 29, at White Sox Park in a field day benefit, and on July 4, will meet Joe Smejkal, a Bohemian heavyweight, at the Coliseum in a finish match, best two in three falls.

THE OUT DOOR BOY.

Gipsy Trip.

On June 25 the boys of the Y.M.C.A. start on their famous annual "gypsy" trip, which has been inaugurated as one of the unique features of the outdoor boys' life at the Y.M.C.A. This trip will be taken instead of to the camp which was to have been operated on Modjeska's ranch.

The boys will take the road through the San Fernando Valley, over El Camino Real and the famous Casitas Pass and on to Santa Barbara. The boys will remain there for four or five days, during which time they will give a vaudeville minstrel show and spend the rest of the time in boating and bathing. They plan to return by boat, as it is anticipated that, by that time, the boys will have had all the hiking they want for one season.

They will be in charge of a capable corps of reliable men, among whom are A. D. Cross, A. Ray Petty, L. Folley, W. A. Stillwell and L. Hamilton.

Y.M.C.A. Handball.

The final games in the Y.M.C.A. handball tournament will be played next Wednesday evening between the following boys, who have each won an elimination game: E. Shadd, R. Casey, K. Kinney, U. Scott, F. Baxter, C. Gillett, V. Gill, H. Berger, E. Rankin, B. Bockus and L. Parson.

Y.M.C.A. Camp Rally.

One of the popular camp rallies will be held on the tent floor of the Y.M.C.A. next Tuesday evening. This rally is for members of the boy's division. The scenes are all set to imitate regular camp life.

Y.M.C.A. Baseball.

The Athletics were victorious last Saturday in their game with the Pirates, 10 to 5. The Tigers defeated the Cubs on the same date at the Y.M.C.A. field, 9 to 0.

Playground League.

| | Won. | Lost. | P.c. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Vernon | 2 | 1 | .666 |
| Oakland | 1 | 1 | .500 |
| Los Angeles | 1 | 2 | .333 |
| Portland | 0 | 0 | .000 |

"Big" League.

Baseball.

The Thirtieth-street school defeated the Avenue 21 boys last Thursday on the Echo Park grounds, 18 to 7.

The Fourteenth All-Stars defeated the Parks Juniors on the Sixteenth-street diamond last Sunday, 15 to 9.

The same Stars beat the Euclid Heights boys, 15 to 12.

Recreation Wins.

The first game of the Intermediate League, played during the month of June, was won by Recreation Center, 14 to 4, with Downey on the short end.

Playground Camp.

C. H. Blesse, one of the playground superintendents, is to have charge of a very unique camping expedition into the mountains. The camp will be operated from July 5 to August 1, and will be located on the east fork of the San Gabriel Canyon. Fifty boys will make the trip on the first installment, and remain in the mountains for two weeks. When they return fifty more will take their places. This camp is open to any boy in the city who can spare the $7.50 charges. Mr. Blesse promises a great time to all the boys who make the trip, and assures them that there will be plenty of mountain climbing and trout fishing on the programme.

Swimming Tournament.

The Downey Swimming Club will hold a tournament at the Eastlake plunge, Wednesday evening. Judging by the success of the last one, held a week ago, this should attract a great deal of attention. Following are the events: Thirty-yard swim under water, 120-yard swim, fancy and high diving. Roy Pallamoter, the speed expert of the club, will be one of the principal performers. Others entered in the tournament are Shepherdson, Lawrence, Parker, McDaniel, Chandler and Weitz.

Utica and Troy have been showing that they had a little something on the other members by setting the pace in the New York State League.

Skating

In midsummer on Hammerstein's Roof, New York City. The ice is real, the skates are real, and the young women—well, they certainly look real, judging from as much of them as is in sight.

PROMISES UNFULFILLED.

Morning Session Indicated Activity, But the Afternoon Failed to Bear Out the Prognostications—Undertone Remains Healthy, However. Coal Shares Under Pressure.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 19.—The stock market opened today with some show of activity and strength, but these promises were not fulfilled, although the undertone remained moderately strong. Coal shares, under pressure yesterday, supplied the bulk of the early business at higher prices. Wall street evidently chose to ignore the possible effects of the proposed investigation into these properties by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and buying of Reading and Lehigh Valley soon wiped out recent recessions. Later both reacted from their best prices, the upward movement switching to New York Central, which more than recovered its dividend, and Chesapeake and Ohio, which rose as a result of the recent dividend on Hocking Valley. In the early afternoon the market became extremely dull. Amalgamated Copper, assisted by rumors of another advance in the price of copper metal, the second in two days, showed some activity. In the final hour, when trading became a trifle more animated, Interboro Metropolitan preferred was advanced on announcement that the Interboro Rapid Transit Company had declared an extra dividend of 5 per cent., part of which accrues to the benefit of the first-named securities. The tone of the market at the close ranged steady to irregular. The heaviness of New York City issues was the feature of today's bond market, with an uncertain movement elsewhere. Total sales, par value, $1,767,000. Panama 3's declined ⅛ per cent. on call.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, June 19.—[Exclusive to The Times.] The curb market for coppers was extremely quiet with the exception of Mason Valley which sold up to 13¼ and Braden which sold at 7⅜. Green and Giroux were quiet and unchanged and the industrials showed little activity.

The Boston coppers opened firm and fairly active, Calumet & Arizona advanced a point quickly. Butte and Superior resumed its place among the leaders and advanced as easily as before. Copper metal in Europe advanced to 17⅝ today with sales for September reported at home and abroad at 17⅝.

INFORMATION

For Newcomers, Inquirers, Subscribers and Advertisers, Agents and the General Public.

SCOPE AND AIMS:

THE TIMES PUBLISHES REGULARLY more pages of news and other reading matter and a larger volume of advertising than any other paper extant.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES: Independent, uncompromised, unshackled, unpurchasable, unafraid and unincumbered. THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is devoted to the great principles of Liberty under Law, Equal Rights in all fields of lawful human endeavor, Industrial Freedom, and to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, the State of California and the great Southwest.

AS TO LABOR: The Times is the undeviating friend of all honest toilers—of all unshackled law-abiding workers everywhere; and while never denying the right of workmen to organize lawfully, it is the unyielding foe of lawless, proscriptive, monopolistic and exclusive labor organizations, because they are the selfish enemies of their own class and of the common industrial weal. Our position is unmistakable and will be maintained. The long record of The Times as a just, liberal, reliable paymaster is unassailable. During the period between August 4, 1890, and September 30, 1911, there was paid to our loyal and well-satisfied non-union workmen, in salaries and wages, the telling aggregate cash sum of $4,248,319.17—mainly to skilled labor.

SWORN CIRCULATION: Daily net average—seven days, Sunday included—for 1896, 18,091; for 1897, 19,258; for 1898, 26,124; for 1899, 25,731; for 1900, 26,721; for 1901, 28,446; for 1902, 28,868; for 1903, 30,840; for 1904, 37,702; for 1905, 42,150; for 1906, 50,891 copies; for 1907, 51,311 copies; for 1908, 53,709 copies; for 1909, 54,984 copies. Sunday average for 1910, 85,157 copies. Daily and Sunday average for 1910, 57,786 copies. Average circulation every day for first three months of 1912, 59,185 copies.

AGENTS: Eastern Agents, William, Lawrence & Cresmer Co., Brunswick Building, 5th Ave. and 26th St., New York; 824-25 Harris Trust Bldg., 111 West Monroe St., Chicago. Washington Bureau, 44 Post Building (THE TIMES on file.) San Francisco Office, Room 1206 Call Building; R. J. Bidwell, Representative.

THE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY: Published on Saturdays; 40 pages; distinct and complete in itself. "The Unique Magazine of the Sedulous Southwest." Mailed to subscribers separately from the Daily Times for $2.60 per year, postpaid. Single copies 10 cents, postpaid.

TWO SPECIAL OFFERS: From and after this date, an extra copy of the Los Angeles Times Illustrated Weekly will be MAILED FREE FOR SIX MONTHS upon the order of any person, whether an old subscriber or a new, who contracts to subscribe for the Daily and Sunday Times for one year and pay the price, $9.00, in quarterly installments of $2.25 each, in advance. Or, with a full year's subscription to the Daily and Sunday papers, and $9.00 cash in advance, an extra copy of the Illustrated Weekly will be sent free for 12 months. This is an exceptional opportunity, good for a limited period, to serve a distant friend and at the same time do good missionary work for Los Angeles.

TELEPHONES: Counting-room, Subscription Department, Editorial Rooms, City Editor and Local News Rooms—Sunset, Main 8200; Home 10391.

TERMS: Daily and Sunday, 75 cents a month, or $9.00 a year. Daily without Sunday, $7.50 a year. Sunday alone, $3.50; without the Illustrated Weekly, $2.50. When the Sunday issue is mailed, the Illustrated Weekly is mailed separately, a day in advance.

POSTAGE: On the regular week-day issue (2 or 3 parts,) 1 cent; on the Sunday issue (5 parts,) 7 cents.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Progress in Canada.

BANFF (Alta, Can.) June 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In traveling through Canada on my return journey to Los Angeles, after a month's eastern sojourn, I cannot help but notice the splendid railway stations in the new as well as older cities, especially in the new cities of the Northwest, Winnipeg and Calgary, to say nothing of the smaller cities, and compare the outrageously inadequate railway terminal and station accommodations of Los Angeles—twice the city otherwise in growth, improvements and enterprise.

What then must be the impression of the newcomer to Los Angeles?

Note the amount being spent in the city of Calgary alone by the Canadian Pacific Railway for railway improvements—$5,000,000 for 1912.

I have noticed one thing in particular: that grade crossings are not used in or near a station and are avoided in and through cities and towns.

When will Los Angeles wake up to the up-to-date idea of no grade crossings, and actually take steps to avoid them at all most dangerous points, first; next universally in the city?

But, all in all, there is no city on the continent that can touch Los Angeles; just rub out some of the provincialisms (like grade crossings) and rub up some of the dull spots (like railway stations,) and watch us grow.

E. AVERY M'CARTHY.

Sardou Painted Roosevelt.

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It would seem that Sardou must have known Roosevelt intimately and well, for he painted his character exactly, in words—as witness the following in Mme. Sans-Gene:

"He was always exclaiming for liberty; always haranguing about the rights of the people. . . . He was a many-sided man, a chameleon, a superb actor, who understood 'make-up' to perfection. He could adapt himself to any scene, person, circumstance, or theory; could advocate any side, or all sides, side by side, with equal facility and truthfulness. He could wear a mask as though it were a face."

It is true Sardou was then writing of Napoleon called "The Great," and, so far as those characteristics contribute to greatness, it may be admitted that Roosevelt is also in line to be called "Great," but it is better not to be more specific. Certain it is, however, that in the quotation above given we have an accurate painting of our first and only great mental acrobat.

THE COPPER INDUSTRY.

London copper is again showing strength, the closing quotation Tuesday being £79 or an advance of 17s 6d, from Friday's close. The foreign visible supply of copper as of June 15 decreased 4,412,000 pounds, bringing the total stocks down to 94,662,400 pounds, a new low point. This figure represents a decrease in the foreign visible of approximately 150,000 pounds since January, 1910.

Washington was buying Braden copper all day Wednesday.

Several copper sales interests are now asking 17¾. Sales have been made recently at 17⅝@17⅞, August and September delivery. The strength of this market foreshadows 17¾-cent and higher in the near future.

The present consumptive demands of copper, including domestic deliveries and exports, are at the rate of 22,000,000 pounds a week. Total stocks of copper on hand June 1 were 49,615,000 pounds, therefore representing but a ten-days' supply of refined copper, which is sufficient explanation of 17½-cent copper.

Whether the production of refineries has been unreasonably curtailed in comparison with smelter production, or not, the above figures plainly tell the story that a point of depletion of stocks has been reached, where the situation is a dangerous one for the trade. Likewise a price of 17½ cents is dangerous for its effect on the consumption of the metal.

To imply that the figures published by the Copper Producers' Association are not true, however, would imply equivocation on the part of the mines and the refiners in reporting to the Association likewise in government returns, to all of which no sensible person should listen, as business of this character is carried on with too much honor to for one moment consider anything but truthfulness.

The report of the Greene Consolidated Copper for the year ending December 31, 1911, which has just been issued, indicates that the year just completed was the most favorable in the operation of the company.

During the year total income amounted to $6,045,834, and total expenditures to $4,738,702. There was written off for depreciation $280,179, leaving the net income $1,026,951.

Among the most significant features of the report is the cost of production for the year of 9.088 cent a pound, or, including construction, 9.84 cents, which figure compares with 9.66 cents for 1910 and 10.02 for 1909. The total cost a ton of ore during the year decreased from $765 to $5257, and further reflects the efficiency of operation which has been brought about. In the concentrator the extraction was raised to 77.69 per cent. from 75 per cent. for 1910, while the recovery of copper from Cananea ores was increased from 2.329 per cent. to 2.5 per cent. Total production from custom and domestic ores during the year amounted to 44,997,468 pounds of copper.

Important developments of new ore were made in the limestone areas. To facilitate the smelting of these ores and to raise the grade of the matte a four-fifths interest was purchased in the Superior Bonanza mine located at Imuris, Sonora. It is estimated that the net value of the ore blocked out in the property is more than enough to repay the sum of $50,000 advanced for four-fifths of the capital stock which will result in the company owning this interest in the property without cost.

At the reduction plant additional converters were added, and shortly after the middle of 1912 the capacity of this department should be increased to 8,000,000 or 9,000,000 pounds of copper a month. In January, 1912, a dividend of 60 cents a share was declared by the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company.

The year's production from the company's own ores amounted to 37,101,119 pounds of copper. The report says that no attempt was made to press production during the year, but on the contrary the management aimed to curtail production. In speaking of the mines, General Manager L. D. Ricketts says: "The physical condition of our mines is good. I look for a satisfactory year ahead and a notable increase in the output of both copper and silver."

The May production of Greene-Cananea in detail was as follows:

Developments at the Boston & Corbin have recently been very favorable, there having been encountered on the 1200-foot level a rich lead-silver-zinc vein which is over ten feet in width and which averages better than $14 a ton in values. The management considers this the most remarkable find which has ever been made at the property, because it is entirely distinct from the main Bertha vein. Moreover it having been encountered at depth is believed to indicate that it apexes several hundred feet above the 1200 level, and should therefore present a very large stoping area.

Comparatively little development work is now being done on the Bertha vein pending the completion of the 200-ton mill, ground for which will be broken within a couple of weeks. The company's engineers estimate that there are already blocked out on this vein from 250,000 to 300,000 tons of ore, which will yield net profit on 15-cent copper of $1,500,000, which is equal to $15 a share on the company's 100,000 shares outstanding.

The mill is expected to be finished and in commission by the middle of November, the funds therefore having been provided for by the recent issue of 10,000 shares. With the mill in commission, development of the Bertha vein will again be prosecuted simultaneously with that on the new lead-silver-zinc vein. President Amster believes that the new vein has potentialities of making another mine out of Boston & Corbin entirely apart from what has already been developed on the Bertha.

Splendid Conditions.

NATIONAL BANKS SHOW STRENGTH AND PROGRESS.

THE national banks in response to a call from the controller of the currency for a report issued statements yesterday showing conditions at the close of business June 14 to be in the best possible shape.

There were $64,157,497 on deposit in the thirteen national banks of the city. This shows a slight shrinkage from the report made in April, when conditions, officials said, were somewhat abnormal. April report showed $69,870,233. On February 20 the aggregate of the national banks was $62,072,072, or more than $2,000,000 less than the total for June 14, the last report.

Loans and discounts and cash reserves are also a little off in the present report, in corresponding sympathy with the deposits. Loans at the close of business June 14 were $45,767,749. This total in June, 1911, was $39,217,757, showing that this year was ahead by about $6,000,000. The deposits for the present report show an increase over those of last June by about $8,000,000.

Available cash June 14 was $25,787,755. The cash reserves June 7, 1911, were $22,217,757.

New York Cotton Market.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, June 19.—Since Hutton's letter of last Wednesday, cotton has experienced a further advance of about $1 a bale, followed by a moderate reaction. Some of the bulls have taken profits freely and their sales are said to have been absorbed by leading trade in this market for account of spinners. On the advance Liverpool and New Orleans were particularly strong, both markets making substantial gains over the previous high prices of the season recorded about April 23.

Southern spot markets were equally strong with the largest sales for this season of the year on record.

Exports continue heavy with clearances of 37,835 bales for the last week, against 23,400 last year, bringing the total for the season up to 10,178,000 bales compared to 7,290,000 last year.

American mills have taken 4,396,000 bales against 4,013,000 bales to this date last year. After this date last year American mills took 571,000 bales while 468,000 bales additional were exported. If no more than this is accounted for between now and the end of the season it will bring total exports well up to 10,500,000 bales, and domestic mill takings within a few thousand bales of the 5,000,000 bales predicted by us early last January. The amount of cotton brought into sight to date, according to the Financial Chronicle, is 14,825,000 bales, and as there were only 717,000 bales marketed after this date a year ago, we don't expect the commercial to exceed our estimate of 15,810,000 issued just prior to the government estimate last December.

The supply of desirable grades of white cotton is already small and as these grades are selling at substantial premium over contracts, it is reasonable to suppose that spinners will be good buyers of contracts on all easy markets around prevailing prices. We have requested our correspondents to advise us as to acreage and condition of the crop on average date of June 21, and we hope to have this information about June 25, or about one week in advance of the next government report.

Logan and Bryan say:

"Market was unable to withstand the influence of bright outlook for the crop, result of the splendid rains recently in all portions of the Southwest, to be followed by fair and warmer weather, according to predictions. Favorable weather prevailed east of the river except heavy rains in portions of Mississippi. The Chronicle's report on acreage, estimating a decrease of only one-half of one per cent. added to the bearish feeling and the estimate commanded attention because the government final acreage revision for last year corresponded closely to the original estimate made by that journal. Market looks lower on good weather and crop accounts."
